Wirt's Tale Brings Summons for Minor Officials

PROBERS TO HEAR 6 DINNER GUESTS EXPLAIN CHARGES

Educator Claims To Have Heard Roosevelt Described as "Kerensky" by Newspaperman; Early End Seen.

TUGWELL IS SEEN AS CHIEF "PLOTTER"

Hoosier Links Rainey and Westervelt to "Brain Trust Plot" Through Hearsay.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—The six persons who attended a Virginia dinner party last September at which Dr. William A. Wirt said today he heard that the "brain trust" planned revolution will tell a house committee about it next Tuesday but all indications tonight were the inquiry would end right there.

Wirt made it plain he felt Rexford G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, was the leader in a movement to undermine the constitution. But the three democratic committee members did not express great concern after the hearing.

No Trusters Named.

None of the six attending the dinner in question is regarded as a member of the "brain trust" nor did Dr. Wirt claim to have had any direct conversation with any one generally identified with this group of presidential advisers.

Perspiring profusely and standing on tiptoe in his vehemence, Wirt referred to Tugwell time and again. He also wanted the committee to call Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, and William I. Westervelt, former AAA official, to see if they would substantiate his charges.

Once the committee room that was crowded with celebrities and plain citizens emptied, the members talked

Answer Still Sought To 'Who Hired Reed?'

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP) Dr. William A. Wirt today told newspapermen that "I did not retain Senator Reed as my counsel."

He was referring to James A. Reed, former senator from Missouri, who represented him at the house committee hearing.

"Who hired Senator Reed?" Wirt was asked.

"Henry Pope."

Pope, ruddy faced and rotund, was nearby. He identified himself as a Chicago hosiery manufacturer, and trustee of the Warm Springs (Ga.) Foundation.

"Did you retain Senator Reed?"

"Ask the senator," Pope smiled.

"That is my business," Reed smiled when asked who retained him as counsel for the Gary educator.

JAMESON REVEALS IGNORANCE OF USE MADE OF MONEY

Insurance Man Contributed $58,000 to Cannon But Doesn't Know Where It Went.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Edwin C. Jameson, New York insurance company executive, today testified he sent Bishop James Cannon Jr. $58,000 for the anti-Smith campaign of 1928 but issued no instructions as to its use since he assumed Bishop Cannon would "comply with the law."

Jameson was called by the prosecution in the trial of Cannon and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith democrats, on charges of violating the corrupt practices act by failing to report all of the expenditures. Specifically they are charged with reporting only $17,000 of the Jameson fund.

Before the New York man was called Robert H. McNeal, chief of defense counsel, said he expected to show Cannon "took the money and spent it and distributed it in accordance with the great desire of the contributor."

On Stand Two Hours.

Jameson was on the stand two hours.

McNeill asked if he gave "any instructions as to the disposition" of his contribution.

"I assumed," Jameson replied, "that Bishop Cannon would spend the money for legal objects and would comply with the law."

"Have you," continued McNeill, "ever complained of how Bishop Cannon spent the money?"

"I had no knowledge; I was only the contributor," Jameson answered.

The co-defendant with Cannon, Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of the headquarters committee, anti-Smith democrats, played little part in today's proceedings, beyond that her attorney, M. J. Fulton, said she had no knowledge of transactions except that given her by Bishop Cannon. Both she and Cannon are charged with violating the corrupt practices act by failing to report all of the expenditures.

Prohibition Out.

There was further discussion today of prohibition, which played a considerable part in the 1928 campaign against Smith.

"We're not going to discuss with you," McNeil told the jury, "the merits or demerits of the eighteenth amendment. That's been passed on by

Missing Child, 2, Found in Icehouse

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—Believed to have been held captive by a madman, Dorette Zietlow, 2-year-old child, missing since Sunday, was found tonight naked and half-frozen in the attic of an abandoned icehouse.

The child had not been attacked, but was suffering from hunger and exposure.

At St. Elizabeth hospital, where she was rushed by police, her condition was described as serious but not grave.

The icehouse is located about a half-mile from the home of Mrs. Dora White, grandmother of Dorette, who had been caring for the tiny victim, a brother and a small sister.

She must have lain on the heap of rubbish for two days, unprotected from the chill winds which whistled through the place, the captain said.

SENATE DEFEATS 10 PCT. INCREASE IN INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—By 46 to 44, the senate today refused to levy an additional one-year emergency tax of 10 per cent on all individual income tax returns in 1935.

It also rejected without a roll call a proposal to boost surtaxes beyond the finance committee rates which already are higher than existing levies.

The 10 per cent emergency tax, proposed by Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, would have raised an estimated $55,000,000. The higher surtaxes, suggested by Senator King, democrat, Utah, would have yielded another $40,000,000.

There still was conceded to be a chance of adopting higher inheritance levies which would bring in an additional $92,000,000. Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, will propose such an amendment.

Harrison Swings.

Chairman Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, of the finance committee, swung the decision against the Couzens' amendment. He previously had announced he would accept the proposal and let it go to conference with the house, but explained "considerable opposition" had arisen and since he was speaking only for himself and the committee had not recommended the proposition he elected to stand by the committee. House administration leaders also had expressed opposition to the proposal.

Rejection of the King surtax increases, by a standing vote of 17 to 17, left in the bill the committee rates ranging from 5 to 59 per cent. King's admendment would have made the range 3 to 65 per cent as against 1 to 55 per cent in existing law. The surtax rates of 6 to 71 per cent proposed by La Follette were defeated last week.

Of the six absentees it was announced that Cuttin, republican, New Mexico, would have voted "aye," and Dieterich, democrat, Illinois, "no." The positions of Senators Trammell, Pitt-

JOHNSON TO SEEK NRA MODIFICATION

Chief Sees No Further Need for Licensing Power; Business Gain Noted

MIAMI, Fla., April 10.—(AP)—General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, came to Miami tonight to join President Roosevelt upon his return here Thursday, with a report of a "very definite business upturn."

The industrial administrator repored that he was ready to recommend to Mr. Roosevelt that the drastic licensing power of the NRA be allowed to lapse at the end of its year of existence.

"It is a weapon that we never have used," he explained, "and I believe the force of public opinion will enforce the recovery act."

The recovery chieftain also said he was prepared to recommend to President Roosevelt general approval of the Wagner bill establishing a sort of supreme court of indstrial relations.

He had written a letter to Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, author of the legislation.

"Of course," he said, "all factors have contributed. There was the recovery act and the beginning of heavy construction allowed under it through public works. There were benefits paid out to the cotton and wheat farmers. There was the rise in the price of petroleum and bituminous coal, and many other things."

Moratorium Declared On Loans to Cuba

HAVANA, April 10. — (AP) — The cabinet tonight approved a two-year moratorium on the principal of about $53,000,000 in foreign loans granted by American and British financial houses to the Cuban government between 1904 and 1920.

These were known as the Speyer and the Morgan loans.

President Carlos Mendieta revealed that an immediate investigation had been ordered of the debt owed to the Chase National bank, which previously had been labeled "illegitimate," being contracted under deposed President Machado.

It was made clear that the moratorium was only on the principal of the Speyer and Morgan loans, and that interest payments would be made regularly.

AUTO PLANTS SEE NEW STRIKE AHEAD

By the Associated Press.

Wheels started turning again Tuesday in Detroit automotive plants, but the industry still was disturbed by the threatened strike of tool and diemakers, scheduled to begin Thursday night.

The union estimated 18,000 employes of job shops would quit if denied 20 per cent wage advances. The job of preventing a walkout rested with the Detroit NRA regional labor board.

Settlement of the Motor Products Corporation strike started 23,400 workers back on the job, and the Hudson Motor Car Company resumed production during the afternoon.

A clash between strikers and workers at the Detroit-Michigan Stove Works gave 55 policemen a busy 20 minutes, the melee ending without serious injury to anyone. The union leaders claimed 800 of the 1,100 employes were idle, but the company said 500 were at their posts and full production would begin shortly.

The United Automobile Workers' Union announced it would protest to the national automobile labor board that the Budd automobile body manufacturing plant at Philadelphia was not living up to the agreement that ended a recent strike.

Informed by both the Matthieson & Hegler Zinc Company and leaders of 650 striking employes that mediation was unwanted, the Chicago regional labor board withdrew and let the strike at the La Salle, Ill., plant take its course.

Refused a 10 per cent wage increase, about 150 employes of the East Hartford, Conn., factory of the Hamilton Standard Propeller Company walked out. Union leaders said the strike would spread this week to the

ILLINOIS NAMES F. D. R. BACKERS

Incumbent Solons Win Party Nominations in Quietest Primary.

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—In the country's first statewide primary since the national democratic landslide, Illinois voters today apparently chose, with one exception, nominees backed by the regular republican and democratic organizations.

On the basis of incomplete returns, 16 democratic incumbents in congress were named to represent their party again in the November election. A seventeenth, Walter Nesbit, of Belleville, apparently lost to another candidate backed by his party organization.

Democratic leaders, admitting that little of the campaign had been based on controversies over the new deal, said, however, they regarded the wholesale renominations as indorsements for national and state administrations.

Only in two congressional districts—the twentieth, home of Speaker Henry T. Rainey, and the tenth—were there fights that might be construed as involving aspects of the Roosevelt regime.

Rainey, up for democratic renomination, claimed in the campaign in which he took but little part, that Wall Street poured money in the district to defeat him. Early returns snowed under his opponent, John H. Kirby, former state legislator.

In the tenth district, one in which the outcome still was in doubt, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes had given approval to the republican candidacy of Ralph Church over Congressman James Simpson Jr., son of a wealthy Chicago family. Early returns gave Church a slight edge.

It was expected the vote—given in one of the quietest primaries the state has seen in years and attended with little violence—would not go much above the 1,000,000 mark for the state. In 1932, a primary enlivened by races for the senate and governor, 2,131,018 votes were polled. There were no pointed issues in today's balloting.

'Red' Plot To Wreck Recovery In South Said Nipped in Ohio

CINCINNATI, April 10.—(AP)—United States District Attorney Francis Canny today said a man detained at Springfield, Ohio, several days ago had in his possession papers outlining "communistic plans to wreck the government's reconstruction program in the south."

Canny said that several days ago a white man and four negroes were detained by Police Chief George Abel at Springfield and that Abel took from the white man, said by Canny to be a "communist organizer," literature outlining the alleged plans.

Abel told Canny the white man said they were en route to Cleveland to attend a communistic convention. Abel released the men but confiscated the literature.

Canny said the papers indicated the organization was working out its plans for wrecking the "new deal." He said the literature stated that five persons were working in each mine and mill and their object was to cause dissatisfaction and strikes.

Canny said the papers referred to the "new deal" as the "Wall Street deal."

The papers, the district attorney said, revealed that men had been "planted" in mills and mines, and gave their names, ages, background, the plants which they were working, and what each was supposed to do to further the plan.

Canny said he would send the literature to the department of justice at Washington. He added he believed the papers would help to nip the plot before it could get under way.

The district attorney said the scheme for wrecking the recovery program "was well worked out."

BROKER MURDERS FIVE OF FAMILY, ENDS OWN LIFE

Wife, Mother-in-Law and Three Children Slain in Beds; Act Is Laid to Financial Reverses.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 10.—(AP)—In a fit of despondency, police believed, A. J. Freudenfeld, insurance broker, shot and killed five members of his family and then ended his own life. The bodies of the six were found in the Freudenfeld home.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Freudenfeld, Janet, 14; Carol, 11; Richard, 8, their three childrden, and Mrs. De Haven, Mrs. Freudenfeld's mother.

All the bodies were found in bed. Lying near Freudenfeld's body police found a pistol which they believed was used in the slaying and suicide.

The shooting is believed to have taken place at 4:30 today, at which hour neighbor heard a series of shots fired.

When the family was not observed about the home durng the day, police were called by neighbors.

Officers found the shades of all windows pulled down and in some instances rugs had been fastened over the shades and stuffed under doors, apparently to muffle the sound of the shots.

In the basement, police found a dead Angora cat, shot through the head, which had been carefully placed on a bench near the furnace with a pillow under its head.

Pinned near the top of a chiffonier in a bedroom occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Freudenfeld was a note directing that Fred Weil, Minneapolis, old friend of the family, administer the estate. It asked also that the bodies be cremated.

Weil said the family recently suffered a number of financial reverses.

Prior to becoming an insurance broker six years ago, Freudenfeld was an advertising manager for the Commercial West, a business publication.

According to Weil, the Freudenfelds had been married 15 years and Mrs. De Haven had been living with them for a number of years. The age of Freudenfeld was about 48, and that of his wife 38.

SUTTON RENAMED CITY SCHOOL HEAD

No Opposition Develops, But Two Members Vote Against Superintendent.

Willis A. Sutton, former president of the National Education Association and for the last 13 years superintendent of the Atlanta public school system, was re-elected Tuesday for another three-year term without opposition.

Sutton's selection was made without any other nomination being placed before the board, but two of the members—Rev. H. Jack Penn and George C. Garner, of the fifth and twelfth wards, respectively, voted "no" when the roll was called on the election.

Following the selection of Sutton, Charles W. Bergman, second ward commissioner, was joined by Penn in a complaint that teachers of the system were reluctant to discuss school matters, especially curricula adjuncts, with board members and other city officials, fearing reprisals from persons whom Bergman did not name. It also was pointed out that several

Actor's Nuptial Flops; Wants His Money Back

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—(AP)—Matrimonial plans of Miss Margaret Sage, 20, society girl of Atlanta, Ga., and a movie actor, Edward Howard, 23, were canceled today, and her aunt expressed belief the girl never intended to marry Howard.

Miss Sage is a niece of the movie comedian, Oliver Hardy, also from Atlanta.

The couple applied last Friday for a marriage license. Today, Howard came to the license bureau and asked if he could get his money back, saying he was not going to use the license, but giving no explanation. The clerk said the money could not be refunded.

Neither Howard nor Miss Sage could be reached later, but her aunt, Mrs. James P. Crawford, Hollywood, said "I think Margaret knew when the license was applied for that she was not going to marry the young man."

"I don't understand much about it," said Mrs. Crawford, sister of Hardy. "It seemed to be just a whim such as young girls have.

"I know little about Mr. Howard, except that he came to visit some people who live in this apartment building, some time ago. I do not know the name of the studio at which he works."

Sigvard Abandons Effort To Gain King's Pardon

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—The former Prince Sigvard of Sweden, who tossed royal rights overboard for romance, apparently has abandoned his efforts to reach King Gustaf with a plea for forgiveness.

The Swedish king arrived here from Nice today, but neither Sigvard nor his commoner bride, the former Erika Patzek, of the German films, was on hand to greet him.

Friends had said that Sigvard and his pretty wife were en route to Paris in the hope of effecting a reconciliation, but at the Swedish legation today it was said the young couple were en route back to Berlin by way of Italy.

PARKS WILL HAVE SUNDAY BASEBALL; MILLICAN TO STAY

Chairman Keeps Post on Basis That No Permits Be Issued; Six Diamonds Thrown Open.

Sunday amateur baseball will be permitted in Atlanta parks, but no permits will be issued, under an order Tuesday afternoon of the parks committee of city council.

Alderman G. Everett Millican, chairman of the committee, who had said no permits for Sunday baseball would be issued as long as he remained as chairman of the committee, will keep his post as chairman, under the arrangement.

Failure of the department to issue permits, however, will result in making the half a dozen available diamonds Sunday "grab bags" as the committee passed an order that no reservations will be made for Sunday games and that "first come, first served" will be the rule.

Dr. C. W. Childs, member of the committee, was ill at his home and did not attend the session.

A formal resolution setting out the attitude of the committee was passed. It was regarded as a compromise, as Millican offered one stipulation that commercial league games should be barred entirely.

Millican Stipulation Withdrawn.

Councilman G. Dan Bridges and Alderman J. C. Aldredge failed to concur in that attitude, and it finally was stricken from the resolution when it was rewritten.

Millican, in opening the meeting, scored newspaper misrepresentation of the controversy between himself as park committee head and Trammell Scott, Atlanta sportsman.

He asserted and reiterated several times that he was attempting "to carry out what I believed to be the rules of the committee. Parks of the city, are primarily for the children. Some of the neighborhood playgrounds are not suited for Sunday baseball games. There has never been an effort to stop small games or to prevent the kids from playing on Sundays. I have been misquoted and my statements have been distorted in this matter, and I have nothing further to say."

When Millican presented the resolution to bar commercial baseball, Bridges countered with: "If we are not going to permit such games, let's stop golf and the rest of those things."

Six Diamonds Available.

During the conversation, it was developed that there are half a dozen city-owned diamonds where baseball would not be objectionable.

These are at Mozley, Maddox, White, the southeast and southwest at Piedmont and No. 2 at Grant park.

Both Bridges and Aldredge asserted they could see no difference between commercial and regularly scheduled league games and golf, tennis or other Sunday sports and recreation.

Councilman Horace M. Rantin, fifth member of the committee, stood behind Millican in his general plan, but the entire committee finally agreed to the program as outlined in committee resolutions.

The controversy over Sunday baseball was initiated last week when Scott and Millican locked horns, Millican serving notice on Mayor James L. Key that he would not support

GUTZON BORGLUM TO REACH ATLANTA WITHIN 3 MONTHS

GROUND-CLEARING TO START TODAY

Machinery To Be Renovated, 285-Foot Elevator Construction and Projection Room Erected.

Actual work on the Stone Mountain memorial project will begin this morning as a result of a $50,000 CWA grant, it was announced Tuesday by Robert L. MacDougall, FERA state engineer.

Preliminary reconditioning and rehabilitation of equipment in anticipation of actual start of recarving on the mountain side by Gutzon Borglum, original sculptor, was the signal for an enthusiastic expression from Mayor James L. Key, chairman of the state monumental and memorial commission.

Men will begin work at 8 o'clock this morning on the project, MacDougall said Tuesday night. The fund has been allocated to start work preliminary to the carving of the gigantic memorial on the mountain scarp, and it is expected to be pushed to uninterrupted conclusion.

Key Is "Delighted."

"To say that I am pleased by the federal government's co-operation and initiative in this matter is to express it mildly," Key said Tuesday night. "I am delighted. I want to live to see the Stone Mountain memorial finished. It is one of my principal ambitions. It has become my paramount hobby. I congratulate Atlanta and the south on the outlay which has been authorized."

When he was named sculptor at a meeting of the commission several days ago in Atlanta, Borglum expressed the hope that federal funds could be obtained to start the work. That contribution has been made.

Plans call for Borglum to come to Atlanta within 60 to 90 days to start work preliminary to the carving of the revised memorial.

Leslie Hull, who is in charge of construction, has begun arrangements for renovation of machinery, some of which is already in the factories, the building of a 285-foot elevator to replace the old steps, construction of new workhouses, a projection room and a park at the foot of the mountain.

The new memorial will be carved 500 feet to the east of the old monument and will be a great deal larger, the head of General Robert E. Lee, for instance, being increased in size from 16 feet to 30 feet. Other figures in the central group, Jefferson Davis and General Stonewall Jackson, will be enlarged proportionately.

Offices of the monument association will be maintained at the Bilt-

Board Seeks $39,000 For Whitehall Work

Atlanta's finance committee moved Tuesday to assure reconstruction of the Peters street viaduct at a cost of $300,000, when it instructed Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the committee, and B. Graham West, city comptroller, to attempt to find $39,000 as the city's cost of extending Whitehall street from Gordon street into Lee.

State highway officials have made the extension a condition precedent to rebuilding the viaduct from federal funds placed at the disposition of the state department. The plan is to reroute certain state highways to relieve traffic congestion.

In addition, the committee voted to divert about $4,000 from sewer funds to procure about 85 acres of land adjacent to the city dairy farm and in the vicinity of the South river disposal plant for enlarging the plant there.

3,000 Hear Governor Speak In Ninth Congress District

ELLIJAY, Ga., April 10.—Governor Eugene Talmadge today was promised the support of Georgia's only republican section, the northern end of the ninth congressional district, in the event that he is opposed in his candidacy for re-election.

The chief executive was pledged the vote of the counties of Fannin and Gilmer and the surrounding territory when he appeared at White Path, four miles north of here, today to make an address and to participate in the convention of the Gilmer County Fox Hunters' Association.

The promise was given by J. L. Weaver, republican postmaster of Ellijay, who presided over the speaking program which, together with a fox hunt, featured the convention program. Mr. Weaver has served as postmaster here under three republican presidents. He is a former member of the state senate and plans to seek election to the house of representatives after his term expires this summer.

Always for Talmadge.

"Governor Talmadge will carry the entire ninth congressional district, including the section which is predominantly republican," Mr. Weaver said. "Our section is proud that it always has supported the governor in all of his races and we will do it again."

Mr. Weaver also promised that the area would send representatives and senators to the next meeting of the general assembly who would vote for the straight $3 automobile license tag, approve the ouster of the old public service commission and the program for diversion of accrued highway department funds for the payment of back salaries of school teachers and past due pensions of Confederate veterans and their widows.

"The governor does not need to campaign for legislators to support his program in this district," the postmaster said. "We will furnish them without any plea on his part."

The governor made the chief address of the day's program which was heard by a crowd of more than 3,000 people assembled from Gilmer and surrounding counties.

Reviews Record.

Governor Talmadge reviewed his conduct of office and reiterated his promise, made several times previously, to pay the back salaries of school teachers and past due Confederate pensions.

The governor's report to the people on the reorganization of the state highway department and the ouster of the old public service commission was warmly applauded by his audience.

After his address the chief executive joined with officials of the Fox Hunters' Association in the hunt. Two foxes were released and chased over the north Georgia hills by some of the most famous dogs of the state. A great majority of the crowd which came to hear the speaking joined in the hunt which lasted until long after nightfall.

During the hunt and after its conclusion a barbecue was served by members of the association.

Watkins Edwards, of Ellijay, introduced the governor at the meeting. Chairman E. E. Lindsey, of the state board of control, and John A. Heck, member of the state highway commission, were also present.

PEACE HOPES DIMMED BY NEW STRIKE THREAT

DETROIT, April 10.—(AP)—Hopes for peace in the giant automotive industry, now in the midst of its highest production program in nearly four years, grew tonight as tool and die makers and their employers planned a conference to consider demands for a 20 per cent wage increase and a five-day week of 36 hours.

The conference is set for tomorrow, a little more than 24 hours before the deadline fixed for a walkout by the Mechanics' Educational Society, the tool and die makers' organization. An offer was being formulated tonight by the Automotive Tool and Die Manufacturing Association.

Sixty-two job shops are members of the association. Union officials have claimed that 18,000 men would obey a strike call.

Violence broke out anew in the strike at the plant of the Detroit-Michigan Stove Works when strikers, workers and police engaged in a 20-minute battle in front of the gates at the noon lunch hour.

After order had been restored, police reported only minor damage had been done, although fists, sticks and stones flew freely. Three men were arrested.

Cheered by the settlement of a Motor Products Corporation strike that resulted in the return today of 1,000 strikers, 4,600 other employes of that factory and 18,000 workers in the Hudson Motor Car Company plant, federal mediation agencies were concentrating on the tool and die makers' controversy.

Hopes on the labor side for a solution of the tool and die workers' controversy was based to some extent on the announcement that eight tool and die manufacturing plants not identified with the manufacturers' association had agreed to meet the demand for a 36-hour week and 20 per cent increases in pay.

Wirt's Monologue Spoiled Party, Is Consensus of Fellow Guests

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(UP) The dinner party that Miss Alice Barrows gave for Dr. William A. Wirt—which promises to become as famous as that other American Revolutionary affair, the Boston tea party—was a flop.

Miss Barrows says so.

She added that she furnished the cocktails, food, coffee and cigars for the gentlemen, but that she didn't have to worry about the conversation because Wirt supplied all of that.

"He's a monologist," is the way she summed up the evening.

Miss Barrows is a Vassar graduate, has blond hair and is divorced. She was Wirt's secretary from 1914 to 1917 when he was reorganizing the New York city public schools. She now is in the bureau of education of the interior department here.

"The party was certainly not a success," Miss Barrows said. "It was informal and began with a get-together with a few chosen guests present. There were cocktails before dinner, a full-course meal and cigars and coffee later."

A poll of the other guests produced a majority opinion that if anybody said anything like "President Roosevelt is only the Kerensky of this revolution," it must have been Wirt because nobody else got in that many words.

David Cushman Coyle, a public works administration engineer, said he didn't have much fun at the party either. It started out all right, he explained, and everybody took a drink before dinner. No one complained about the quality of the food or drink, but Coyle said that just when things were getting under way Wirt began to talk.

"He talked for about four hours," Coyle said sadly. "It was all about gold devaluation. Nobody discussed much of anything that evening because Wirt got going on gold and wouldn't stop."

Coyle said he wouldn't have minded so much if Wirt had slowed down once in a while long enough for somebody to get in even a question. Coyle's recollection was that Wirt gave a strictly marathon performance, and he added:

"It isn't very interesting, you know, to hear a man talk for four hours straight and not get a chance to reply."

Miss Barrows spent the afternoon dodging photographers, but finally gave up tucked a little black bag under her arm and retreated to the office of her boss, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

Ickes seemed to be taking in his stride the fact that the hostess of the revolutionary dinner party worked in his department.

"You know," he explained, "we have had a standing order for some time to look out for bombs around here."

DR. WIRT'S TALE BRINGS SUMMONS

it over and decided the three men and three women at the Virginia dinner would appear next week—and that was all.

Made in 1931 Speech.

Tugwell laconically commented that some of the statement Wirt attributed to him were made in a 1931 speech and there apparently dismissed the incident.

Wirt, pausing as if for effect, named Lawrence Todd, Washington newspaperman, as the person who said that President Roosevelt "is only the Kerensky of this revolution."

The nattily dressed Gary school superintendent also attributed subversive remarks and revelations of "brain trust" plotting to Miss Hildegrade Kneeland, department of agriculture economist since 1924, and Miss Mary Taylor, economist in the consumers' division of the farm administration

Denials rose in the wake of his charges like quail from a thicket. Todd flatly said the Gary educator's statements were untrue. Miss Kneeland, now at the University of North Carolina, said she did not know Tugwell.

Just Listened.

Others at the dinner, Wirt said, were David C. Coyle, of the public works administration; the hostess, Miss Alice Burrows, who lives just across the Potomac, and Robert Bruere, chairman of the textile code authority, but he said about all they did was "listen."

The three democratic committee members, Chairman Bulwinkle, of North Carolina; Arnold, of Illinois, and O'Connor, of New York, tried to keep Wirt to the statements they had made about revolution and brain trust scheming to do away with the established order of things.

By and large, however, he told the story in his own way, prompted occasionally by ruddy-faced James A. Reed, former senator from Missouri, who surprised spectators and committeemen alike by appearing as counsel for Wirt.

Rainey Named.

The witness, who wrote a letter quoting professional advisers as saying "We believe we have Mr. Roosevelt in the middle of a swift stream," said Westervelt told him that no less a person than Speaker Rainey predicted last March "that within another month or two the government will take over the operation of some other industries and then I do not know what will happen."

Rainey said he knew Westervelt but he snorted:

"I never said any such thing as that, not even in jocular fashion."

"Silly."

The speaker repeated previous comments that the entire Wirt episode was "silly."

Wirt also said Westervelt quoted Dr. Frederick C. Howe, head of the farm administration consumers' division, as asserting Howe expressed the wish that the government would stop feeding people.

Wirt said the inference was that the revolution would come quicker if the government ended its relief program.

"All bunk," succintly commented Howe in New Brunswick, N. J., where he had gone for a speech.

The two republican members of the committee, McGugin, of Kansas, and Lehlbach, of New Jersey, were quite willing to have the injury broadened to include the activities of all the administration's professional advisers.

Reed at one time moved that the investigation take in the "brain trust."

Under Advisement.

Chairman Bulwinkle blandly informed him:

"We'll take the matter under advisement."

McGugin, who charged the limitations imposed on Wirt were "gag rule" and "unAmerican," later made public a telegram from E. A. Hayes, commander of the American Legion, which he said "is indicative of the fact that the American people want a real investigation, which we're not going to get under present procedure:

The telegram said:

"The American Legion organized to safeguard the principles of democracy respectfully urges that comprehensive complete investigation shall be conducted insuring fairness to all parties concerned but designed to develop the truth completely so that all American citizens may know whether any official of government advocates principles intended to undermine present form of government."

To Limit Questions.

Committee members said the six summoned would be given a transcript of Dr. Wirt's testimony and their questioning would be confined to that.

There was a sharp outburst of applause when Wirt said with trembling lips:

"I would like to say here that if these charges of mine are disproved, I will be one of the happiest men in this entire country."

Wirt said he commented that from April "until the first of August, I stated that recovery was three times as great as any similar recovery in the entire history of America in a similar period.

"Hildegarde Kneeland," he said, "then commented 'Are you the man who committed the crime of trying to convert the leaders of the American Federation of Labor to the idea that we should go back to the conditions of 1926?' "

Recognizes Tugwell.

He added that Miss Kneeland told him that her group "takes the leadership and recognizes the leadership of Dr. Tugwell. We are in the department of agriculture and Henry A. Wallace expressed the viewpoint that we believed in."

"Miss Kneeland said that?" Bulwinkle asked.

"Yes, and in the opinion of Dr. Tugwell the so-called recovery was an illusion; it was a speculation and if he had had power he would have closed the commodity and the stock exchanges. That was one statement, but I have here a printed statement sent out only about six weeks ago by Dr. Tugwell himself, stating the same thing."

Tugwell later told reporters some of the quotations Wirt attributed to him were from a "speech I gave before the American Economic Society at Philadelphia during Christmas week, 1031."

At Chapel Hill, N. C., Miss Kneeland said she had never met Tugwell., a former professor of economics at Columbia.

In voting to call the six Wirt said were present at the September dinner party, the house committee also considered calling William S. Westervelt, former assistant to George N. Peek when Peek was farm administrator.

One Episode.

Wirt said the Virginia dinner party was only one episode of a series which convinced him the "brain trust" intended to "overthrow the old established order."

Bulwinkle and the other two democratic members, Arnold, of Illinois, and O'Connor, of New York, fidgeted while Wirt recounted a series of expressions he said Miss Kneeland attributed to Tugwell.

Occasionally, one would break in to ask:

"Who said that?"

"Miss Kneeland," was the invariable reply until finally the crowd began to titter. Reed smiled and glanced over his shoulder at his bride, the former Nell Q. Donnelly, of Kansas City, who sat on a front row with Mrs. Wirt.

"Doctor, who made the statement to you that 'we believe that we have Mr. Roosevelt in the middle of a swift stream'?" inquired Bulwinkle.

"The statement was made by three people."

"Name them."

"Lawrence Todd, Miss Kneeland and Mary Taylor."

"All made the same statement to you?"

All in Midstream.

"Yes, and it was made in this connection, that we were all forced to go through with the things that we were then doing, starting to do and we could not turn back any more than you can the flight of time; therefore, not only Roosevelt, but all of us were in the middle of this swift stream."

The witness attributed to Todd directly the statement that the president was only a "Kerensky."

Todd denied flatly he made the statements attributed to him. He said at the time of the dinner he was not a representative for Tass, and did not join that agency until after Russia was recognized by the United States.

Coyle said, too, that he failed to hear the subversive remarks.

"All I know about it is," he said, "that Mr. Wirt got me invited to this dinner.

"However, he got started talking about gold devaluation and talked on that subject for four hours so nobody else had any chance to say anything."

Visit in March.

Wirt said Westervelt, formerly an army officer and now a Chicago businessman, had visited him in Gary last March.

"He stated," the witness testified, "that Dr. Frederic C. Howe came into his office and was discussing the federal relief program; that Howe asked him, Westervelt, 'Is there any way by which we can stop feeding them? We are going too slowly. If we could stop feeding them, we would make greater headway toward what we are trying to accomplish."

It was this statement that Howe, who had gone to New Jeresy for an address, characterized as "all bunk."

"He (Westervelt)," Wirt continued, "said that Rexford G. Tugwell came into his office and told him that he could get a million dollars from the government for a special kind of school to which they could get the recent college graduates who are not employed to come, and because of their attitude to society, due to the fact that they had not been able to get employment following their graduation, it would be easy to innoculate them with the ideas that they wanted them to have concerning the new planned economy."

Wirt said that "General Westervelt also said that Henry T. Rainey, speaker of the house of representatives, came to his office, as I remember it, some time last November and inquired about the progress that was being made concerning a project in the western part of Illinois in which he was interested."

The witness continued that Westervelt quoted the speaker as saying:

"Congress will assemble, we will pass certain laws, and adjourn about the middle of May, and after we adjourn in a month or six weeks the government will take over the operation of a certain number of industries, then within another month or two the government will take over the operation of some other industries, and then I do not know what will happen."

"I never said any such thing as that," Rainey told newspapermen, "not even in jocular fashion."

At his home in Chicago, Westervelt said he had no comment.

Wirt asked that Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, and Westervelt be called but there was no indication that the committee intended to summon them.

Bulwinkle said that Wirt would not be recalled to the stand.

"We are through with him," he said.

"POLITICAL" PLOT REPORTED BY DRY

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP) Word of a "political" plot designed to bring "chaos" in the United States, but with the accused parties unnamed, today came from the leader of a newly-reorganized feminine prohibition group.

Mrs. F. I. Johnson, of Ohio and New York, made the assertion in a statement. She issued it just before accepting the presidency of the "new Woman's National Committee for Political Action."

Taking from Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, a dry leader for 12 years, the gavel of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, from which the new organization was formed, Mrs. Johnson said:

"Nothing short of a thorough house cleaning followed by an active organization to preserve active representative government will satisfy the people."

the people and like all good citizens we abide by it."

"From the time he was 12 years old, while he (Bishop Cannon) was being brought up by a mother who was a member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, he was taught to hate and abhor the liquor traffic. As president of a women's college, as a churchman, as bishop of the church he had the confidence of everyone who believed in his cause."

The gray-haired bishop, a handkerchief draped across his arm, listened intently.

Jameson, a slight, quiet-mannered man who began his testimony in a voice so low that the court urged him to speak louder, told under the questioning of Assistant District Attorney John J. Wilson of his first contacts with Bishop Cannon.

"In 1928," he said, "my attention was called to a campaign of anti-Smith democrats in Virginia and, as I recall, discussed it with Mr. Slemp and Bishop Cannon. (C. Bascom Slemp, former republican national committeeman from Virginia.)

"Bishop Cannon and Mr. Slemp came to see me; I was asked to support a campaign of anti-Smith democrats and I finally agreed to do so to the extent of $50,000 which was to be paid in installments."

"You agreed to contribute the money to whom?" asked Wilson.

"To the anti-Smith democrats, to Mr. Cannon as head of the anti-Smith democrats," he answered.

"How much?"

"I actually did, in installments, contribute $50,000 and then added to that later."

He explained that he made an $8,000 contribution and then after election other sums totaling $7,300 "to help make up money still due for printing and one thing and another."

WOMEN'S LAXATIVE MUST DO THIS

Women, because of certain organic disturbances, need laxatives frequently. Feen-a-mint is the delicious tasting chewing gum laxative that contains a laxative ingredient regularly prescribed by physicians. You chew delicious Feen-a-mint, and this chewing distributes the laxative ingredient more evenly into the intestines, thus giving a "full," more natural action. Non-habit forming Feen-a-mint never shocks nor irritates delicate organs. Don't suffer "laxative dread," take Feen-a-mint the first "dangerous day" that starts waste matter poison seeping into the system. Feen-a-mint contains no richness to upset stomach or diet or to get stale. "Delay" is dangerous—chew Feen-a-mint for constipation. 15c and 25c at druggists. (adv.)

Atlanta Department Ranks High In U. S. Fire Prevention Contest

Competing with firefighters in more than 125 cities in the United States whose population ranges from 250,000 to 500,000, the Atlanta fire department has been awarded sixth place in the 1933 national fire waste contest, it was announced Tuesday.

In the competition, sponsored annually by the national and local chambers of commerce, the awards are based on the efforts of individual departments at fire prevention; efficiency of the departments, and the total fire loss recorded by each.

In the first division of the contest, entered by cities with a population of more than 500,000, Philadelphia won the top award; Detroit was second and Pittsburgh third.

Winners in other groups were: Second division (in which Atlanta is grouped)—Providence, R. I., first; Indianapolis, second, Cincinnati third; Rochester, N. Y., fourth; Kansas City, fifth, and Atlanta sixth.

Cities of 100,000 to 250,000 population: Hartford, Conn., first. From 50,000 to 100,000, Lakewood, Ohio, first. From 20,000 to 50,000, Owensboro, Ky., first; and in cities of less than 20,000, Palo Alto, Cal., first.

Activities leading to recognition of the Atlanta department, other than the actual fire loss, were handled under supervision of special prevention bureau, headed by Fire Marshal M. H. Carter, and composed of the following: Assistant Fire Marshal Harry Phillips, Fire Inspector W. M. Pope and Fire Inspector W. A. Davis. All special work was under the general supervision of Chief O. J. Parker, with directors of the Fire College and Officers' Training School co-operating.

Speaking of the award Tuesday, Chief Parker said: "I am very grateful to my men for bringing to the department so enviable a distinction, and with the continued progress they are now making I feel that we will be nearer the top in our division when the winners for 1934 are announced. We appreciate the opportunity of competing with other departments and particularly do we wish to thank the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce for its assistance, and decision to sponsor our entrance in the contest."

W. D. Hoffman, of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the special fire prevention committee which aided the firemen in the campaign.

MEMORIAL WORK TO START TODAY

more hotel, Hull said, but no clerical staff has been employed as yet. The entire force of laborers and stone cutters, approximately 70 men, will be employed by the CWA. Though the starting crew this morning will be small, the number will be increased as the work necessitates.

The $50,000 granted by the federal government will be supplemented by sale of Stone Mountain Memorial coins and other means and members of the memorial commission, which is headed by Mayor James L. Key, said they were confident money will be supplied as needed to complete the monument.

The project is expected to take five years to complete, Borglum said. It will attract thousands of visitors and tourists to Atlanta yearly and will be one of the world's most unusual memorials.

To Clean Up Grounds.

The CWA crew today will start cleaning up the grounds for the park and will begin tearing down the old buildings which can no longer be used, Hull said. New scaffolding, new buildings and the elevator will be constructed as rapidly as possible.

Borglum already has begun work on his models for the monument in Washington and has announced they will be ready in a short time. He will come here when the preparatory work is completed to begin carving.

Lincoln Borglum, the sculptor's son, will assist his father in measurements of the models for the actual carving. The group scene will be projected in pictures against the side of the mountain and this will be done at night, Hull asserted. Then markings will be placed on the sheer mountain side and the stone cutting will begin.

The monument association, headed by Key, is comprised of Wiley L. Moore, John I. Kelly, Lawrence McCord, Ryburn Clay, Governor Eugene Talmadge and J. O. Johnson.

Wirt's Nerts!

Editor The Constitution: I heard part of Dr. Wirt's testimony today over the radio, and "I dunno," as Amos would say, but my impressions were about what the enclosed verses would indicate, Wirt's nerts!

Now, this Matilda Legland told it to a man named Bob,
Who passed it to another man whose name was Lawrence Cobb.
And then a girl named Sparrows told a friend, a Mr. Hoyle,
Who told the tailor at his side this country soon would boil
With bloody revolution, for the people gathered there
Would put another Stalin in our presidential chair!

The plot hatched in Virginia, on a cool, September night;
The things the plotters hinted filled my soul with awful fright!
And when I heard them hinting of those dark and terrible things,
I saw our constitution rise on bruised, bedraggled wings
And soar away to Russia, or to some place just as bad—

The peril to our nation grows more dangerous every hour!
These bold, bad plotters may rise up on any day, or night,
And seize the reins of government and put us all to flight!
Call out the army on the land—the sailors on the sea—
If those six traitors struck tonight, where would our country be!

ALICE IS RIGHT!

"Well," said Alice, "it seems that the family is having quite an argument about going to Europe this year."

"You can't go," said the Mad Hatter. "Exchange rates are up and that lets you down."

"That's silly," said Alice. "Things don't cost any more in Europe."

"Pounds, francs, liras," snapped the Mad Hatter.

"But I don't want those things," exclaimed Alice disgustedly. "I don't want to know how much a pound costs, but how much a room-and-bath costs in England . . . not how much a lira is, but how much train fare I have to pay from Naples to Rome."

We agree with Alice, for if you add together all the real items, the total cost of a trip to Europe will be still less than living and travel on any comparable scale anywhere in the world! A room with bath, First Class, in the Aquitania now costs 37% less than in 1926, President Roosevelt's "Year of Normalcy"... and the average minimum First Class rate is down by 20%. Cabin Class rates are as low as $234 Round Trip, Tourist Class $188. Railroad rates abroad average 30% less and hotel costs average 36% less. Ask your local agent or send for folder of facts proving European travel cheaper in 1934 than in 1926.

TWO FATALLY HURT IN TRUCK CRASH

Atlantan Dies in Norfolk of Accident Injuries; Others Injured Here.

An Atlanta man was dead Tuesday and two other persons were fatally injured near the city in automobile accidents.

Bryce R. Smith, of 1655 Cornell road, died in a hospital in Norfolk, Va., early Tuesday morning of injuries he suffered Monday night when his automobile crashed into a tree off Shore drive near Cape Henry. He was a traveling representative of the Pacific Knitting Mills.

The two men killed near Atlanta were John Robert McClain, 17, and Joe H. Terry, 25, both of Cookeville, Tenn. They were fatally hurt when their truck, loaded iwth eggs consigned to Atlanta, got out of control and crashed into a pole two miles north of the Chattahoochee river on the Marietta highway.

Both were dead when they were pulled from the wreckage. Their bodies were to be taken to their homes in Cookeville by the Mays-Ward Company of Marietta. They were identified by papers in their pockets.

Mr. Smith died at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, 12 hours after the accident. Mrs. Smith, notified of the accident, left Atlanta Monday night for Norfolk. The body will be brought to Atlanta for burial with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Bryce Jr. He had resided in Atlanta about 12 years.

In a double accident in Atlanta Tuesday morning, an unidentified motorist attacked Martey DeIrt, employe of the J. P. Allen Company, and inflicted wounds which necessitated treatment at Grady hospital.

DeIrt said the man sideswiped his car at Carnegie way and Spring street and did not stop. At Luckie and Spring streets, the motorist crashed into the bicycle of R. L. Brown, of 165 Spring street, who is a messenger boy.

When DeIrt arrived at the scene, the man, after a few words, jerked DeIrt glasses off and struck him several times in the face. DeIrt was treated for deep cuts and bruises. The messenger was not injured. DeIrt told police the motorist got in his car and left after striking him. His assailants license number was furnished police.

Patrolman C. R. Adams made a case of reckless driving and having an accident against B. T. Connally, of 577 Culberson street, S. W., in connecting with an attack last Sunday morning on J. H. Brock, of 401 Hurt building, and Miss B. Meadows, of 14 Peachtree avenue, Buckhead.

Brock and Miss Meadows were struck and bruised by a man whose car had slightly damaged theirs at Pershing Point. Connally denied hitting the two and said a companion had attacked them. He gave police the companion's name.

Two men were injured Tuesday night in an automobile and truck collision on Howell Mill road at Peachtree Battle avenue, according to county police reports. H. S. Gill, of 77 Clayton street, was admitted to Grady hospital with a fracture of the right leg, and C. I. Gill, of 166 Mills street, was admitted to the hospital for observation. According to a report to county police headquarters, a man named Ferguson was the driver of the truck.

Five persons were injured Tuesday night when an automobile driven by William Graham, 18, of Roswell, struck a telephone pole at Peachtree and Collier road, according to reports at Grady hospital. Graham said that the brake rods came loose and he attempted to stop the car by cutting into the curb, but that the machine struck the pole. Three ambulances answered the call.

Graham and J. L. Martin, 18, of Roswell, were treated at Grady for cuts and bruises and were dismissed. Misses Lena Mae Powell, 20, of 58 Tenth street, N. E., and Miss Hazel Touchstone, of Jefferson street, were admitted to the hospital for observation after being treated for cuts and bruises. Miss Mattie Steel, of Jefferson street, was shaken up, and was dismissed after treatment.

UNCONSCIOUSNESS OF SELF DECLARED BASIS OF HEALTH

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., April 10.—(Special)—Health is unconsciousness of self, Dr. Walter Gray Crump, of New York, famous surgeon, told five score white and negro physicians attending the annual clinic of John A. Andrew Memorial hospital here Tuesday. Dr. Crump read a paper on "The Art and Science of Medicine" in the second day of the clinic, during which several hundred patients have been treated.

"Health and buoyancy are as contagious as disease," Dr. Crump continued. Declaring there are far too many pill-peddling doctors, but not too many physicians, too many fee-splitting tonsil snatchers and too many appendix exterminators, Dr. Crump warned that "surely even in our day we witness the slaughter of the innocents."

"Nature's methods are simple, but most profound," he asserted. "A warm bed, clean sheets, sunshine, pure air, plenty of good water, absence of noises that annoy, and often a calm, sympathetic directing presence, and health is only around the corner. Then the function of the mind may pursue their ways unhampered by the interference of all those things called disease."

ARBITRATION PARLEY TO BE HELD APRIL 21

An arbitration conference on the tax valuations of three Georgia short-line railroads was tentatively set Tuesday for April 21 in Moultrie.

The lines, all to be represented by O. W. Kincaid, of Moultrie, are the Flint River & Northeastern, and Georgia, Ashburn, Sylvester & Camill., and the Georgia Northern. Thomas K. Davis, member of the public service commission, will be thearbiter for the comptroller general.

GRIM UNDERTONES MARK ARMS MEET

Russia Indicates Readiness to Disarm Only If Japan Does.

GENEVA, April 10.—Grim undertones, including an indication that Russia will disarm only if Japan does and emphasis on the possibilities of armament races or war, characterized speeches during a short meeting today of the disarmament conference steering committee.

Boris Stein, soviet spokesman, declared Russia will sign a disarmament convention "but only on the condition it is universally accepted and necessarily by all neighbors of Russia."

He stressed the troubled world situation and, with the remark that "now again the spectre of war rises before all humanity," demanded an arms slash instead of stabilization at the present level. His stand received general support.

Captain Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal and leading arms expert, emphasized that a substantial reduction in war materials remains for Great Britain a "fundamental condition to her agreement on any arms convention," thus giving the impression that England expects French arms reductions in return for British security guarantees.

Delegates noticed that Rene Massigli, of France, did not reveal his government's eventual attitude but confined himself to the statement that the "rearmament of Germany" changed the entire problem and that this course was incompatible with the disarmament of other nations.

Members of the bureau separated with some renewal of hope, they said, but also with the uneasy feeling that something must be done if disaster is to be averted.

In Athens a monument vase with two handles was placed on the tomb of a person who died unmarried, such a vase being the type carried in a marriage procession to hold water for the wedding ritual bath.

Important Positions Are Given to The Southern Business College Students

Business Now Urging Young People To Prepare for Work.

It pays to attend a good business school!

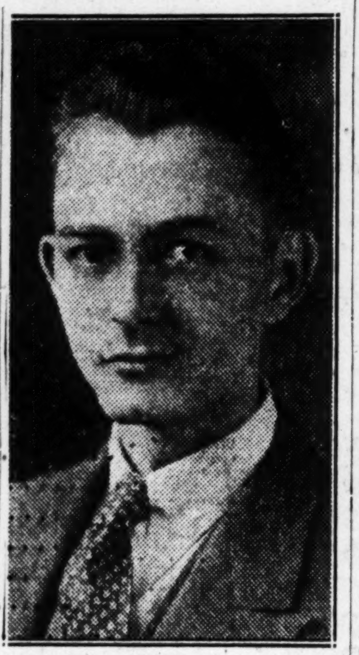
Enroll now at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, the school known far and wide for the great efficiency of its graduates, the school which is recommended by eighty out of every hundred Atlanta businessmen to those who inquire for a good school.

Business now demands greater efficiency, and that is the reason the Southern's graduates are preferred. Fifty-five out of every hundred stenographers, secretaries and accountants employed in Atlanta are from the Southern, and this is why the high school graduates are largely choosing this long-established school at which to receive their business training. The prestige alone given its graduates is worth the cost of tuition.

Mr. Ben M. Stripling, well known and popular, is among the hundred or more students of the Southern who have recently gone to important and permanent positions. He completed the course in shorthand, bookkeeping, typewriting, etc., and has accepted a splendid position with Mr. Roy Le-Craw, General Manager of the State Life Insurance Company. The Southern's mail of yesterday included the following letter from Mr. Stripling:

"Mr. L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Business University, 193 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Mr. Arnold: The Southern Shorthand and Business University has my highest recommendation. It has a capable faculty teaching practical subjects by the latest methods. Yours very sincerely, Ben M. Stripling."



BEN M. STRIPLING JR., who has accepted an important position with the State Life Insurance Co. after his graduation at the Southern Business University.

"Send us another efficient secretary like the last six we have employed from your school from time to time," was the request by phone from a large manufacturing concern in Atlanta this week.

Over thirty thousand graduates, who are in positions, attest the value of the Southern's training. You cannot afford to deprive yourself of the Southern's advantages by attending even a free school.

Begin now. The tuition rates will please you. Call, phone or write as above.—(adv.)

HURLEY ACCUSED AS LABOR'S JUDAS

Sold Out Union for 'Thirty Lousy Pieces of Silver' Lewis Declares.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, testified today that Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war, had sold out the labor organization for "30 lousy pieces of silver."

He made this statement after an address by Hurley at an NRA public hearing on the new wage and hour scale for the bituminous coal industry.

Hurley acting as counsel for Sahara Coal Company and the Wasson Coal Company of southern Illinois, said "sharp practice" and propaganda of the United Mine Workers had resulted in a strike of 2,500 miners employed by the two companies.

"I charge Secretary Hurley with having betrayed the organization in which he boasts former membership," said Lewis.

"It is a matter of pride to a member of the U. M. W. to see a son of that organization to go out into the highways and byways of national politics and make a name for himself that is recognized throughout the country.

"But it is a matter of sorrow and regret to see a man who has made such a start sell out and deliver that organization for 30 lousy pieces of silver."

Later, Hurley called on Lewis to retract from the record the reference to "thirty lousy pieces of silver." Lewis replied:

"All right, I agree to that. But you did betray the union of your youth."

THOMAS N. ABERNATHY, RETIRED DRUGGIST, DIES

Thomas N. Abernathy, 75, widely known retired druggist, of 355 Bryan street, S. E., died Tuesday morning in a private hospital after an illness of about a week. He was a native of north Fulton county and had resided in Atlanta for about 45 years. He entered the drug business with his brother, the late Dr. James Abernathy, retiring when his brother died.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mattie Bazemore Abernathy, and a son, Lamar Abernathy, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes. Elder J. A. Monsees and Elder W. W. Riner will conduct the service and interment will be in the College Park cemetery.

Dr. Louie D. Newton Praises Purpose of Essay Contest

Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, has written to The Constitution praising it for sponsoring the high school essay contest.

The contest is open to all high schools pupils in Georgia, and 15 prizes—as many sets of the Library of Southern Literature—will be given to the best writers.

Dr. Newton in his letter said:

"I am very glad to see the wide interest on the part of the young people of Atlanta in the essay contest now being conducted in The Atlanta Constitution on southern literature in the world of letters. I regard any movement as worthy of our sincere support and enthusiastic encouragement which seeks to acquaint our young people with the best that has been thought and said by the choice minds of the south."

The contest will close at midnight on April 30. Essays must be limited to 500 words, must be written on one side of the paper only, and contain the name of the author. Fifteen sets of the Library of Southern Literature will be the prizes, the essays to be judged by judges to be announced later.

The Library of Southern Literature was compiled under the supervision of southern educators and men of letters. Edwin Anderson Alderman and Charles Alphonso Smith were the editors-in-chief, and Charles William Kent and John Calvin Metcalf were the literary editors.

The library includes the productions of orators and statesmen, including Washington, Lee, Jefferson, Stephens and others; historians and biographers, poets and dramatists, novelists and dialect writers, theologians and philosophers, educators and scientists, writers of travel and description, essayists and journalists, women writers of note—all southern-born.

Each writer is introduced with a biography and a choice of bindings is offered. The books are not only entertaining and instructive, but are also ornamental worthy of a place in any well-selected library.

A new edition of the Library of Southern Literature has just been published by the Martin & Holt Co., publishers, of Atlanta.

No conditions are imposed on contestants except that they be high school students. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Constitution to enter the contest.

Capable judges will read the essays and select the 15 best. The judgment will be final.

Remember the closing date — midnight of April 30.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

One year ago at this time I was in the middle of preparing a paper to be read at the annual meetings of the American Society of Mannalogists at Harvard University. I was eating and sleeping in the midst of measurements. Standard deviations buttered my bread, my wife became alarmed over my condition, and I swore even more violently than usual at my neighbor's cats. I became wild-eyed. I thought in terms of the square root of the average square minus the square of the average, and I must have mumbled that formula constantly. I often heard it echoing around the walls of my study. Finally these measurements were nicely completed, and the finished paper with all the vast data sheets and tabulations were packed in the car. We set out for Massachusetts with a light set of hearts—Queen and Jack on the front seat, with the Ace asleep on the improvised bed in the tonneau.

That trip was a soothing balm for my headache. The weather was fine, the scenery beautiful, and outside the difficulty in getting some relatives located on a street in Washington that the local constabulary swore was not in the city—we eventually found it with the aid of a taxi driver—the trip was uneventful. We arrived in Cambridge all peace and serenity. What was my consternation to learn that I had been given second position in the first session, and that the man who was to read the first paper had failed to put in an appearance!

The members were most kind. They forgave me my stammering utterances, and really seemed to take an interest in the subject matter. I was supposed to have 20 minutes of the program; reading the paper consumed about 18, and the discussion took 30. I had received my baptism of fire. Thenceforth I never blanched before the most austere audience.

What a difference this year! The survey of Georgia animals is really getting under way. There is an endless amount of work to do, and it is piling up faster than I can keep up with it. Where I formerly took each specimen and wrote its description separately, I now have to put a number tag on the specimen, dash its locality data into the field notebook, and be sure that all records are accurately kept. After three years of faster and faster work, I will be able to take three more years in the museum and complete my data. After that, what? Me for Queensland or the Tanganyika territory. The snakes in those places are said to be quite interesting.

Spelman Celebrating.

Alumnae and friends of Spelman College will join with its students and faculty today in celebrating the fifty-third anniversary of the founding of the college. Odd Carniverous Orchid Placed on Display Here

The carniverous Darlingtonia, or cobra orchid, a handsomely colored milk-drinking and meat and insect-eating plant found originally in the Mt. Shasta region of California and developed into a hardy perennial through patient experiments which lasted for six years, is on display this week at Rich's.

The strange plant was brought to Atlanta by John Wescott, of Washington, D. C., who was swamped with questions about the funnel-shaped, leafless growth. He explained that the plant's excretion of a sweet fluid attracts insects to the underside of the hood, where they are trapped and taken into the stem for absorption in a digestive fluid.

RABBI MARX IS NAMED LABOR BOARD OFFICIAL

Rabbi David Marx has been appointed vice chairman of the regional labor board, Frank Coffee, its secretary, announced Tuesday. The appointment, Mr. Coffee said, was made by Senator Robert Wagner, of New York, chairman of the national labor board.

The regional board heard two cases Tuesday and will announce its findings later. One was the complaint of employes of the Florida Public Service Co., a power company of Orlando, that the company had discharged workers because of their union affiliations, Marion Smith, P. E. Glenn and W. O. Langley conducted the hearing.

The other hearing involved a threatened strike by employes of the Agricola Furnace Co., of Gadsden, Ala., involving wage adjustments. Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory University, presided.

MARGIN PROVISION STIRS HEATED TILT

Senate Committee Defers Action on Minimum Requirements.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—The minimum margin requirements of the stock exchange bill, most controversial section of that much disputed measure, today involved the senate banking committee in such prolonged and spirited debate that a decision was deferred until tomorrow.

Pending was a proposal by Senator Glass, backed by the federal reserve board, under which all the bill's exact stipulations on minimum margins would be eliminated and left to the discretion of a regulatory commission.

Proponents of the strictest possible check on speculation fought to save the measure's requirement that all security purchases be accompanied by the posting of a 60 per cent cash margin, with an optional provision somewhat less severe.

They conceded, however, their chances of success were slight and that the Glass proposition would be approved and planned a resumption of the battle when the measure comes up for debate on the senate floor.

The committee earlier in the day disposed of another highly disputed section of the measure in approving modified provisions empowering the regulatory agency to fix rules for the separation of the activities of dealer, trader and specialist.

As originally drafted, the bill prohibited a broker from acting as dealer and forbade a specialist to be either broker or dealer. Like the 60 per cent margin requirement, this drew an emphatic protest from the New York Stock Exchange.

The section was revised by technical experts who drafted the original bill, and the friends of the measure in its first form made no objections. They were, however, much opposed to modification of the margin requirements and planned a fight on the senate floor for stronger regulation.

High Court Affirms Murder Convictions

The death sentence of Emmett Gibson, negro, implicated by another negro in the slaying of "Uncle Hamp" McGee, aged farmer who lived alone in Fulton county, was upheld.

The court likewise affirmed the life terms of Huby McConnell, Arnold McConnell and John Thomas Layton, white youths, convicted in Wilkinson county for the slaying of two companions, found dead the morning following a country dance.

The two McConnells and Layton were convicted of slaying Ray Butler and Lester Rutherford. In their defense the three attributed the deaths of Butler and Rutherford to an automobile accident.

WOMAN IS ELECTED VANDERBILT ALUMNI PRESIDENT FOR 1934

Mrs. Aubrey Fischer, dean of women at Washington Seminary, Tuesday night was elected president of the Vanderbilt University Alumni Association. Alex McNeil was elected secretary and treasurer.

The elections followed a dinner and address by Dr. Gus Dyer, head of the economics department at Vanderbilt. He denounced mass education as responsible for the stupidity of mass thinking and urged the alumni to protect Vanderbilt from any move to enlarge the student body and any influence tending toward the mass idea of "bigness."

Dr. Dyer said that the reason the present crisis had produced no statesmen of note was that our mass educational ideas had all but stamped out individual thinking.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Thomas Conner, the retiring president.

TERRY DRUGGAN WRIT IS UNDER ADVISEMENT

Federal District Judge E. Marvin Underwood Tuesday took under advisement the application of Terrence Druggan, who ranked second only to Al Capone among Chicago's prohibition era beer barons, for a writ of habeas corpus freeing him from the Atlanta federal penitentiary, where he is serving a sentence for income tax evasions.

Druggan has served all but about four months of four concurrent two and one-half-year sentences for income tax violations dating back to 1922. He contends, in his petition for freedom, that he is undergoing double punishment, in that the government confiscated property valued at thousands of dollars to apply on his income taxes and penalties, in addition to the prison sentences given him.

JUDGE MOORE TO TALK ON LOVE FOR MOTHERS

Mother love and service to mothers will be the subjects of two radio addresses by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of the Fulton superior court, and Durwoody Cecil Jones, exalted antler, of the Atlanta Lodge of Antlers, Thursday and Friday night.

Judge Moore will speak over WGST at 5:35 o'clock Thursday afternoon and Jones will talk over WJTL at 7:15 o'clock Friday night. The addresses are a part of the program, begun February 1, of the Antlers, junior order of B. P. O. E. and the P.-T. A. organizations of Atlanta to further children's love for their mothers. The campaign will end in special services on Mother's Day.

ATLANTAN INDICTED IN 15-CENT ROBBERY

Charging a robbery which netted the perpetrator only 15 cents, Fulton county grand jury returned an indictment Tuesday naming Clarence Trice, charged with robbing W. F. Paschal, of 432 Bedford place, N. E.

Other related indictments included a bill naming Godfrey Burke, who is charged with larceny of $144.50 worth of clothing and jewelry from the home of Hugh L. Nolan. Alex Hall and Will Ross were named in an indictment charging burglary of $250 worth of jewelry from the store of A. G. Moser.

MOTOR CRASH VICTIM'S RELATIVES ARE SOUGHT

Search was under way Tuesday for relatives of Charles T. Gossett, 35, of 633 Delmar avenue, S. E., formerly of Boston, Mass., who died Sunday at Grady hospital of injuries received early Sunday morning in an automobile accident near Red Oak. The body is at the funeral home of Harry G. Poole, pending advices from relatives as to funeral arrangements.

New Group To Control American Airways, Inc.

A new aviation operating company to control American Airways, Inc., and other companies of the Cord Corporation will be formed immediately under conditions which will make it eligible to bid for air mail contracts, E. L. Cord announced in Chicago Tuesday.

Declaring that the intention of the company is to "adapt itself to the Roosevelt program," Cord said Aviation Corporation, the present operating company, would reorganize under the revised regulations and would bid for mail contracts. He said the company was prepared to expand to meet the growing need for the aviation industry.

American Airways now operates lines from Atlanta to Houston, to Fort Worth and Los Angeles, and to Chicago out of Candler field daily. At the cessation of air mail contracts, the company curtailed activities only on the night air mail lines. Cord said new officers would be elected in the new operating company and that stock held in the old company would be adjusted.

BAKER WILL HEAD AIR PROBE GROUP

Military Aviation Inquiry To Convene Soon for Initial Session.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Newton D. Baker, war-time secretary of war, today accepted appointment as chairman of the army's air corps investigating committe upon which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh declined to serve.

Secretary Dern, announcing the acceptances of five other civilians to aid army generals in making the military aviation inquiry, said the first meeting would be held here late this week or early next.

The investigation, planned by the war department itself, stepped into national focus following a list of tragedies suffered bw army air mail in flying the mail.

The secretary of war said the following civilians in addition to Baker had accepted places on the committee of eleven:

Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, president of Massachusetts Intitute of Technology;

Dr. George W. Lewis, director of aeronautical research for the national advisory committee on aeronautics;

Clarence D. Chamberlin, noted trans-Atlantic flyer;

Edgar S. Gorrell, president Stutz Motor Car Company.

The military members of the committee who already compose the "drum board" for continuous study of the air corps needs are headed by Major General Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of staff, who will serve as vice chairman and include Major General Benjamin D. Fouloi, chief of air corps, and others.

Girl, 16, Shares Home With Body of Father

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 10.—(UP)—Since the day before Easter a 16-year-old high school girl has been sharing an apartment with her dead father because she didn't know how to report his suicide, it became known Monday.

When neighbors asked Esther May Brown about the health of her father, Marshall Brown, 45, she told them he had hanged himself March 31 and that she had cut down the body and placed it in a bed.

Police and the medical examiner, summoned by neighbors, declared Brown a suicide. The girl told them she did not understand what she should have done in the circumstances.

WEATHER IS TOPIC AS KEY, FERA HEAD HOLD CONFERENCE

Mayor James L. Key and Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state FERA administration, Tuesday conferred on Atlanta relief problems, but no announcement of the results of the conference were available.

When asked what was discussed, Key said:

'Miss Shepperson said we were having a fine spring day. I concurred—and that was that—."

That was all newspapermen obtained from the conference.

At the same time, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance committee of council, suggested that RFC aid be sought in disposing of about $400,000 worth of 1934 city of Atlanta refunding bonds pledged to the federal government for the purpose of keeping federal relief activities going here.

Miss Shepperson is known to be insisting on payment of the $50,000 which Key and other administration leaders made, contingent on the refunding of the bonds. They have been validated by the courts, but no market has been found for them.

Mr. Ebersole has lived in the south for a number of years and in Atlanta for the past six. He is a graduate of Cornell in the class of 1923, and a member of the Alpha Delta fraternity. At Cornell he played football under Gilmer Dobie, the famous coach. He married Miss Charlotte Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Meador, of Atlanta.

Mr. Ebersole succeeds Grosvenor Bemis, who had been connected with Davison's for the past eight years, recently holding the position of store manager. He has been promoted to Macy's New York store, where he will be assistant on the staff of the general manager of that important organization. Both announcements emphasize the Davison policy to encourage talent in its own organization here.

"Mr. Bemis came to Atlanta after leaving college," Mr. Kline said, "and virtually all his experience has been with us. It is very gratifying to us in the store, as it must be to his friends, that his ability is recognized and awarded with this promotion.

"Mrs. Bemis is a member of the Junior League here, and they will both be missed by their friends as they leave to take up his new duties at Macy's."

Commenting on Mr. Ebersole's selection as store manager, Mr. Kline said:

"It is a source of great satisfaction to the officials of both Macy's and Davison's that we were able to fill this position with an Atlanta man who is so well qualified to assume this position of importance in the store, and whose broad acquaintanceship and knowledge of Atlanta's tastes and habits will help to direct the affairs of the store so as to continue to meet with the favor of all Atlantans. Mr. Ebersole will shortly spend some time in Macy's New York store, studying Macy's operations, which have proved so efficient there, and then return to Atlanta to adapt these methods to the operation of the Davison-Paxon Company."

This promotion and the selection of a prominent Atlanta man to fill such an important position again evidences the interest of the Straus family in Georgia, particularly in the growth and development of Davison's in Atlanta, in which they take such a keen interest. The Straus family, years ago, lived in Talbotton and Columbus, and it was the result of a visit to the home of his grandfather in Talbotton that Jesse Isidor Straus, then president of Macy's, and now United State ambassador to France, first became interested in the commercial and industrial possibilities of Atlanta as the leading city of the southeast, and therefore an ideal location in which to have a store.

MAN WHO OFFERED LIFE TO SCIENCE KILLS WIFE, SELF

IMLAY CITY, Mich., April 10.—(AP)—Thomas Holt, 38, has ended in a noose the life he once offered to science.

Holt hanged himself, the coroner's verdict said, after killing his wife, Ruth, 39, with a hammer. The bodies were found last night. Holt's swinging from a rope in a barn on his farm near here and his wife's in the farmhouse.

Several years ago Holt offered his life to the University of Michigan Medical School. The university declined the offer but gave him a job as a janitor in the medical building. Holt was skillful with his hands and Dr. Louis H. Newburgh, professor of clinical investigations and internal medicine, made him a laboratory assistant.

Dr. Newburgh recalled today he had used Holt in some experiments, in which Holt sat in a glassed-in room and ate clinically-prepared food.

Dollfuss' Own Party Will Be Abolished

VIENNA, April 10.—(AP)—Abolishment of Chancellor Dollfuss' own party—the Christian socialist—by May Day was announced today.

Coupled with the announcement was one that Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, leader of the fascist heimwehr, will take command of all armed patriotic organizations, including ones which have recognized Dollfuss as commander-in-chief.

ATLANTA WOMAN DIVORCED AND WED WITHIN 10 MINUTES

Mrs. Claire Brice Finley, beauty parlor proprietor, Tuesday went from one wedlock to another in a hurry as she was married to W. J. De-Bardeleben Jr., real estate man and son of a prominent minister, within 10 minutes after receiving one of 29 final divorce decrees granted Tuesday by Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court.

The couple were married by Judge Luther Z. Rosser Jr., of municipal court of Atlanta, after Judge Moore declined to perform the ceremony so soon after signing the divorce decree. The bride was divorced from John H. Finley.

Judge Moore granted 19 first verdicts during the day, on the uncontested divorce calendar. Liquor was the major issue in 14 of the 48 cases passed on, cruel treatment, nagging and non-support constituting a majority of the complaints.

One petitioner, Freeman G. Chute, of 411 Pulliam street, cited as the reason for desertion by Mrs. Gertrude Breidenstein Chute, of Cologne, Germany, that he "is a native-born American and not her ideal of a husband."

MOSELEY TO PRESENT MEDALS TO COMPANY

Major General George Van Horn Moseley fourth corps area commander, left here Tuesday for Tonton, N. C., where he will present medals to members of company 435 of the civilian conservation corps camp, N. C., F-13, which was selected as the best CCC company in the fourth corps area.

Captain Robert H. Haag, of the cavalry reserve, who commanded the company at the time it was selected as the best, now is in New Orleans. Plans are being made to present him a medal on April 22 in the presence of the New Orleans chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association.

In addition to Captain Haag, Lieutenant Van R. White, of Mebance, N. C.; Lieutenant J. C. Wright, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Lieutenant Benjamin Beach, Troy, N. C., and second Lieutenant Richard J. Perkins, of Thomaston, Ga., who were on duty with the company, will be presented medals.

UTILITY FEE USES OBJECT OF PROBE

Power Counsel, Officials Deny Funds Were Paid for Lobbying.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—The federal trade commission set out today to trace $230,500 paid as legal fees by the Utilities Power and Light Company of Chicago in 1928, with counsel hinting and officials denying it was used in lobbying against the power inquiry.

Thomas J. Tingley, the commission counsel, asked if that were not how it was used.

Harley L. Clarke, president of the company, denied it was Clarke said complete records of the expenditures were lacking.

The testimony, completing the section of the commission's inquiry relating to Utilities Power and Light, also dealt with a sum of $771,796 in "legal fees and commissions" for which records also were unavailable.

The lobbying questions arose after testimony that the company paid Fordyce, Holliday & White, St. Louis, lawyers, $189,500 and $50,000 on the same day for fees in connection with the acquisition of the St. Louis Coke and Iron Company and the Laclede Gas Light Company of St. Louis, respectively.

"Wasn't the legal fee for the St. Louis acquisition actually only $35,000?" Tingley asked.

"Not to my knowledge," Clarke replied.

"Didn't part or all of this amount of $189,500 cover a joint expenditure by Mr. Fordyce and you for the purchase of certain stocks?"

"No."

"Wasn't part of this fee paid to cover lobby or legal services in opposing the Walsh resolution? (the resolution in 1928 which started the commission's utility inquiry)."

"No."

Turning to the $50,000 Laclede fee, Tingley asked:

"I see no connection whatever."

"That is not an exact answer to my question. I want to get it exactly."

"It did not. I see no reason why it should have any connection with it."

ATLANTA ROTARY HEARS DR DYER, NAMES OFFICERS

A standard of values in business and money must not be committed to a group of men, but should be determined by natural laws and courses of events if the United States is to conquer the depression completely, Dr. Gus Dyer, editor of The Southern Agriculturist and professor of economics and sociology at Vanderbilt University, told a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Capital City Club.

The meeting also featured election of officers for 1934-35, and the following were chosen: Joel C. Harris Jr., president; William D. Ellis III, first vice president; Evander H. Ginn, second vice president; Russ Scott, secretary-treasurer; Mark C. Pope, sergeant-at-arms, and Richard W. Courts Jr., T. T. Flagler, Joseph Horacek, Fred A. Hoyt and William C. Warren Jr., directors.

"It is difficult to study current conditions philosophically," the speaker told the club members, "but I do know that this depression is no different in natural principle from others that have assailed this country almost periodically every 10 years during the last hundred. It is different, however, in some of its ramifications—but we're going to find the answers."

CANDY LOTTERY SALES ORDERED HALTED HERE

Two Atlanta candy companies Tuesday were among 48 in the country ordered by the federal trade commission to cease lotteries, gaming devices and gift enterprises allegedly used in the sale of their products.

The companies were the Block Candy Company and the Johnson-Fluker Company. The trade commission ordered them to "cease and desist" from producing penny candies of one color which contain a number of pieces with centers of a different color which entitle the purchaser drawing the latter to a prize. The order is effective May 5.

Brooks Morgan, president of the Block Candy Company, and L. L. Johnson, president of the Johnson-Fluker Company, both said Tuesday they had received the notice and would comply gladly. Mr. Morgan said he did not approve of the practice but his company was forced into the sale by competition from outside companies.

GALIS SLAYER TO FACE CITY RECORDER TODAY

Major Bernhart, of a Harris street address, Tuesday withdrew a petition for a writ of habeas corpus soon after filing the paper, when police booked a formal charge of "disorderly conduct—murder" against him and set the case for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in police court.

The habeas corpus petition, withdrawn through Attorney Frank A. Bowers, had charged that Bernhart was being held unlawfully on "suspicion" and that he had committed no crime. It had been set for a hearing at noon Thursday before Judge E. E. Pomeroy.

Detectives, claiming to have an oral confession from Bernhart to the killing of Galis, said that the man told them that he shot after Galis attacked him with a billiard cue.

PLAYING WITH MATCHES COSTS LIFE OF NEGRO

Lonnie Cox, 40, negro who lived at Chamblee, Tuesday engaged in his favorite pastime of playing with matches once too often, and as a result he was burned to death, according to a report by Chief of Police A. G. Hudgins, of Chamblee.

The negro, said to have a mania for playing with matches, was so crazy about striking the fire sticks that his family had to hide all of the matches on the place, Hudgins said. After dinner Tuesday Cox was missed by the family and investigation of a fire in the woods near by revealed the negro's body, badly burned, it was said.

Colleges To Debate.

The annual pentagonal league debates in which Morehouse College, Johnson C. Smith University, Knoxville College, Shaw University and Talladega participate, will be held simultaneously in these colleges Friday evening. The subject of this year's argument will be: "Resolved, That economic nationalism is the most effective means of international economic security." Each college will debate the affirmative of the question at home and send a negative team to another college.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 11, 1934.

MORE VICTIMS OF THE ROAD.

The fatal automobile accident Tuesday morning on the Marietta road in which two men lost their lives, and other accidents throughout the state in which a dozen or more persons were seriously injured, following as they do the loss of six lives over the week-end from similar accidents, give shocking evidence of the danger lurking at all hours of the day and night on the public highways.

Month after month automobile accidents are taking a greater toll among the men, women and children of Georgia than did enemy bullets among Georgia soldiers in the battles on the French front.

The tragic losses of the war awoke grief throughout the state, but the greater, and even more tragic losses, resulting from the perilous conditions on our public highways are being met with an inexplicable indifference.

It is inconceivable that public apathy, insufficient laws and inefficient enforcement shall continue to be responsible for the carnival of death which is constantly being staged on the city streets and rural highways of Georgia.

Such southern states as North Carolina, Louisiana and Tennessee have solved the problem of how to protect the lives of their citizens by creating alert highway patrols, by the enactment of laws in keeping with modern conditions, and by the arousing of public sentiment against reckless and drunken driving.

Until Georgia moves in a similarly efficient manner to curb the perils of the roads, the deplorable, and largely useless, toll in lives, limbs and property will continue.

LIQUOR REVENUES MOUNT.

A state-by-state survey of the revenues to state and national governments from beer, liquor and wines reveals that taxes amounting to nearly a quarter of a billion dollars has been paid as the result of the legalization of beer a year ago and of hard liquors and wines on December 5.

Beer has been legal in only 19 states for the full year but the revenues from it already total $173,913,205, despite the fact that in many states, as in the case of Georgia, the state treasury receives nothing from its sale. While the federal treasury took the bulk of the beer taxes, more than $1,000,000 each was collected by 10 states, New York topping the list with $4,900,000, Pennsylvania being next with $4,100,000, and such states as Wisconsin, New Jersey, Michigan and Texas taking from $1,110,000 to $1,200,000.

Wine and liquor taxes have brought in $62,000,000 since December 5, which would make an annual tax of around $200,000,000 from this source. Had the hard liquors been on sale for the entire year, as was beer, the combined revenue would have approached $400,000,000.

As additional states legalize the sale of both beer and liquors, as is certain to take place, the governmental revenues will rapidly grow, and such taxes will assume, as they have in Great Britain for many years, a predominant place in public revenues.

The amount collected during the past 12 months little more than scratches the surface of the huge revenue collected by bootleggers during the prohibition era.

As is invariably the case when taxation is too high, the liquor taxes have been held down by the heavy assessments levied by both federal and state governments. The result has been that, in most states, the prices of legal liquor are higher than those charged by bootleggers for the same brands and the bootleggers are still plying their trade.

It is estimated that the profits from the sale of illegal liquors surpass more than a billion dollars a year. In time most of this revenue can be directed into governmental coffers, with a resultant easing of the burden of taxation on the taxpayers of the country.

THE CHAMBER'S BIRTHDAY.

The celebration tomorrow by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce of its sixty-eighth birthday serves to call attention to the vitally important part it has played in the development of the city.

The chamber was organized in 1866 when the city was still largely in ashes following its burning by General Sherman, with a population of only 20,000, a fourth of which were war widows, and with property values of only $7,000,000. The combined annual sales of its business houses then totaled only $4,000,000.

From that beginning the city forged ahead soundly and steadily, with the Chamber of Commerce in the forefront of every fight for civic and business betterment. During these years some of the city's most prominent citizens—business, professional and financial leaders—served as the chamber's presidents, and the roll of its directors reads like a cross-section of the able and patriotic men who have been civic leaders during every period of the city's life.

Among the civic enterprises for which the chamber has led the fight, and for the successful securing of which it was chiefly responsible are:

The organization of the freight bureau, reduction of freight rates from the east and Ohio river points to Atlanta to the tune of $1,000,000 a year; sponsorship of the erection of the auditorium; aid in the negotiations for the purchase by the city of Piedmont park; building of the Washington street viaduct; establishment of a commercial exchange; organization of a convention bureau; obtained passage of the "blue sky" law; aided in bringing the federal reserve bank to Atlanta; brought Camp Gordon to Atlanta, and engaged in many other activities, including the floating of bond issues for city improvements and the raising of funds for schools and colleges.

During the depression it has been necessary, on account of curtailed support from the business concerns of the city, for the chamber to lessen the scope of its activities, and as a result it has not played as vital and important a part in the civic, industrial and commercial development of Atlanta as it did for the first 60 years of its existence.

Properly supported, it can regain its former stride and render as invaluable service in the future as it did in the past. Its present officers, headed by Wiley L. Moore as president, and the board of directors include men outstanding in business and the professions, eminently equipped to direct the chamber activities to the maximum benefit of the city.

Birmingham, New Orleans, Memphis and the large Texas cities are now contributing several times as much money to their chambers as we are. With the nation entering a new period of business expansion following years when all industrial and commercial interests held their activities to a minimum, Atlanta will face the risk of losing out in competition with its sister cities if we continue our present niggardly attitude towards the Chamber of Commerce.

No better promise of the city's continued development as the great distribution and industrial center of the south could be had than for our business interest to resolve, incident to the chamber's sixty-eighth birthday, to give it the support it warrants, not only because of its achievements in the past but in view of the opportunity that lies ahead.

Aged Foe of Raisuli Succumbs in Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco, April 10.—(AP)—"Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead."

One of the men who carried out that ultimatum by President Theodore Roosevelt died today. He was Sid Mohammed El Guebbas, minister of war for Morocco when the bandit chief Raisuli captured an American citizen, Ion Perdicaris, in 1904.

El Guebbas personally led several expeditions against Raisuli. Death came to him at the age of 85 in Medine.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Goodby America!

My tour of the United States and Canada has come to an end and with this day's letter I am saying good-bye to the hospitable shores of America to return to the old world and to—more trouble, I am afraid. It seems a decree of destiny that whenever I make a move it is always in the direction of tumult and excitement. Maybe I am looking for it. The last 10 years have brought a full harvest of trouble and among the major events in the world which I witnessed were the revolt of Abd-el Krim in North Africa, a fierce and bitter guerrilla warfare that taxed all the strength of France to subdue. Then came to uprising of the Druses against the French in Syria and the gruesome bombardment of Damascus by General Sarrail. This job meant months of desert-life and a reduction in flesh from 185 pounds to 120 pounds. That sun over there is a great weight reducer, better than all quack cures.

From Syria the trail led to Poland where Marshal Pilsudski pulled off his famous "Putsch." Incidentally the Poland experience brought me in such close contact with "Joe Pil," as the newspapermen call the old marshal, that I taught him a particular brand of poker which he has since cultivated assiduously. A general election in England followed, and a general strike in that country. Exciting days also!

Then the days of the inflation in Germany first and France thereafter. In Germany I could have bought a castle on the Rhine with one week's wages, but didn't. I regret it now. In France, the American newspaper office where I worked was attacked by an angry mob on two occasions—once during the inflation time when the French blamed America for her monetary troubles and once during the Sacco and Vanzetti business. Both times I came near getting lynched. Then there was the Judeo-Arabic trouble in Palestine and horrible bloodshed in Hebron and Jerusalem and Safed. Bullets flying and men with upraised knives rushing through the streets. Guardian angels, in the shape of British Tommies and Jewish self-defense troops, kept me from joining the majority.

Most dreadful of all experiences was the famaine in Bessarabia, Rumania. To see tens of thousands of people sitting down in village squares just dying with inanation and not being able to do anything for them, not even for hollow-eyed, swollen little children, is a spectacle fit for inclusion in Dante's description of hell.

And so the years have rolled by, three times to the soviet union, crossing and recrossing Germany in peace, in misery, in humiliation and in tumult under Hitler. Street riots in Spain and in France, a revolt in the Soudan, a massacre in the streets of Alexandria. What will the next decade bring me? Here's hoping I won't have to write a line about such troubles, hoping I say, because in my heart I know the next 10 will be far more hectic than the last decade.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

FIRST STEPS OF LONE CHILD ARE SPRINKLED WITH TEARS.

Trouble with the one-child family is the kid can't take it.

The lone child never gets a fair break. He needs at least a brother or a sister to teach him how to get along with other persons in the world. If it is a sad case of one-child sterility, then it is only fair to the lone child that the parents adopt one or two children to share things with him.

Johnny, writes his ma, will be 5 next October. Shows every sign of developing inferiority complex.

(Right away I foresee a tough time for Johnny. His ma dabbles in psychology. A psychologist's children are always sad instances.)

Such a complex nearly ruined my life, and that's why I am alarmed about Johnny. Ever since he was born I have been battered from pillar to post. I have had to earn his living and he has been constantly under the care of strangers. He is, however, quite healthy and has a lovely disposition and a simple charm. . .

(Sounds as though ma spends her spare time reading problem novels. How could a child of 4 or 5 years have other than simple charm?)

However, he cannot play with any of the children in this neighborhood—he is constantly being bullied by them, and although he shows a desire to fight back, in the end he comes running home in tears. Even a child smaller than Johnny can order him around.

He is over-sensitive. I have found him at times here at night crying in his crib, and once on the floor under it sobbing with grief. I'd give anything to hear him yell and scream but I hear only those sobs like an adult. I've tried punishment, rewards and indifference, but have not succeeded in making him fight back.

It is so like my own childhood—I cannot tell you the horrors of that here, but I should hate to see Johnny go through the same thing.

(Mrs. M. H. C.)

The child and his mother need the guidance of aphysician who is a mental hygienist. If the mother cannot afford to employ such a physician, she should take the child to a child guidance clinic, if there is one in the community. Any physician she knows can tell her where such a clinic is.

A child much left in the care of strangers or in the company of other children in the neighborhood is exposed to the danger of vicious instruction which might account for the excessive timidity the boy manifests. This is a matter the mother cannot handle so well as can a doctor who is expert in mental hygiene and child guidance. Perhaps the mother can follow the doctor's advice to good purpose.

As a rule such a child does need the constant companionship of other children of his own age. Kindergarten is a fine place for him, and be must be required to obey the teachers, with whom his mother should co-operate in the management of the child's behavior.

When all is said and done the best thing that can happen to such a child is to have a couple of brothers or sisters to share with and fight with. That is quite humanizing.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON.

COST WASHINGTON, April 10.—The administration does not want congress to know yet, but it is getting around to the point where it is about ready to confess that it is not nearly as good a spendthrift as it thought it was.

The double-entry bookkeeping system in the treasury department has confused the exact cost of the new deal so well that congress will never find out about it unless some one tells them. The system has the congressmen dizzy. The administration will probably leave them that way.

The senate was so much in doubt about the treasury condition last week that it tried to tack a lot of new unneeded taxes on the revenue bill. At the same time, Speaker Rainey made a speech in which he stated "our recovery up to the present time has cost us nothing at all."

The truth is they are both wrong.

FACTS If you get a gross of lead pencils and some bi-focal glasses and some expert assistance from the right people, you will find that President Roosevelt's deficit for the first year is going to be about 4½ billions. He estimated in his budget message it would be 7½ billions.

The secret behind that is he thought he would spend money a lot faster than he has been able to.

He promised he would spend 7½ billions before the end of his first fiscal year, June 30, in emergency relief measures. So far, he has been unable to spend three billions.

There are two reasons for that. The main one is that Public Works Director Ickes has strained and grimaced. Theoretically, all his $3,000,000,000 fund is gone. But it is not being spent. It has only been allotted.

The other reason is the CWA. The cost there has been below estimates.

EXPENSES When you put Mr. Roosevelt's two budgets together, you can see that he expected to have his total cost of government this fiscal year amount to 10½ billions. At the rate he is going, the actual cost to be expected at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, is about 6½ billions, or four billions short.

His regular budget of running expenses will just about balance, despite the veterans' and pay restorations. Assertions now being made that congressional action threw the budget out of line are not justified by the figures. The amount involved is not sufficient to have any influence on the general budget set-up.

INCOME The amount of money coming in is satisfactory. It is running at just about the rate on which the budget estimates were based. Up to April 1 the income tax brought $590,000,000 clinking into the till. You can expect about $250,000,000 from that source in April, May and June.

Considerable applause has been wasted on the fact that March income tax returns were 28 per cent above last year. That is true, but it is also true that the returns were considerably (not slightly, as advertised) below what had been expected.

It means that income receipts will run short of the budget estimate of $864,000,000.

The miscellaneous taxes brought in 92 per cent more this March than last, but that is no surprise. A fair guess would be that about $370,000,000 will come in during the next three months. Therefore, you can expect that the miscellaneous taxes will bring in a little more than the budget estimate by June 30.

That is because of beer and liquor.

MEANING These figures are neither exact nor official, but they are sufficiently good guesses to warrant emphatic conclusions. Under existing expectations they will not turn out to be far wrong.

What they should mean to the man in the street is that most of the yelling lately on all sides as to the condition of the treasury is atmospheric static; that the treasury condition is less than two-thirds as bad as Mr. Roosevelt last December announced it would be.

It means further that Mr. Roosevelt's eventual budget balancing intentions will not work out. A large portion of what he is unable to spend this year must be spent next year because it is already allotted and appropriated. Thus his deficit next year will be above his expectations, possibly three to four billions above, although it is too early to tell about that yet.

WORRY There are inner indications that Mr. Roosevelt has already begun to worry about that subject. His next year's (beginning July 1) budget is framed. Congress has already passed most of the appropriation bills for it.

His efforts will probably be directed energetically toward balancing the budget the following year, as promised, but how he is going to do it no one knows. It depends entirely upon relief demands.

The deficits, of course, go on the debts and will have to be paid off eventually.

TAXES The senate got its wires crossed completely on the tax bill. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau only wanted the loopholes plugged so that the Wiggins, Mitchells et al could not escape fair taxation. He did not want a revision of the tax rate structure. Back in his mind is an idea that next year he will be in a position to propose a complete revision of the federal taxation structure.

If All Had Children's Minds, None Would Store Up Grain for the Winter

By Robert Quillen

Reform usually waits on tragedy.

One fatal accident is seldom enough to eliminate a "dead man's curve" on the highway. There must be enough deaths to awaken the public conscience and cause a cry of protest and horror.

Fire-trap tenements and school buildings are recognized as death traps long before tragedy comes, but a few must burn and take their sacrifice of human life before others are made safe.

We say of some quality or ambition or possession, "This is the most important thing in life." But it isn't at all important in death. Tragedy brings a better understanding of relative values.

In a small town it seems very important that daughter should lead her class in school. She must study early and late in order to win prizes and feed the vanity of her parents.

But when she begins to lose weight and the doctor says something about her lungs, little marks on a report card immediately lose all significance.

There are many homes in which polished floors seem more important than children. And there are communities where children seem less important than dogs.

But it isn't true. When tragedy makes values clear, all the floors and dogs in Christendom would be sacrificed to bring the children back.

The fault in us is Nature's, not ours. In order to preserve us, she makes us to think always in terms of living. Our interests and our measurement of values are based on the assumption that life never will end.

If we could realize how near and certain death is, we should feel the listless despair of a condemned man in the death cell. It would ruin Nature's plans for us, so she tricks us.

We expect the show to last always, and we play our parts without thought of an ending. The final curtain catches us dressing for the next act.

It is this ignoring of death that makes us seem so heartless. Why take precautions to prevent tragedy when there is no tragedy? Why regard the feelings of a friend when there is seldom time to make amends?

It is natural to be thoughtless. But the world owes all good to those who take thought of its needs.

GIRL FINDS 'SISTER' IN VAUDEVILLE ACT REALLY IS MOTHER

OURAY, Colo., April 10.—(AP)—For 41 years Mrs. Charles N. Jones was a sister to her daughter.

Up and down the continent they trouped in a vaudeville act called "Maxine and Maxie Marshall" and the daughter never knew that her "sister" was really her mother.

The story came out when the daughter, Mrs. H. E. Williamson, sued for and won the right to administer the estate of a father she had not seen since she was a baby.

Mrs. Jones, who was "Maxine," took the stand in Mrs. Williamson's suit to become administrator of the large estate of John Donald, pioneer mining man of Ouray. She told how she left Donald in 1893, taking their daughter with her, and how she pretended they were sisters to prevent Donald from finding them.

Mrs. Jones said that after leaving Donald she worked as a dishwasher and waitress until she perfected a vaudeville act into which she and her daughter fitted as sisters. From the time the child was six years old, she said, they were known as Maxine and Maxie Marshall. When their vaudeville engagements took them to Alaska in 1905, Mrs. Jones met and married the man whose name she now bears.

It was not until last January that she told her daughter of their true relationship.

MAN FORFEITS TITLE TO RETAIN STATUS AS CITIZEN OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Because he valued American citizenship more, the son of Representative Isabella Greenway, of Arizona, by her first marriage, is not a title Briton with an immense fortune today.

If he had agreed to forfeit American citizenship, Robert Munro Ferguson, 26, would have inherited ten days ago the title and 22,000 Scottish acres of his uncle, the First Viscount Novar.

Lord Novar died March 31 at the age of 74.

Ferguson, the only male heir of Lord Novar, decided finally three years ago againstt giving up his citizenship—a condition of the inheritance. His father was Robert Ferguson, younger brother of Lord Novar.

Young Ferguson's mother, the former Isabella Selmes, was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Eleanor and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Creation On a Bar. SHELL KEY BANKS, Fla., April 10.—This essay is being composed aboard a boat called the Iella, which is stuck on a bar among the Florida keys, and it may yet be filed from a yellow railroad station called Islamorado on the line to Key West. It might be just as well to wrap it around a rock and throw it somewhere, because it isn't likely to amount to much.

Our skipper, a Florida cracker called Prudy, is much embarrassed at the moment, as he wasn't watching his traffic signals when he ran aground. The government has a lot of red pile markers along the channels whittled to a sharp point on the up end so that the gulls and pelicans can't roost on them. Prudy was casting eyes at some floating coconuts marking a line of lobster pots and thinking of how very unscrupulous it would be to raid any of those pets for lunch with the owner still in sight, when he missed the channel and the propeller began to kick up a wake of cafe au lait. The next moment the Iella stopped, and that is how things are at the present writing.

I was going to say that our captain, who is just now sitting on the fish box in the stern reproaching himself in terms which are not suitable for publication in a whole family newspaper, was a Florida conch, but he says that is not what he is. He says he is a cracker and explains that the conches, pronounced conks, are those who live in the snake and crocodile bogs and along the canals of Monroe county, which is the county where the keys are, including Key West. The conch is a kind of snail found in these parts and the citizens are so called for the same reason that Arkansans are called razorbacks, if they are. I do not know why crackers are called crackers, and neither does Captain Prudy, but I do know why the laughing sea gulls are called what the captain just called them as he looked up from his brooding on the fish box.

Not Funny, Captain Holds. "Well, what is the joke?" our captain inquired, petulantly, and called the laughing gulls a variety of names. The captain's professional embarrassment was painful enough without the coarse derision of the laughing gulls, and he said he was somewhat more than half a mind to fetch out his pistol and go in for serious resentment. Earl Allvine, a newsreel man, then remarked, brushing a cigaret ash from his nude hide, that if he couldn't aim a gun any better than he aimed the Iella at the channel, the gulls were safe. Some blue boobies and frigate birds are flying around, too, but their sense of humor is tempered by a refined tact. They have indulged in no personal cracks at our captain. I do not know what a blue booby or a frigate bird is, but they are names which I thought I would just toss in casually for sophistication. I will try also to find occasion to mention mullet, ballyhoo, grouper and stingray, but I may not get around to it. It will be quite a trick to work them into the composition without seeming to just drag them in, because the water here is only shin high and large fish cannot operate in dew.

We came out yesterday in two boats, the Miss Sadie and the Iella, with two speedboat tenders, both called prigg, to fish for tarpon. I am not sure why, but whose business is it what I do on my day off? So we spent the day out toiling around among the keys on the side toward the Gulf of Mexico and hearing about the chones and hurricanes, sharks, barracuda and the rum runners' trade which flourished in these waters before repeal. We didn't catch any tarpon but saw some shark rather intimately and a stingray about the size of a bath mat, which riled up the water at one point. They do insist, however, that fish have been caught in this water, and I will say sincerely I hope so, because most of the wild life around here is the orneriest I ever heard of, being equipped with fans, stingers, horns, swords, saws or big teeth and quick tempers and no discriminations. You go swimming and a shark or a barracuda may munch a leg off, or you may step o na ray and run his hypodermic stinger up your foot or rake a shin against the needles of a spiny lobster. There are crocodiles up the salt water canals and rattlers and moccasins on the main keys of the string, and life here would strike me as too great a problem for the pleasure it gives. But love of homeland is a strange sentiment and the conchs like it along here, just as some people like Baltimore, where a man can't do much better than a bare living, if that, unless his forebears endowed him with one of the local fortunes.

Bearded Conch Survives Blows. There is a conch with a mossy beard ashore at Islamorado who has lived along these keys, boy and man, for rising 80 years, which means that he has lived through some of the most terrific storms that ever blew out of the Caribbean, including a blow in 1909 when the railroad was raking the muck together to make the right-of-way down to the long trestle that covers the last leg of the journey to Key West. The railroad laborers were quartered in house boats in the shallow waters, most of them white men, because the negroes were no success against the mosquitoes, and the house boats were blown to sea and smashed up, all but a few. I forget how many hundred they told me were lost in the storm, but I think it was three, although they said, furthermore, that nobody ever could really tell because nobody knew how many people were camping in the boats or farming along the keys, in the first place. Some of the boats outlucked the storm and were picked up, with survivors aboard, way down toward South America.

Captain Prudy walked the anchor out to the edge of the channel and jabbed it fast, but we couldn't haul ourselves off, so now there is nothing to do but sit and wait for the tide and listen to the humiliated mariner's whole-souled reiteration that missing that channel was the dumbest trick he ever did in all the born-days of his life—damned if it ain't.

Women Oppose Airport Near Home of Jackson

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—Opposition to the proposed location of an airport near "The Hermitage," home of Andrew Jackson, was registered today by representatives of several women's organizations at a meeting called by the Ladies' Hermitage Association.

A movement has been started by aviation enthusiasts to establish a flying field near the Jackson mansion.

Should this be successful, however, it "would necessarily result in jeopardizing the mansion, tomb and priceless relics," said a resolution adopted at today's meeting.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

By MOLLIE MERRICK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 10.—Hollywood gossip's laying a heavy barrage along the front lines where travel some of our most famous. Heaviest attack is in the Janet Gaynor sector, with Gloria Swanson's followers busy fending off liquid fire, poison gas and other smarting chatter. . . . A score of persons made up their minds not to get left at the Chinese theater opening recently, so sat them down on camp stools at 1:30 of the afternoon—exactly eight hours before the first star was due to arrive for the premiere. Three men among the girls in waiting. . . . Joan Crawford and Jean Raymond credited with making the champion tear-jerk of all time in a recent picture titled "Sadie McKee."

Constance Bennett gets Herbert Marshall for "The Green Hat," and all the other leading ladies and stars sigh with envy. . . . Joan Marsh would like to be an artist, but finds the fact that she "doesn't draw very well" quite a handicap. . . . Earl of Beauchamp, forty-seventh ranking peer, peering around Hollywood sets. . . . "SeeBee" De Mille had a terrible time locating a genuine asp for his Cleopatra picture, but says he finally ran one to earth in a New Orleans zoo.

George Arliss will be on the radio before he will be on British soil. . . . And Juliette Compton is back in pictures again. . . . Joseph Jefferson O'Neill is one of the names I love to roll on my tongue. . . . Gracie Allen had the doctor and felt very much better one morning so said: "I feel fine, doctor. I think you'd better give me your bill." "Oh, no," smiled the Hollywood medico, "You're not well enough for that, yet."

There is a quietus on historical pictures since it seems all descendants of famous ones can sue and some might collect. . . . One of the lady beautifiers who recently visited our colony talked to the Hollywood stars on "How to make a defect into a virtue"—grand idea, only they couldn't find any Hollywood gals who would admit defects. . . . Miriam Hopkins will dance in her next picture for the first time since her ballet days. . . . They took an ounce of gin somewhere in these United States, put it with two tablespoons of orange sherbet, threw in some ice, shook it viciously and named it "Mae West cocktail." Sounds reliable to me.

On your thumbnail: W. C. Fields was born in Philadelphia and hates alarm clocks. Became an actor because he found out they don't have to be at rehearsals until 10 of the morning. Ran away from home at 11. Sold papers and did odd jobs. Practiced juggling and got a job in a beer hall at Atlantic City. Five dollars a week. Got $10 a week in vaudeville and dime museums. Sometimes did 12 shows a day. Gradually wormed his way into vaudeville. Began in opening act and moved up to finale. Never spoke a word. Went around the world as "the Tramp Juggler," playing 30 different countries. Ziegfeld saw him and moved him into the "Follies." He was there nine years. So long as he did pantomime, pictures wouldn't hire him. Started doing dialogue, so got a silent picture offer. Talkies came in and Fields went out. Returned recently and wowed 'em. Has written his own story and will star in it next. Has a collection of humor books from sixteenth century. Won't tell his age and bought a trailer so he can sleep later when on location.

Comment at the Capital

New Bill in Senate Would Make Individual Subject to I. C. C. and Destroy Rights of Citizen.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The most startling proposal yet to emerge from the "brain trust" has just been put in the form of a bill introduced in the senate "by request" and, if adopted, it would make every individual in the United States, whether he or she is a lawyer, doctor, business executive engaged in a business or profession of any kind, subject to the rules and regulations of the federal trade commission.

Far exceeding any authority granted through codes by the national industrial recovery act, and more far-reaching than anything in the proposed stock exchange bill, is the language of the new measure which would make it possible for the federal trade commission to conduct an inquisition in anybody's affairs at any time.

Makes New Crime.

The notation "by request" does not often appear on suggested legislation. It usually means that whoever introduces the bill does not himself sponsor it, but formally places the matter before congress because someone else requests it. In this instance, the assumption is that the little group of lawyers who have been behind the stock exchange bill and the securities act are responsible for the sensational proposals in the amendments to the federal trade commission act now projected. Senator Dill, of Washington, introduced the bill, and when it was printed it contained the words "by request" conspicuously on the first page.

Here is what the bill proposes:

First, that an entirely new crime be added to the list of vague and ambiguous phrases which now surround the federal trade commission act. The new language reads: "All unfair methods of competition in or affecting commerce and unfair or deceptive acts and practices in or affecting commerce are declared unlawful."

Makes Individuals Responsible.

Now what is a "deceptive" act? The deliberate addition of this word to the existing law probably has back of it a desire to acquire jurisdiction over all manner of business transactions on the general ground that somebody has deceived someone. Even as to the phrase "unfair competition," the courts have been a long while defining what it really means, but if the business and professional men of the country are to be hauled before the commission on the ground that some act complained of is "deceptive" there will be litigation galore.

Second, it would authorize the commission to "prevent persons, partnerships, or corporations" from using "unfair methods of competition in or affecting commerce and unfair or deceptive acts and practices in or affecting commerce." Heretofore, the power to prevent any acts enumerated by the federal trade commission law has been confined to corporations. Now it is extended not only to partnerships, but to "persons," who become subject to the power of the federal trade commission with respect to "unfair competition" as well as "deceptive acts."

Nowhere in the proposals is the phrase "deceptive act" defined or explained.

Delegates Congress Authority.

Third, the section which hitherto has limited federal trade commission inquiries to either house of congress has now been extended to permit the president to direct any inquiry he chooses and the language is so broad that any administrative officer under the president and acting with his direction can institute an investigation of any business or individual engaged in business.

Fourth, the most amazing paragraph in the new bill is this: "The congress confers upon the commission so much of the auxiliary power of congress to obtain information in aid of legislation as may be necessary to enable the commission to carry out the provisions of this section."

Just how far the legislative branch of the government delegates its authority to the trade commission might be questioned ordinarily, but here is an instance in which the phrase "the auxiliary power of congress" is used for the first time as frank delegation of authority which goes beyond any language ever used before.

Destroys Private Rights.

The reasons back of this request for sweeping powers over the life and affairs of individuals in America are not revealed here. The general supposition is that the "brain trust," observing that the stock exchange bill might be weakened or the securities act modified so that control over American business and finance might be limited to specific areas, decided to get some broad power with which to make the federal trade commission the supreme regulatory force in the government.

Heretofore, the commission has had the right to require annual or special reports on corporations as they might relate to individuals or other corporations, but the new bill permits the trade commission to require, by general or special orders, "persons" as well as partnerships or corporations engaged in commerce to furnish such annual or special reports as the commission may require, or answers in writing to such specific questions as the commission may send them, which may relate in any way to the "organization, business, conduct, practices, management and relation to other corporations, partnerships and individuals."

Banks Excluded.

The proposed bill would exclude banks and common carriers from certain provisions, such as annual reports or questionnaires and "deceptive acts" or "unfair competition," but there is no language in the bill which would exempt individuals employed by banks or railroads or common carriers from having their affairs investigated by the federal trade commission.

While it is hardly likely that the bill will meet congressional approval without material amendments, the very fact that it is promulgated is what has aroused attention here. For it shows more plainly than a dozen Dr. Wirt investigations just how, by adroit phrases, the "brain trust" is hoping to achieve a centralization of control by the government of the affairs of the individual.

Atlanta Motor Club Joins Four Capitals Motorcade

A. A. A. Club Secretary Makes Available Facilities of National Organization for Celebration.

By BEN COOPER.

Co-operation of the Atlanta Motor Club in helping to make the Atlanta to Savannah motorcade over the Four Capitals highway the greatest event of its kind since the modern stream-lined motor car was a one-lunged gas buggy was pledged Tuesday by Jack Strouss, secretary of the club, as enthusiasm over the 'cade plans increased hourly all the way from Atlanta to the sea.

Facilities of the A. A. A. Club and it is a nation-wide organization, will be placed at the disposal of the motorcade sponsors, The Constitution and the Savannah Morning News, for use in taking care of many of the numerous details attendant upon arranging the trip, and Mr. Strouss' long experience in motoring matters will be called into play to aid in smoothing the way to a perfect weekend for the entrants.

Club Will Register Entries.

"The Atlanta Motor Club is happy to be able to be of service in connection with the Four Capitals highway motorcade, as it regards the Atlanta-Savannah route as one of the most important in the state and one that should be properly honored in its opening as an all-weather road," Mr. Strouss said.

Joins Motorcade

Preliminary plans call for the installation of a registration booth for entrants at the motor club offices on West Peachtree street near the southern junction with Peachtree, and another registration desk in the downtown section. Announcement of complete plans will be made soon.

"The Motor Club will be glad to furnish logs and other information to persons desiring to enter the motorcade, having on hand much information about this and other Georgia highways, and we will be happy to serve any of the public in connection with the motorcade plans," Mr. Strouss said.

The Four Capitals highway is paved from Atlanta to Savannah with the exception of a single short stretch between Madison and Eatonton on which the highway department now is working. Plans call for three divisions of the motorcade, starting from Atlanta, Athens and Savannah. The Athens delegation will join the Atlantans at Madison, and the Savannahans will be met at a midway point from which the combined motorcade will move on to Savannah for a weekend of fun-frolic and sight-seeing.

Entertainment Plans.

Entertainment plans include a "snack" along the route and a dinner and round of the night clubs at Savannah. The grand climax of the program will be a shore dinner at Savannah Beach after a ride over the motor causeway which crosses miles of marsh land.

The idea of the motorcade was proposed by Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah, and was taken up by The Constitution and the Morning News as a suggestion offering many alluring possibilities for a good time and the proper christening of the completed highway, one of the most historic routes in the state. Mayors of cities all along the route immediately indorsed the idea and offered their co-operation and support.

Delegations from cities along the route will join the motorcade as it progresses toward the sea, but the problem of entertaining such a huge gathering of motorists as seems to be indicated does not worry the Savannah hosts at all. "The more, the merrier," was the word from Savannah.

The date of the motorcade and further details will be released through The Constitution and the Morning News.

Fair and Warm Today Forecast for Atlanta

Fair, warm weather today, and for two days to come, was predicted for Atlanta Tuesday by the weather bureau. The temperature is expected to range between 54 and 82.

Tuesday, a fair, warm day, had temperatures from 55 to 76. No stormy condition was indicated in the west and fine weather seemed to be in prospect.

The definite arrival of spring was indicated by the increased number of new straw hats seen on the streets Tuesday, as well as clothes of lighter weight and hue.

SUTTON RENAMED CITY SCHOOL HEAD

teachers and employes had complained that they did not have proper resourse for grievances.

Sent to Rules Body.

The entire matter was referred after a lengthy debate to the rules committee of the board to investigate with instructions to probe present rule provisions for employes seeking redress and to recommend a well-defined mode of procedure.

WILLIS A. SUTTON.

George W. Powell, thirteenth ward, nominated Sutton for his fifth term as superintendent, praising Sutton, the Parent-Teacher Association, teachers, the Atlanta Federation of Trades and "council members who have stood so strongly for advancement of the school system."

Frank R. Fling and D. M. Therrell, of the eighth and seventh, respectively, and Councilman Aubrey Milam, chairman of the schools committee of council, seconded the nomination.

A roll call was asked, and nominations were closed after it became apparent that no one else would be placed before the board.

Sutton Lauds School Friends.

"In administration of the affairs of the Atlanta school system I have encountered many difficulties," Sutton told the board, "but I never tried to go around them. I appreciate the fine vote of confidence of this board, and want to say I think it was a well-earned tribute which Mr. Powell paid the Parent-Teacher associations, the officials of that organization; the Federation of trades, the fine teaching staff and the loyal friends of the school system in council.

"The curricula of the Atlanta public schools is good. Our students are making good college records. We might effect temporary savings, but the loss to the childhood of Atlanta would be irretrievable in the future.

"There is one thing I have never compromised, and that is the sacrifice of opportunities and the best educational facilities available for Atlanta children. I never will do that.

"It is the desire of people for the better things of life which make business. Art is making more business than most of us realize. Every automobile built is artistically constructed.

Full Co-operation Pledged.

"I want this board to know that it can count on me for full co-operation for the best interests of the children of Atlanta. We must educate our people to a better understanding of themselves, to the finer things of life to spiritual understanding and to morality. I will give all I have to that, and every drop of blood in my body to accomplish that."

In explaining why he voted against Sutton, Penn said:

"We are top-heavy with supervisors; I favor the elimination of the testing and guidance department or its consolidation with the assistant superintendent of schools, the elimination of the visual education department. There seems to be unrest among a large group of teachers. I believe Assistant Superintendent of Schools (H. Reid) Hunter, whose salary is $4,800 a year, should be made to live inside the city limits. I feel that we do not need but one supervisor of music. I do not believe these things can be accomplished with Dr. Sutton as superintendent, and, therefore, I voted against him."

A financial report of the system showed that $737,485.32 of the $2,747,630 anticipated revenue has been spent, leaving a balance of $1,998,892 for the remainder of the school year.

Swiftly and Safely Uric Acid Starts To Go—In 24 Hours

Killing the pain of neuritis, sciatica and rheumatism with dope doesn't end your agony—you've got to get the excess uric acid out of your joints and muscles.

Thousands joyfully praise ALLENRU because they know by experience that when taken as directed the pain—the agony of rheumatism, backache, sciatica and neuritis leaves the body in 48 hours—no matter how stubborn and persistent.

At all Jacobs 18 Store (mail orders filled), and leading druggists everywhere know that ALLENRU is so swiftly effective that one bottle is guaranteed to do exactly as stated or money back and the price is but 85c. (adv.)

Willis Sutton Appeals to Parent-Teacher Delegates To Aid in Making Education in Georgia More Informal

Pictured above are the newly elected officers of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers named at Tuesday's session at the twenty-first annual convention of the organization here. Front row, left to right, are Mrs. J. W. Sibert, of Augusta, sixth vice president; Mrs. Fred Scanling, of Atlanta, treasurer; Mrs. M. H. Coleman, of Marietta, first vice president; Mrs. Charles Center, of College Park, president; Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, of Macon, recording secretary; Mrs. R. A. Long, of Atlanta, corresponding secretary. Back row, left to right, Mrs. J. Nunnally Johnson, of Columbus, parliamentarian; Mrs. Cooper Campbell, of Columbus, third vice president; Mrs. Frank David, of Columbus, fifth vice president; Mrs. Joe Dan Miller, of Atlanta, historian; Mrs. P. G. Hanahan, of Atlanta, member at large; Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton, budget chairman, and Mrs. W. E. Monts, of Washington, Ga., seventh vice president. Staff photo by Cornett.

An appeal to the parents and teachers of this state to assist in making education more informal was made by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools, at the Tuesday night's session of the 21st annual convention of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers being held here this week at the Baptist Tabernacle. Mr. Sutton said he believed that the public schools of the south, and particularly Georgia, should make education less formal and pointed out that this cannot be restricted to the schoolhouse only, but is a home and community interest, as well.

In speaking of the influence of the newspaper, radio, motion picture and the home as educators, he said that these agencies should assume their part and responsibility in the educational program sought today by this country's public school leaders.

"Education within the school should be less formal," said the superintendent. "Even the furniture of the schoolroom is too formal and we should work toward a more flexible school schedule and curriculum." He expressed belief that parents and teachers should use life's experiences more as an educational program than that outlined by the present day's educational program.

Tax Plans Rapped.

Miss Jessie Gray, of Philadelphia, president of the National Education Association, told the Congress Tuesday night that America, in its prosperity, failed to secure its educational program through properly allocated taxes, understood by the people.

"Moreover," the speaker continued, "we did not inform the public of the rising cost of education, and, not understanding the cost of extra services, and increased enrollments, the result was most damaging, in that support for the maximum program was withdrawn at the time when it was most needed."

Schools, Miss Gray pointed out, "can absorb youth released from industry. They can, moreover, rehabilitate those released from labor as well as adults needing rehabilitation." She added that schools have done much to keep youth out of the labor market.

She pointed out that release of 4,000,000 high school students into the labor market in event the institutions closed would have a serious result upon "the industrial and economic structure of our nation."

Program Delayed.

As a result of the failure to "secure" the educational program during the period of prosperity, Miss Gray went on, the nation at present is in "the belated throes of a co-ordinated and co-operative program for school publicity."

"The development of professional solidarity," the speaker continued, "with voting power is our hope for influence in common with other groups. Then as teachers we must uphold our profession, our organization, our voting strength, our influence.

"The development of individualism was a rich manifestation of society during the Victorian era. That manifestation is now further than that, a co-ordination of well developed individuals to express a new attitude, known as the new era. This new social order and co-operation must effect the change or run amuck. Prior to the coming of this era, education offered false bases or aims. Large and rugged individualism was encouraged, large salaries were fixed as one of the goals and social prestige through wealth was stressed."

The aims of the new social age, Miss Gray said, "must suit the individualist and fit him into national understanding and co-operation."

P.-T. A. Backing Progress.

One and a half million American parents and teachers are actively supporting proper financing of public schools, public health measures, and proper protection of children from amusements that are degrading and unworthy, Mrs. Hugh Bradford, of California, national president, told the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers Tuesday night.

"The Parent-Teacher Association is concerned with the quality of American homes," she said.

Mrs. Bradford said the parents and teachers were among the first to support the child labor amendment to the constitution. She added that they were still behind the amendment, just as they are striving to decrease employment of children during school hours and in dangerous occupations.

Members of the P.-T. A. were urged to register and vote in the coming elections by Mrs. Cleve Webb, of Atlanta, who said the organization was behind a determined effort to register all parents and teachers.

Partisan Politics Avoided.

Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of McDonough, retiring president, explained that the organization was making no effort to get into partisan politics.

"We regard politics as the sicence of government," she said. "We examine the issues and determine what we think will be best for the schools. Then we take a united stand."

The need of proper supervision of school buses and their drivers was stressed by Miss Marian Telford, national safety chairman. Miss Telford told the group that children also should be taught to drive a car properly. She said most school drivers were not supervised and that she had even known of one-armed and one-legged bus drivers who were responsible for the lives of a score or more children.

Reports of the departments on organization, extension, public welfare, education and health were heard during today's sessions. Among the committee chairmen who made reports were Mrs. John W. Sibert, Augusta; Mrs. Wheeler Tolbert, Columbus; Mrs. Frank David, Columbus; Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, Macon; Mrs. Cooper Campbell, Columbus; Mrs. Piercy Chestney, Macon, and Miss Nina Pape, Savannah.

The Rowley trophy for outstanding activity in humane education was presented to the eighth district for its work during the past year. Miss Lilliyan Stewart, of Waycross, district chairman, and Mrs. J. E. Dyal, of Baxley, received the trophy on behalf of the district.

Visual Education Lauded.

The value of visual presentation of facts was stressed in reports of several committees and departments. The program committee illustrated its work with the aid of marionettes that impersonated various persons prominent in convention work. The department of extension presented a pageant depicting the spirit of the P.-T. A.

Mrs. Charles D. Center, of College Park, became president of the Georgia congress when the convention unanimously accepted a report of the nominating committee. Vice presidents nominated by the committee and accepted by the convention were:

Mrs. M. H. Coleman, Marietta, first vice president; Mrs. Otto Kolb, Savannah, second vice president; Mrs. Cooper Campbell, Columbus, third vice president; Mrs. D. D. Smith, Swainsboro, fourth vice president; Mrs. Frank David, Columbus, fifth vice president; Mrs. J. W. Sibert, Augusta, sixth vice president, and Mrs. W. E. Monts, Washington, seventh vice president. Other officers were Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, Macon, recording secretary; Mrs. R. A. Long, Atlanta, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fred Scanling, Atlanta, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Dan Miller, Atlanta, historian; Mrs. Nunnally Johnson, Columbus, parliamentarian, and Mrs. M. E. Judd, Dalton, budget chairman. Mrs. Fred Wessels, Savannah; Mrs. P. G. Hanahan, Atlanta, and Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, McDonough, retiring president, were named as additional members of the state board of managers.

Grading Revision Urged.

An appeal for a sharp revision of the marking or grading system in the public schools of Georgia as well as a vigorous revision of the textbooks to "liberate the pupil, parent and teacher from a mechanical grind and give education a chance to be a quest for the most useful knowledge instead of a memory exercise and regimentation of the pupil," was made Tuesday night by Nelson M. Shipp, editor of the Columbus Ledger and, who for two years did faculty work at Mercer University.

Mr. Shipp urged these reforms in an address at the Gold Star dinner of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers at the Piedmont hotel, presided over by Mrs. B. E. Pulliam, of Columbus.

"A revolution of the parents against the present marking system is certain to come in time if it is not altered," he asserted. "They are rising up against it now, and it is not too soon. It will be the greatest boon imaginable also to the teacher and pupil if the marking system is liberalized, using the mark of 55 or 60 for passing instead of 70.

"The immediate effect of this would give the pupil a chance to be enthused over his studies, and not have to bend his back so hard over those studies that nature and God never intended him to master. For certainly, every pupil does not need to study the same things with the equal energy and application as some other students."

HOLC Political Ban Defeated in House

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—The house democratic majority today defeated a republican move for adoption of the administration-supported Norris amendment barring political appointments from the Home Loan Owners' Corporation.

The vote was 231 to 115.

The house then rejected all senate amendments to the bill guaranteeing $2,000,000,000 in home loan bonds and sent it to conference between the two branches.

The senate previously approved the amendment which has the personal support of President Roosevelt.

GEORGIA LAUNDRY MEN TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Action Taken at Meeting Here Follows Address by Clark Howell.

Folowing a talk by Clark Howell, editor and president of The Constitution, stressing the need of co-operation in all lines of business, the laundry and dry cleaning plant owners of the state, meeting at the Henry Grady hotel Tuesday, voted unanimously for the formation of a state association.

H. M. Vandegriff was made temporary president, and a committee composed of George Griffin Jr., president of the four-state organization; Mr. Vandegriff and Robert J. Snow, secretary of the local association, was named to choose a permanent president, vice president and executive committee.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one and lasted from 10 to 4:30 o'clock. Mr. Vandegriff presided, and talks were made by Joe Julius, Columbus; Inman Owens, Albany; Wallace Grant, Cedartown; A. H. Hardy, Augusta, and George Griffin Jr., and George Felts, of Atlanta. A technical address was made by H. M. Holmquist, director of the engineering department of the Laundrymen's National Association.

Mr. Howell reviewed conditions in Georgia for the past 50 years, and pointed out the changing trends in business. He said that co-operated effort was evident in virtually every industry, and declared that as business became more complicated it was more and more a vital necessity.

PARKS WILL HAVE SUNDAY BASEBALL; MILLICAN TO STAY

issuance of permits for Sunday games sponsored by Scott.

Millican Tuesday afternoon said he would not oppose the sale of beer in park concession stands during the summer months. The entire committee, therefore, is in harmony in the matter.

Text of Resolution.

Text of the resolution passed by the committee follows:

"Whereas, there has been considerable discussion in reference to the use of municipal parks on Sunday for the playing of baseball, and

"Whereas, the park committee has never in the past restricted or endeavored to not allow children from having any amusements in the parks on Sunday, and

"Whereas, we feel that the parks of the city of Atlanta are primarily for the benefit of the children of Atlanta and necessary care and protection should be given to the children in their use of the parks, and

"Whereas, for many years neighborhood baseball games have been played in the parks from time to time on Sunday without any interference by the park authorities, therefore

"Be it resolved by the park committee of the city of Atlanta, that we do go on record as not interfering with the practice that has been the custom in the past and that we go on record that no permits shall be given for any baseball games in the parks on Sunday to any person, team or league.

"Be it further resolved, that in order to properly protect the pony tracks at Piedmont park during the summer months that no sport of any kind be allowed on either the northeast or northwest baseball diamonds of Piedmont park on Sunday."

THE WILD BIRD

BY OWEN JOHNSON

INSTALLMENT IV.

"There's a sort of militarism about it that'll get you in the end. You'll be a private in the ranks and take orders."

"Not as I'm taking it. I'm going to study the science of teaching itself. It does exist, you know," said Chiswick, touching a match to his pipe. "In a way you're responsible and our old discussions on education."

Rance laughed.

"Well, Laurie, you're lucky. You've got an idea and years ahead to work it out. I'll admit you surprise me. So the wanderlust is satisfied and the old vagabond is ready to settle down? Going to marry?"

"You wouldn't approve?"

"Yes—perhaps—depends. I don't want to see you handicapped by poverty."

"You advocate marrying for money?"

"I don't know a better reason—for men with ideas."

"Rot!"

"How about you, you old tramp? Do you ever get the feeling of wanting to settle down?"

"I have opinions on the subject," said Rance puffing away. "But I shall always preserve the right to be inconsistent. Matter of fact, though I'll feel the call of the wild all my life. I need a spot of my own where I can shut myself up and produce."

"How about Oxbridge?"

"Too sophisticated."

"If you want contrasts you'll find them here. Full of amazing stories. The old generation and the young stuff. Only the old order is intrenched in its Victorian strongholds and you can't budge them. They think they own us, body and soul. Some of the houses are like museums of the 70s. Why, take one instance," he continued, stretching out a hand. "Right over there, Lynwood. The Pepoons and the Brawnes. There's a story that'll beat anything you ever invented. The clash of the French and the Puritan. The grandmother ran away, and then came back—God knows who was the father of the daughter, and yet old Martin Brawne married her. A nine-day wonder. There's a character for you, only you'd never get him."

"Why not?"

"For 15 years he never spoke to my father, though they went to school and college together. One of the Oxbridge feuds. And do you know what they fought over? Cats and dogs."

"Cats?"

"And dogs! The old fellow used to live next to us. Brawne cats. Chiswick dogs.

"And the dogs ate the cats!"

And how! Particularly kittens. What a row! They used to write letters to each other. In the old dueling days they'd have called each other out."

"How did it end?"

"A classic scene!" said Laurie, laughing. "Good-by and farewell forever! When the last kitten went—Persian cats, by the way—old Brawne put on his regimentals and marched up to our front door. Mother came down. The old boy stood stiff as an undertaker, raised his hat and solemnly—without a word spoken—handed her a package wrapped in brown paper. Mother thought it was trout, you know, and opened it. The last dead kitten! I think she screamed or fainted, anyhoy, Brawne raised his hat stiffly, turned on his heels—Prussian stuff—and marched away. Never spoke to my father for 15 years!"

"After all, it was hard on the kittens," said Rance, laughing.

"O yes, of course. We kept the letters.. They're in the grand style. Lord Chesterfield to his son, you know. You ought to see Lynwood, pure 1870. Nothing modern, no electric lights, no telephone, automobiles, barred—"

"Isn't he the father of Barbara Brawne?" said Rance suddenly.

"Yes, where did you—"

"At the station. Tell me about her. She interests me."

"You want to know about Barbara?" said Chiswick, surprised. "She's my cousin. We had a boy and girl affair before I went overseas that almost drove that old Turk, her father, out of his senses. Poor Barbara!"

"Why poor Barbara?"

"Because she is predestined to be just one more of what Ed Chippinway calls the Sad Virgins of Oxbridge. To understand Barbara, after you understand her mother and her grandmother, you've got to understand her father. And in the terms of the twentieth century, he is incredible. Brawne stopped living in the 1890's."

"Well, we all do that some time or other!"

"But there is a magnificently functioning brain—he is one of the most brilliant corporation lawyers in the country—and outside of that brain, nothing. He's as dead as the Oxbridge Indians. He hasn't three friends in the world. He has set his face against everything modern—every idea, every improvement. He's the Spirit of Negation. He's as queer as Dick's hatband and as cheerful as a clam—"

"You must have had a run-in with the old fellow," broke in Rance, laughing.

"Did I? Whew! I shudder at the memory. He ordered me off the premises! Because I dared to fall in love with his daughter, I was a profligate, a drunkard, a pickpocket. The situation is absolutely incredible," he resumed in a calmer tone. "Here, in America, in the year 1926, is a charming girl, damned attractive, 21 years of age, who might just as well be living in Turkey for all the liberty she possesses. His jealousy is an obsession. It's uncanny, abnormal. He's driven away every man—"

"But after all, come," said Rance, smiling at the rancour in his friend's tirade. "He doesn't forbid his daughter receiving her friends?"

"Well, that's just what I may do."

"You—" Chiswick broke off too astounded to complete his thought.

"Not at all."

Chiswick was silent a long moment.

"Well, Gregory, old boy," he said at last, "if you've any serious idea in your head, give it up. Run for it. But it's the situation I suppose, excites your curiosity."

"Possibly. That's instinctive, I suppose. To be frank, there's more to it than that."

"Are you serious?"

"I think so."

"Well, I've seen you in some queer phases," said Laurie, shaking his head. "I thought nothing could astonish me. But——"

"Why?"

"Love at first sight? You?"

"Nothing of the sort. Your cousin strikes me as the sort of person I'd marry, if I ever got to marrying."

"When you're through amusing yourself at my expense——"

"My dear Laurie, I haven't changed in the least. I have no intention of losing my head, if that's what's worrying you."

"Keep it up. The last time we talked, you demolished the whole sex."

"Sure. That's one of my pet mental exercises," said Rance, with one of his infectious roars. "Well, I stick to my guns. Up to 30 no creative artist ought to marry. Why? Because marriage means compromise, and giving up your freedom of action. After 30 he shouldn't marry except as a deliberate and reasoned choice."

"Why not for love?"

"Laurie! Laurie! You're passing over to the romantics!" Rance said reprovingly. "Love is self-immolation. An abnormal state. Reason has got nothing to do with it, whatsoever."

"There are examples."

"Certainly. I am talking of the women as you find them today. Mind you, I am speaking of the creative artist. For the rest—what they do I don't give a damn. Your young girl of today is a destructive force. When she marries she remains a destructive force, unless some primitive impulse of maternity transforms her into the slave of her children. Then watch out—she'll sacrifice you to them! It's our fault, the fault of a surrendered authority. Woman's rights, woman's day, single standard of judgment are in the air. She's been brought up to believe that she is a privileged character. That's why she's jealous of her independence and her rights. Love me as you used to love me! She's always on the defensive. Watching out to see if she's getting all she used to get. She is not a wife but a mistress. She feels this and the slightest infraction of what is due her, the slightest neglect in the sentimental service she exacts, sends her into a fury. The neglected mistress. These only are the important things in a first marriage to her. A man will say anything, do anything to win the woman who has blinded his reasoning powers. But when he gets her he wants to change the mistress into the wife. In one year he tries to remedy the defects of 20 years' false education and change a charming creature of pleasure and excitement into a serious comrade and a helpmate. Man's attitude has these two distinct phases, woman knows only one. The answer is in the divorce records."

"If I agreed with you I should have to break by engagement," said Laurie, with a laugh in which there was a certain impatience.

"O, but you're in love."

"Man overboard," exclaimed Rance "I admit it."

"Man overboard!" exclaimed Rance, with a laugh that showed he was amusing himself a little with his theory.

"But what has all this to do with Barbara?"

"The instant impression she made in me puzzled me. Your explanation has cleared away some of the mystery. She must be that rare thing nowadays, the one-man woman. And being a confirmed egoist, that's the only kind for me! Choose rationally a woman who will adore you."

"Egoist—if you are serious."

"Egoist? Of course I am an egoist! When men of our type don't admit that, my dear Laurie, they are in danger. It's only the egosists who can survive in this crowded world; more than that—who have the right to survive."

"Will you say this as frankly—"

"To the woman I intend to marry?" interrupted Rance. "Exactly as though she were standing here."

"Gregory, you distrust women too much to understand them."

"Well, each to his own needs," said Laurie, pulling out his watch. "Shall we move along? I ought to be looking after the others."

"I'm a night hawk," said Rance. "I'll smoke a few pipefuls and slip in later."

Chiswick turned on his heel and went off thinking, "Knocking around alone has turned Rance into a crank—if he really means what he says."

Rance emptied his pipe and filling it struck a match. The next moment it dropped spluttering into the dark water below, as Barbara, stepping out from her hiding place, said:

"It's only fair to let you know I overheard."

"Hello," he exclaimed; "here's a queer situation!"

IN AFRICA WITH DU CHAILLU.
III—Cannibals and Warrior Ants.

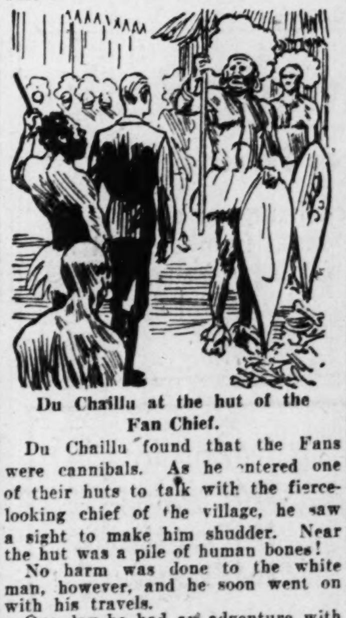
The Fans are dark-skinned natives of west-central Africa, and it is estimated that they number about 300,000.



Du Chaillu at the hut of the Fan Chief.

Du Chaillu found that the Fans were cannibals. As he entered one of their huts to talk with the fierce-looking chief of the village, he saw a sight to make him shudder. Near the hut was a pile of human bones!

No harm was done to the white man, however, and he soon went on with his travels.

One day he had an adventure with the so-called "driver ants." These African ants are well known at present; but at the time Du Chaillu went to Africa few white persons knew about them. Sometimes they march in armies with a long column only a few inches in width; but at other times they spread out over a wide front.

Reaching a village, they go into the huts without fear. If some are killed, there are thousands more to follow. All cockroaches and other insects in the house are killed by the ants; and they likewise slay mice and rats.

If there is a human being in the house, he must leave—or else he will be done to death by these small but powerful ants.

"One day," said Du Chaillu, "I was plodding along in a forest, and was startled by a strange noise. I heard the footsteps of wild beasts.

"'What can all this mean?' I asked myself. I knew that something strange had happened, or was coming.

"Suddenly I was annoyed by fearful bites, and was covered by ants! An army of ants was advancing and devouring every living thing in its way.

"I fled with the utmost haste. I was almost crazy, for the ants were in my clothes and on my body, and often when they gave a bite little piece of flesh would be torn out."

When Du Chaillu reached a place where he supposed he would be safe, he took off his clothes and removed the ants; but hardly had he dressed himself when he saw the ant army sweeping toward him. Once more he ran, and this time he reached a swamp which the ants did not invade.

TWO MEN CONFESS HANNA PLOT GUILT

Pullian Admits Knowledge of First Extortion Note Sent Financier.

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—J. E. Pullian confessed today that he had collaborated with Emory Callahan in the recent $10,000 extortion plot against H. M. Hanna, Cleveland financier and winter resident of Thomasville, Ga.

Postal inspectors announced yesterday that Callahan had confessed the plot and had implicated Pullian, but Pullian denied any knowledge of the affair.

Brought before United States Commissioner W. E. Perry here today, however, Pullian admitted orally that he had known of the first of two extortion notes sent to Hanna threatening to blow up the Hanna estate near Thomasville unless $10,000 was delivered.

Both Callahan and Pullian were held to the federal grand jury on bonds of $5,000 each.

Callahan today repeated his confession that he and Pullian wrote the first letter to Hanna. The second letter threatened the use of a machine gun and directed the money b tossed from the Hanna automobile on a side street in Thomasville the night of March 26.

A dummy package was tossed from the automobile as directed. A man appeared in the darkness, picked up the package, but dropped it and ran when officers poured a volley of shots in his direction.

The next day a negro was arrested on suspicion of being the man who picked up the package and was shot to death when he attempted to escape that night from the Thomasville jail.

Neither of the men in their confessions made any reference to the negro.

He admitted he had gone by the place appointed for the delivery of the money, but said he had noted several men about and had not stopped.

$515,000 FLOOD LEVEE SOUGHT FOR AUGUSTA

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—The expenditure of $515,000 for a levee to protect the city of Augusta, Ga., from floods of the Savannah river is recommended to the public works administration by General Edwin Markham, chief of army engineers, with the comment that the levee is "highly desirable."

Army engineers who announced the recommendation said the dyke as specified would remove the flood danger to Augusta. Its construction was intended to withstand the greatest anticipated flood of the river.

Attempts may be made to adopt the recommendation as a federal project in view of General Markham's report to the PWA, but it was thought unlikely that money would be forthcoming immediately, since congress has not refilled the public works till.

TOCCOA BOY WOUNDED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

TOCCOA, Ga., April 10.—Herman Clark, 17, son of Delro Clark, was shot and critically wounded this morning by Fred Gulley. It is understood that Gulley had stopped by Clark's home and was exhibiting an old pistol he believed unloaded or incapable of firing, when, after the trigger had been pulled several times, it went off, the bullet taking effect in young Clark's abdomen.

Gulley immediately surrendered to Sheriff Stowe. It is not known yet whether charges will be brought against him. Clark is being treated by Dr. Terrell and Dr. Schaefer, who pronounced his condition critical after an operation.

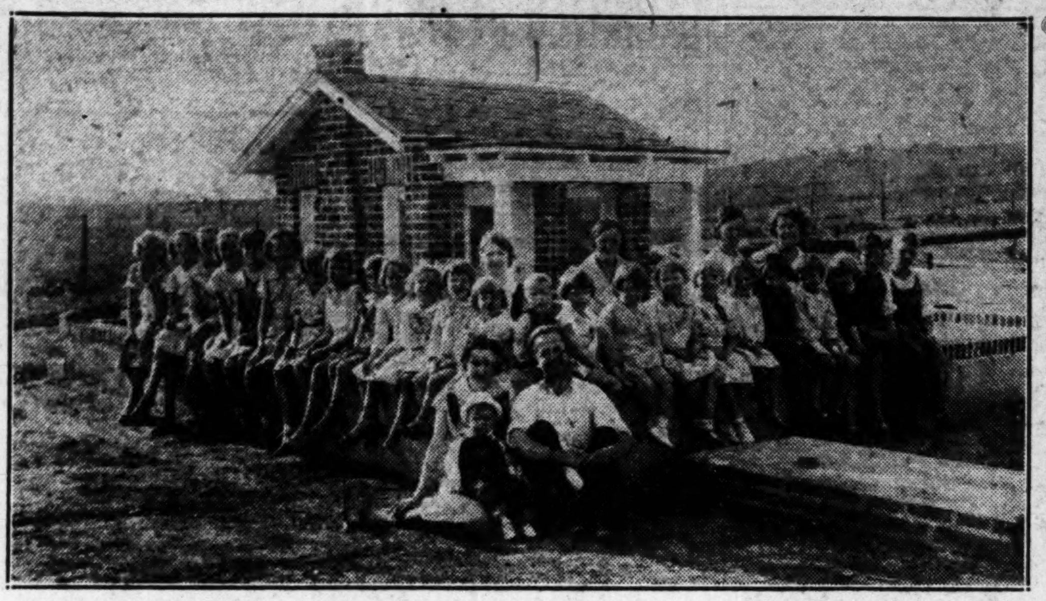
Playmates of Little Girl Who Died Attend Party For Her Birthday at Doll House Beside Her Grave



Playmates of little Nadine Earles, who died just before last Christmas, mark her fourth birthday anniversary with a party, held at the doll house her parents have erected above her grave in Lanett cemetery. Present at the party, in addition to the 25 members of Nadine's Sunday school class, were her teacher, Mrs. Lindsay Bruce; Mrs. J. L. Weldon; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Earles; her brother, Comer Earles Jr., and her grandmother, Mrs. Moody.

WEST POINT, Ga., April 10.—Nadine Earles got her doll house at last. It stands today above the grave of the little girl in the Lanett cemetery, erected by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Earles, after their daughter died before the coming of Santa Claus last Christmas, when she would have received in life the doll house on which she had set her baby heart.

Last Tuesday, April 3, was the fourth anniversary of Nadine's birth and on that day her parents invited all her little friends to hold a real party where, they hoped, their own little daughter could see the happiness with the eyes of the spirit and hear the carefree childish laughter from the near-by land beyond the grave.

So the children gathered at the doll house that now stands upon Nadine's grave. Twenty-five members of her Sunday school class, under the direction of the teacher, Mrs. Lindsey Bruce, carried out a program of songs, Scripture reading and prayer beside the grave. Then ice cream, cakes and chewing gum were served, just like a regular party.

The doll house upon the grave is made of brick, with a real door and windows. There is a tiny fireplace, with a mantle, and over it hangs a portrait of little Nadine. Her parents and her little brother, Comer Earles Jr., hope and believe that Nadine, in her grave, knows that the doll house she longed for in life is really hers in death. They wonder if, sometimes, when all is quiet among the graves and living beings have gone to rest, the spirit of the little girl does not enter the little house and play just like little girls on earth do. For, they wonder, would heaven be heaven for a four-year-old girl if she could not play, sometimes, at "keeping house."

VARIED SCHOOL RANK AMONG CCC WORKERS

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—College graduates mingled with youths who never attended school in the 40 CCC camps in Georgia during the past year, but those who dropped from school at the end of the seventh grade were more numerous than other grade levels.

A study of the educational status of 6,069 young men in the camps was made by Dr. John T. Wheeler. Twenty-nine of the men had not attended any school while 17 were college graduates.

The seventh grade group comprised 21 per cent of the total enrollment in all camps. High school graduates came next making up 16 per cent of the total. About 4 per cent or 243 attended college from one to four years.

The figures showed 47 per cent of the total enrollment attended school for seven grades or less while 53 per cent attended high school and college.

4 Convicts Escape From Gwinnett Gang

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., April 10. Four Gwinnett county convicts made their escape late Monday evening near Buford when two negro prisoners jumped on Jewell Mahaffey, guard, choked him, took his pistol and shotgun and stood off the balance of the convicts until they made their getaway in the county truck.

Escaping with the two negroes were two white men. The negroes, Bruce Phillips, sent here from Barrow county, and Jess Cannedy, from Jackson county, with Virgil Tower, white, Gwinnett county, and Sam Fowler, white, Fulton county, are being hunted by the officers, the truck having been found just across the Chattahoochee river from Buford.

Guard Mahaffey was severely choked by the negroes in their efforts to disarm him, after which they took what money he had, together with all his ammunition. They also got $3 from Tom Haslett Oakes, who made every effort to assist Guard Mahaffey to prevent the escape and who later gave the alarm.

AUGUSTA AREA CENTER FOR RE-EMPLOYMENT

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—This city will be headquarters for the national re-employment offices in this area, Marion A. O'Connor, state veterans' placement representative for the re-employment service, announces.

The consolidation of the Jefferson county office at Louisville with the Augusta office was announced but O'Connor would not say if other counties would be merged with this office.

Officials last night refused to confirm a report that many of the 179 re-employment offices in Georgia would be merged with offices in larger cities of the state.

PI MU EPSILON ELECTS FOURTEEN MEMBERS

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematical fraternity at the University of Georgia, has elected the following students to membership:

C. C. Bolger, Charleston, S. C.; Mary France Carter, Athens; Ora Lee Christian, Buena Vista; Lucy Dillard, Arnoldsville; J. W. Duckett, Greenwood, S. C.; Frances Foster, Perry; C. R. Hawthorne, Gordon; Annie Cohen Higgins, Columbus; Eula Sue Kenimer, Cleveland; E. C. Mallary, Athens; E. N. McWhite, Athens; Mabel Stephens, Athens; H. H. Walker, Dahlonega; A. R. Whittle, Augusta.

The fraternity was installed last month at the university.

APPRENTICESHIP PLAN FOR FARM TEACHERS

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—The division of rural and vocational education of the University of Georgia has inaugurated the apprenticeship method of training teachers of vocational agriculture.

The trainee, while doing apprentice work, observes and assists the teacher in the central school with all-day classes in agriculture. They are given three months of apprenticeship practice under supervision.

Ten seniors did apprenticeship teaching this year. They gave agricultural instruction to 156 farm boys enrolled in 10-day unit classes and 365 farmers enrolled in 10 adult classes.

BURGLARS GET $2,500 AT BANK OF DUDLEY

DUDLEY, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—Burglars cut through two heavy vault doors of the Bank of Dudley to obtain $2,500 in currency last night. No definite clues were left.

Missionary Wields Most Power For Peace, Says Georgia Woman

MACON, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—After serving 40 years as a missionary to China, Miss Ida Anderson, a native of this city, has decided missionaries can do more in the interest of peace than government officials.

Officials meet officials, she said, but missionaries meet the people "and their education can have a powerful influence on the character of the nation."

One of the best-known missionaries from the south Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Miss Anderson has retired and come home to rest.

Military leaders were blamed by Miss Anderson for China's internal troubles. She said it would pay nations interested in world peace to send foreign envoys and teachers to "carry the Christian philosophy of peace on earth and good will toward men, for I have seen what it has done in the most progressive province of China."

She came from Wusih in the Kiangsu province of the Yangtsze valley, in which Shanghai and Nanking, the capital are located. "It is the most progressive province in China. When I went there 40 years ago there were no schools, except mission schools. Girls were not allowed to study at all and because of the sort of caste system we did not reach all classes.

"Later, girls and boys were allowed to attend the same classes but we had to keep a screen between the two sections. When the republic was formed in 1911 the government itself opened schools and had to call on the mission schools for teachers.

"Through this education women have become emancipated. The caste system is broken down and the children of the most aristocratic families come to our schools. Girls are betrothed without the old custom of family intervention. There are modern co-educational colleges. There are now about 200 girls and 300 boys in our Wusih mill town school."

Blow by Cable Kills Georgia Log Worker

GLENNVILLE, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—H. F. Johnson was killed today when he was struck by a cable he was using while skidding logs in a swamp seven miles from here.

The cable was attached to a stump and a sudden slackening caught Johnson in its path, breaking his back.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED WOMAN FOR SLAYING

DUBLIN, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—A new trial has been denied Mrs. Sam Wynn, convicted of slaying Mrs. J. E. Burns in Dexter, Ga., last October and her attorneys today made plans for an appeal to the state supreme court.

Mrs. Wynn was given a life sentence after her second trial here in February. She told the jury she believed Mrs. Burns was "out to get her" when she opened fire as the two met in the Dexter postoffice. The dead woman's husband also is under indictment in the case and is expected to be tried at the next term of court.

State Deaths And Funerals

EDWIN J. STUBBS.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10.—Edwin J. Stubbs, 68, of 3240 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, a grain broker on the Chicago Board of Trade, died here yesterday of pneumonia contracted here while he was en route home from St. Petersburg, Fla. He was a Knight of St. Gregory, the honor being conferred upon him for his charities. Surviving are the widow and a brother, James A. Stubbs, of Chicago.

MISS CAPITOLA GREENE.

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 10.—The death of Miss Capitola Greene, 22, occurred early this morning at the residence after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at the South LaGrange Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, with Rev. L. M. Twiggs, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will follow in Hillview Annex.

Miss Greene was born in Talladega, Ala., but had made her home in LaGrange nearly her entire life. She was a member of the First Methodist church.

Surviving are her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Greene; two sisters, Miss Margaret Greene and Mrs. Emory Jordan, of LaGrange; a brother, John Greege Jr., also of LaGrange; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Baits, of Talladega, Ala.

V. B. WILLIAMS.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., April 10.—V. B. Williams, who died at his home in Birmingham, was brought here today for burial. Mr. Williams lived in Cedartown over 40 years ago. He was the first chief of police of Cedartown.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, Corley Williams and Forrest Williams, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Marcus Williams, of Birmingham, and three daughters, Mrs. Haldeman, of Cleveland, and Misses Mamie and Evangeline Williams, of New York city. He was a member of the Lake Highland Baptist church of Birmingham.

BRANTLEY INFANT.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 10.—Funeral services for the three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton B. Brantley, who was found smothered to death Monday morning, were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Services were conducted by the Rev. Ralph Porterfiled, pastor of the St. Mark Methodist church, and interment was in the Linwood cemetery. Only the parents of the immediate family survive.

MYRICK CLEMENTS.

DURAND, Ga., April 10.—Myrick Clements, of Durand, died Friday morning, April 6. Mr. Clements is survived by his wife, who was Miss Esther Burns, of Atlanta; three daughters, Misses Carolyn, Louile and Mary Josephine Clements; one son, Edward Burns Clements; two sisters, Mrs. Guy Kimbrough, of Montgomery, and Mrs. N. W. Parham, of Durand, and one brother, S. D. Clements, of Greenville, Ga. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at Trinity church, Durand, with burial at Ogletree's cemetery.

ANDY LEE THOMASON.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 10.—Andy Lee Thomason, 70, died at his home near Barnesville Monday after a short illness. Mr. Thomason had lived here about two years. He is survived by two sons, J. O., of Barnesville, and E. L., of Atlanta; two brothers, Will, of Atlanta, and S. J., of Texas. Funeral services were held at Mica church, Ball Ground, Ga., Tuesday, with Rev. Stone and Rev. Wyatt officiating. Burial was in Mica cemetery.

POSTMASTER ENTERS RACE FOR CONGRESS

NICHOLLS, Ga., April 10.—E. A. Meeks, postmaster of Nicholls and president of the National League of District Postmasters, has definitely entered the race for nomination as democratic candidate for representative of the eighth congressional district of Georgia, it is announced here.

Mr. Meeks has served continuously as postmaster at Nicholls since 1914, and is at present the Washington representative of the Postmasters' League. He is recognized as an authority on postal matters, and much of his time for the past seven years has been spent in the national capitol and around the halls of congress. His popularity, as well as his knowledge of governmental affairs and needs of the district, will tend to make him a strong contender for the nomination.

VINSON BILL ATTACKED AS STEP TOWARD WAR

MACON, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—Miss Jeanette Rankin, former representative from Montana, says the Vinson naval bill is "the first and biggest vote for another war."

Miss Rankin spoke at a forum of the Macon Council on International Relations last night. The Vinson naval bill was introduced in congress by the representative from this district (the sixth), who is chairman of the house naval affairs committee. The bill provides for building the navy to treaty strength.

"In the Vinson bill we are walking in the direction of war, and the next step is the actual war declaration," Miss Rankin said.

CAPTAIN ARTAU DIES AT BRUNSWICK HOME

BRUNSWICK, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—Captain Lazaro Pablo Artau, 70, identified with shipping interests here many years died at his home yesterday after a long illness.

He was a native of Spain and came to Brunswick in 1895. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Louis P. Artau, of Eugene, Ore., and Benito E. Artau, London, England, and a daughter, Miss Dolores E. Artau, of Athens, Ga. Funeral services were held today at St. Xavier's church.

MERCERIANS IN TROUP DINED AT HOGANSVILLE

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 10.—The Hogansville members of the Troup County Mercer Alumni Association were hosts to the association at a dinner Monday night served in the city hall in Hogansville.

The program consisted of singing by the club, vocal selections by Miss Thelma Hardin, accompanied by Miss Sara Ware, an address on the need of moral and ethical training by C. W. Coleman, president of the Troup county club.

Dinner was served by Mrs. J. H. Melson, Mrs. Robert Ware, Mrs. C. W. Sims, Mrs. F. J. Amis.

Son of Sheriff Saves Man From Fast Train

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 10. A probable candidate for a Carnegie medal is Gerald Elliott, son of Sheriff Z. T. Elliott, of Lamar county, who saved the life of John Knott, of Barnesville, Saturday, when he snatched him from the path of a fast train on the Central of Georgia track, near town.

Young Elliott, with Scott Riviere, chief of police of Barnesville, was in his father's car and stopped at the crossing, hearing the whistle of the train. He noticed a man staggering on the track, and called to him that the train was coming. The man made no move to get off, and Elliott dashed to his assistance. He dragged the man off just as the train bore down upon them.

GEORGIA MUSIC CLUBS EULOGIZE COMPOSERS

Luncheon Features Opening Day of Annual Session at Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—Georgia composers were entertained at a luncheon today following the first business session of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs now in annual session here.

Mrs. John Alexander Jardine, national president of the federation, was the principal speaker at today's session. Reports of officers and directors were read.

Mrs. M. B. Nichols, of Savannah, presided at the composers' luncheon. A business session also was held this afternoon.

The convention opened last night with a banquet in the Hotel DeSoto. Welcomes were extended by Mrs. Nichols, who is president of the South Atlantic District of the National Federation, and by Mayor Gamble and Dwight Bruce, president of the Savannah Music Club.

Mayor Gamble stressed the value of organization such as the Federation of Music Clubs in fostering the cultural element of communities and in developing the love of music in the younger generation.

GEORGIA TOBACCO MEN SEEK LONGER SEASON

MOULTRIE, Ga., April 10.—Tobacco growers and others interested in the industry will hold a meeting in Tifton on April 24 for the purpose of launching a concerted movement for a longer auction season in the Georgia belt and to remove some of the other handicaps under which farmers of this state have to market their leaf crop, according to an announcement by W. C. Vereen, Moultrie banker and a director of the Tobacco Association of the United States.

"It is tremendously important to arrange in some way for a longer and more satisfactory period for Georgia farmers to prepare and market their tobacco," Mr. Vereen said in calling the Tifton meeting at the request of a large number of persons in the Georgia bright leaf belt who insists that the growers in this state have been discriminated against in the past and will continue to be unless something is done about it.

Another matter which should receive attention at the Tifton meeting is the operation of the agricultural adjustment act as it applies to tobacco, Mr. Vereen said. The marketing agreement effected by the secretary of agriculture and under which the farmers of the Carolinas and Virginia sold their tobacco crop at profitable prices has expired, the Moultrie banker pointed out. Georgia territory, he said, had to agree to cut production considerably more in reality than any other territory, "and for that reason Georgia growers should let the government know that they expect any marketing agreement that is contemplated for this year's crop to be effected in time for them to share in its benefits."

Atlanta Slum Work Assured, Says Ickes

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—Despite the opposition of certain elements in Atlanta, Harold L. Ickes, national public works administrator, today reiterated his intention of going forward with the Techwood and Atlanta University slum clearance projects in that city. Progress is being made preliminary to signing of the final contract, it was said.

Officials said the only threat to completion of the projects resulted from reports that some property owners had insisted on higher prices than the PWA felt should be paid, much of the delay in initiating work on the projects having been caused by the task of obtaining options on the property involved. Mr. Ickes does not think difficulties will be serious enough to warrant revocation of the allotment for the city.

The zoning committee of Atlanta city council will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon to consider rezoning the slum clearance and low-cost housing area. The committee's recommendation will go to council Monday, together with a planning commission report approving the closing of several streets in the Techwood area.

Britain Not Prepared To Talk Tariff Now

LONDON, April 10.—(AP)—Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, told the house of commons today that tariff negotiations between the United States and Great Britain were impractical at present.

Runciman said: "I do not think commercial conversations between the two governments could be usefully considered at present."

His statement was in reply to a member's question whether in view of the fact that "a free interchange of commodities would secure additional employment in the two countries," he would initiate talks with the United States designed toward the mutual lowering or, preferably, abolition of tariffs.

Teachers and Labor May Unite in Florida

MIAMI, Fla., April 10.—(AP)—Formation of a school teacher-labor alliance welded into a state group to encourage mutually beneficial legislation was suggested today at the annual convention of the Florida Federation of Labor here.

H. J. Odell, of Jacksonville, chairman of the federation's educational committee, suggested the proposal. He said there are now 8,500 teachers in the state eligible to membership.

While he would not advocate the teacher organization losing its identity, he pointed out it could be affiliated with the labor federation for attainment of mutual gains.

Logger Killed.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—Henry Ungerecht, 75, a veteran logger of Henning, Tenn., died at a hospital here at 7:22 a. m. today of injuries received yesterday when he was pinned beneath a falling tree at Henning while felling lumber.

Peach Trees Now in Full Bloom Make Fairy Vistas Over Georgia

By CLYDE BEALE.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—The entrancing beauty of peach orchards in full bloom spread over Georgia countrysides today.

Persons riding through this section are impressed with the beautiful panorama of thousands upon thousands of peach trees in bloom. The blossoms will be gone within the next fortnight on most of the trees and the development of peaches begun. If the blossoms are not pollenized in this period, they drop off. Hundreds of thousands of bees buzz through the orchards gathering honey and assisting in pollenization.

Orchard owners are inspecting their trees regularly to be sure the curculio, a devastating pest, does not break out in large numbers and ruin the crop. Brown rot, which attacks the trees, and the peach tree borer are other pests for which the peach grower has to watch.

Peach county, named after its chief product, has been a leader in the production of peaches for many years. There are approximately 645,000 peach trees in this county.

Upson county leads all others in Georgia in the production of peaches, with 748,000 trees. Other heavy-producing counties are Meriwether, Houston, Crawford, Coweta, Pike, Jones, Macon, Habersham and Jasper.

Georgia peaches, the famous Elberta, Hiley, Uneda, Belle of Georgia and other varieties, are shipped by the thousands of bushels in refrigerator cars to many northern and eastern cities. Growers are hoping for better prices and a stronger demand this year as a result of better financial conditions in the market centers.

The early varieties of peaches mature about the first of June. The Elbertas, the famous large reddish-gold peach, ripens in June and July.

DIVERS CLAIM DESCENT TO DEPTH OF 1,170 FEET

SPEZIA, Italy, April 10.—(UP)—Two divers claimed a world's record sea depth Monday while testing new diving suits off Portofino.

The divers claimed to have gone down to a depth of 360 meters (1,170 feet). They said that visibility was excellent as far down as 300 meters, but became increasingly less below that depth.

MEMORIAL IS PLANNED TO DR. J. S. STEWART

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—A committee has been named by Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the University of Georgia, to arrange memorial exercises for the late Dr. J. S. Stewart during the annual meeting of the Georgia High School Association on May 4 and 5.

Dr. Stewart, professor of secondary education at the university, died 10 days ago. In announcing plans for the memorial exercises, Dr. Sanford termed him "my right arm" and said:

"When the history of public education in Georgia during the last 30 years is written, if justice be done, the major share will be given to Dr. Stewart."

The following were named on the committee to arrange appropriate exercises: W. D. Hooper, the university, chairman; J. G. Stipe, Emory University, accrediting commission; H. H. Caldwell, Georgia School of Technology, accrediting commission; T. J. Dempsey Jr., state department of education; Mark Smith, Thomaston, vice president of the High School Association, and D. H. Standard, Cordele, secretary of the High School Association.

MAN FOUND IN RIVER WAS SLAIN, SAYS JURY

WEST POINT, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—John Thomas Cook, 63-year-old Harris county farmer who left home Saturday for a fishing trip, was found dead in the Chattahoochee river below Riverview, Ala., today, and a coroner's jury held that he had been slain.

Cook had a wound over his left eye and the horse he had ridden was found tied near by. Officers said there was no clue as to his slayer or slayers. His wife and 10 children survive. Mrs. Charlotte Camp, of College Park, is one of the daughters. Funeral services are planned tomorrow at Sardis church at 10 a. m.

TEXTILES EXPECTED TO SPEND $100,000,000 FOR NEW EQUIPMENT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—A report that cotton textile mills of the country would be able to spend $100,000,000 for machinery, equipment and building during the next 18 months was made public today by George Sloan, chairman of the committee named by NRA to report on re-employment possibilities.

Sloan said, however, such expenditures were generally conditioned upon "constructive co-operation from the legislative branch of the government," a phrase which was followed by numerous complaints against the federal securities act, and protests against the Wagner labor bill and the Connery 30-hour week bill.

The $100,000,000 estimate was based, said Sloan, on reports from 500 mills with 15,000,000 spindles, or one-half of the industry, distributed both in New England and the south.

Sloan said $14,000,000 represented commitments already made for replacement machinery. Of the balance, 60 per cent would be spent for manufacturing equipment, 25 per cent for buildings and the remainder for auxiliary machinery.

ATLANTA IS INCLUDED IN AAA MILK SURVEY

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Fifty cities are being surveyed by the farm administration to find out whether enough milk is given to children of the country.

The cities in the survey include Atlanta, Ga.; Birmingham, Ala.; Little Rock, Ark.; Tampa, Fla.; New Orleans, La.; Jackson, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Frederick C. Howe, consumers' counsel, says the administration wants to know the actual amount of milk consumption among children in different classes in each community; how much of the family budget goes for milk; how much milk comes from relief agencies, and other facts.

NEGRO IS GIVEN YEAR AS RESULT OF CRASH

Harrison Walton Sentenced for Wrecking Car Owned by Marietta Physician.

A 12-month chain gang sentence was imposed Tuesday by Judge Jesse M. Wood, in city criminal court, on Harrison Walton, negro, of Williamson, Ga., on a charge of "assault and battery with an automobile."

Evidence in the case showed that Walton, who was driving home a $20 used car ran into the automobile of Dr. E. L. Harris and Mrs. Harris, of Marietta, wrecking the physician's car and inflicting injuries upon the occupants which necessitated payment of more than $1,000 in doctor's bills.

Judge Wood fined Stanley Odum $50 and gave him six months' probation, on a charge of driving while intoxicated. G. O. Brewer, of 1312 Hill street, drew a $25 fine and the same probation on a similar charge. Driving rights of both men were taken away.

Thomas Williams, 20, and Mathew Westmoreland, 18, both negroes, were sentenced to serve terms in the city prison Tuesday after conviction in recorder's court on charges growing out of an automobile accident last Friday.

Patrolman C. R. Adams, a special investigator of accident cases, charged the two youths with participation in an accident in which a negro boy was knocked off a bicycle on Hilliard street. The two men were charged with leaving the scene after the accident.

Williams was sent to the stockade for 30 days in lieu of a $27 fine, and Westmoreland drew a sentence of 60 days in lieu of a fine of $54 in two charges.

Fulton county grand jury took a hand in the traffic situation Tuesday when a true bill charging involuntary manslaughter was returned naming Arthur Franklin, who is charged with running over O. H. Whitly at Piedmont avenue and Armstrong street, inflicting injuries which resulted in death.

Another bill charging assault with reckless disregard for human life named Madison Allen, negro employe of Base Hospital No. 48, charged with running over Albert Pruitt, 8-year-old school boy, as he got off of a street car on Peachtree road on March 22.

DEPUTY MARSHAL SEEKS LOST MINE IN GREAT SMOKIES

BRYSON CITY, N. C., April 10.—(AP)—Revival of an ancient legend that a lost gold mine lies somewhere in the great Smoky mountains has led Charles H. Meadows, United States deputy marshal, to search for it, but his quest has proved fruitless thus far.

He is the great-grandson of a pioneer trader, Dorus Felmet, who is reputed to have swapped trinkets with Indians for gold nuggets a century ago.

Tradition has it that the tribesmen zealously guarded the mine and never would allow a white man come in the vicinity.

As time passed, though, Felmet was said to have won the confidence of the Indians who dictated directions for reaching their deposit. The legend does not say whether he found it.

A faded paper handed down through generations of the Meadows family is regarded by the deputy marshal as substantiating the story the Indians finally relented.

Supposedly the written interpretation of the Indians' directions, it reads:

"Go to Smoky mountain, then go down a ridge to where you can see three rivers, or a river in three places. Go back up ridge one-fourth of a mile and you will come to a ledge of rock that crosses the ridge. Go on the lower side of rock ledge until you come to a small branch. The mine is in this branch, covered by a flat rock.

Lloyd George Closes 44 Years in Commons

LONDON, April 10.—(AP)—David Lloyd George today completed 44 years' unbroken service as member of the house of commons for Carnarvon.

The present parliament has been little of the Welsh statesman who had been the central figure in some of its most momentous sittings. His time is spent at his Surrey home, Churt, writing further war memoirs and growing fruit and vegetables.

He was first elected from Carnarvon at a by-election when he was 27 years old.

MARIETTA, OHIO, FIRE CAUSES $300,000 DAMAGE

MARIETTA, Ohio, April 10.—(AP) Fire which burned furiously in the downtown section and threatened to destroy this city's business disrict was brought under control early today after causing damage estimated by officials at $300,000.

Student Shooting, Kidnaping Delay Alabama Campus Vote

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 10.—(AP)—Wounding of one candidate and the abduction of another today caused University of Alabama authorities to postpone until fall the election of an editor-in-chief for the Crimson and White, student weekly newspaper.

Frank Muscal, of Bayonne, N. J., opponent of Andrew B. Manning, of Birmingham, who was shot by an unidentified man, reported today that he had been forced into an automobile by two masked men last night.

The report of Muscal was followed by an announcement from Dean Dabney Lancaster that the election, set for tomorrow, would be postponed until the fall semester.

During the past few days the campaign of the two students has been marked by bitterness, and rival forces were working late into the night to muster votes. The "sectional angle," students said, had contributed to bitterness in the race, which always is marked by intense rivalry.

The "student politics" angle was revealed yesterday by Manning, who told police that his assailant, an unidentified man who had followed the youth for several blocks, when he covered him with a pistol, said "Come down into the woods and talk politics."

Manning was shot through the right thigh as he sought to escape from the man. Manning also told police he had been followed for two or three nights by unidentified persons.

Muscal told Dean Lancaster he would not be able to identify the two men who held him captive, as both were masked, nor could he identify the automobile.

Likewise, Manning was unable to give a clear description of his assailant, other than he was a tall man and well built.

City police and the sheriff's force have made little headway, and one deputy sheriff bluntly declared, "Some of the boys know who did the shooting, but they won't talk."

Both Manning and Muscal are juniors and Dean Lancaster said postponement of the election until fall would not hamper the management of the Crimson and White, since the new staff does not take charge until next fall.

FLUSH KIDNEYS OF POISONS AND STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

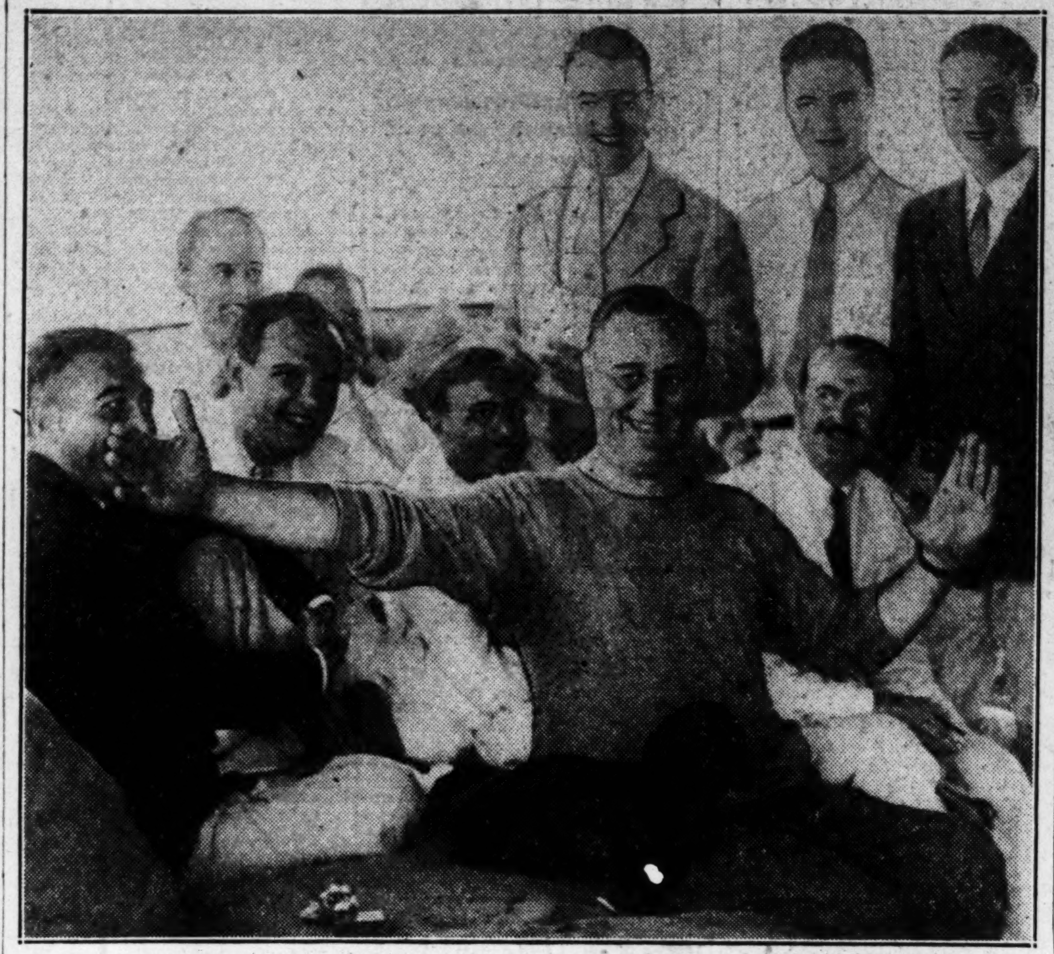
Thousands of men and women wonder why backache bothers them—why they have to visit the bathroom often at night—why flow is scanty and sometimes smarts and burns.

Any one of these symptoms means that your kidneys and bladder need attention now before these minor symptoms develop into serious trouble.

To flush out waste poisons and acid from kidneys, soothe your irritated bladder and put healthy activity into them, get a 35-cent package of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed.

This tried and true medicine always works—you'll feel better in a few days, as this supremely effective diuretic and kidney stimulant drives excess uric acid from the body. But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine. All good things are imitated.—(adv.)

Skeptical Scribes Doubt Presidential Veracity



If President Roosevelt's arms had been longer, the fish story he is telling reporters assembled aboard Vincent Astor's yacht would have been still better. The skeptical scribes came aboard to investigate after the chief executive had taken exception to his son, Elliott's, claims that he (the president) wasn't doing so well with his fishing. Roosevelt recounted some amazing accomplishments on the piscatorial front, but the White House correspondents left unconvinced. At least, they didn't quite believe the president's claim that he landed a sperm whale on hook and line in Bahaman waters. Associated Press photo.

Held in Dual Killing.

BAMBERG, S. C., April 10.—(AP)—Joe Barre, 45-year-old farmer, was arrested near here early today after an extensive hunt since late yesterday by officers who charged him with killing his wife and mother-in-law at their home near Batesburg.

Officers said Barre had shot the women to death in a fit of anger, but could not learn the motive. Sheriff T. J. Hadwin and Policeman J. W. Price said Barre was drunk when they arrested him.

CORN LIQUOR 'AGER' EXHIBITED IN TRIAL

Deraney Testifies He Refused To Invest in Contrivance, Was "Doped."

Exhibition of laboratory apparatus for which the claim was alleged to have been made that it would put 20 years of "age" into corn liquor by a process requiring only half an hour Tuesday featured the trial of Morris Pack and Martin Love in Fulton superior court. Cases against the two defendants for the $5,000 robbery of Mike Deraney, south Georgia merchant, are expected to reach the jury today.

Deraney testified that the appartus, consisting of test-tubes, racks, thermometers, graduated glasses and an assortment of bottles filled with strange liquids, was exhibited to himself and his brothers by a man who was introduced as "Professor" Abner, who claimed to be a Jewish refugee from Hitlerism who wanted to set up an "aging" plant on the banks of the Chattahoochee river.

It was after he had refused to invest in the "aging" plant, and failed to exhibit interest in a so-called "money-making" machine by which government notes could be duplicated, that samples of the "aged liquor" were passed, strange fumes arose from a basket of ignited paper, and, Deraney said, "he knew no more."

When he came to, Deraney testified, $5,000 in cash which he had on his person in preparation for a buying trip in the east was gone.

Pack told the jury that he came to Atlanta after the close of the world's fair at Chicago, where he had a concession in which he was assisted by Love, and contended that he knew nothing of the alleged swindle. The presence of himself and Love in the Ponce de Leon avenue apartment where the alleged robbery took place was explained by his statement that he and Love had given up the apartment in preparation to removing to the Cox-Carlton after Love's wife had joined them from Chicago, and that they had rented the place to "Professor" Abner and Albert Greenberg, who are fugitives. Pack told the jury that he and Love had returned to the apartment and were packing their remaining luggage when officers appeared after the Deraneys had complained that they had been robbed.

The two men are being tried on one indictment charging robbery of $5,000 from Mike Deraney. They also are under indictment charged with taking $4,000 from Charles Deraney. The defendants are represented by Attorneys William Schley Howard and L. P. Carpenter, and Assistant Solicitor John Hudson is conducting the prosecution.

Wreckers Derail Train, Killing 2, Injuring Score

VIENNA, April 10.—(AP)—Train wreckers derailed the Vienna-Paris-London express early today between Wels and Linz, capital of Upper Austria, causing two deaths and a score of injuries.

No foreigners were reported among the injured. The casualties were confined almost exclusively to trainmen and railway postal employes.

The fireman was killed almost instantly when the locomotive jumped the track and overturned. One postal employe died later.

LEW CODY DEFENDS HARRY JOE BROWN IN $100,000 ACTION

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—(AP)—In a courtroom that took on some aspects of a movie set, a prominent actor, a director and a script girl came to the defense of Director Harry Joe Brown today in the trial of Actress Marjorie Whiteis' $100,000 breach of promise suit against him.

The suave screen villain, Lew Cody, testified before a courtroom full of spectators, including Sally Eilers, blonde actress wife of Brown, that Brown and Miss Whiteis never had talked to him about buying his Malibu Beach home. Miss Whiteis charges Brown jilted her and married Miss Eilers instead.

"My house never was for sale," said the nattily dressed actor.

The director's witness was Sid Rogell. Miss Whiteis had testified he took her to Lake Arrowhead on Labor Day, 1933, at Brown's request.

"She went to Arrowhead with me, all right," Rogell said. "But Brown didn't ask me to take her. I took her out a dozen times last summer."

Miss Ruth Brock, comely script girl, testified Miss Whiteis got a part in a picture called "Eight Girls in a Boat" before Brown and Miss Eilers were married last September. Her testimony was in rebuttal to that of Miss Whiteis, who said she wrote Brown a letter asking his aid in obtaining a role in the picture, but saying she knew she had no right to expect favors from him, after his marriage.

DRYS URGED TO QUIT BOTH MAJOR PARTIES

"Both major parties having deserted prohibition to become definitely wet, it is time to quit voting with the wets for wet parties, and to organize a party of our own with the purpose of voting back prohibition." Edward E. Blake, of Chicago, chairman of the national prohibition party, said Tuesday at a luncheon of Atlanta drys at the Kimball house. Mr. Blake goes to Birmingham today for a dry convention, and to Jackson, Miss., Thursday.

J. B. Lockhart, of Calhoun, was elected state chairman of the prohibition party, and Blake said that it is hoped to have a state convention in Atlanta soon. "The drys are doing their thinking along new lines, realizing that the eighteenth amendment was lost in the general election of 1932 when 95 per cent of the drys voted for wet parties and wet platforms," Blake said.

CONFERENCE IS HELD ON DRAINAGE PROJECT

A conference on a drainage project started on the South Carolina side of Augusta under the civil works administration and later halted was held in the office of Dr. Thomas F. Abercrombie, state director of public health, Tuesday, and the state was represented as being desirous that the work be continued.

Dr. Abercrombie said nothing official was done at the conference and explained that authorization for resumption of the project would have to come from Washington under the FERA which took over the work of the CWA. He said he expected some word from federal authorities within a few days.

Mrs. Massie Needs Word From Husband

LONDON, April 10.—(Wednesday.)—(UP)—Word from Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie is the only thing that can help cure his divorced wife, Mrs. Thalia F. Massie, ill in a nerve clinic in Genora, Italy, the London Daily Express said today in a Genoa dispatch.

The dispatch quoted Dr. Emilio Borelli, nerve specialist treating Mrs. Massie. In a statement from him, the dispatch said:

"The surest and quickest method of restoring Mrs. Massie to normal health is for Lieutenant Massie to communicate with her, either by telephone or telegraph. Any message from him at present would be most beneficial."

M. D. Collins Qualifies For Re-election Race

Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, qualified Tuesday as a candidate for re-election, paying his entrance fee for the September primary with a surprise donation of $150 from his office staff.

The check was presented to Dr. Collins when he came to his office at the capitol this morning.

"No more loyal, sympathetic and appreciative group can be found anywhere," the superintendent said, describing himself as overwhelmed with gratitude for the kindness of his subordinates.

He said he would make the race on his record and a program planned with the children's interest first and designed to provide a more nearly equal educatioral opportunity for the children of Georgia.

MOORE INVESTIGATION STRAYS FROM COURSE

Long Asks Supreme Court To Intervene in Ansell's $500,000 Libel Suit.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Senate finance committee investigation of the fitness of D. D. Moore to be collector of internal revenue for Louisiana strayed from its course today to delve into operations at New Orleans of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

Except for Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, Moore's name would not have gotten into the record today. His name only was mentioned when Clark asked a witness whether Moore had been connected or had any dealings with the corporation. The witness said no. Senator Long, of Louisiana, is opposing Moore's nomination.

Long's new attempt to escape trial of a $500,000 libel suit brought against him by General Samuel T. Ansell, retired, was initiated today with the filing in supreme court of a petition seeking its intercession.

The court is expected to announce on April 30 whether it will grant Long a review of the District of Columbia courts refusal to quash the suit on Long's plea of senatorial immunity.

Ansell charged as libelous the printing and distributing by Long of alleged defamatory statements against Ansell made on the senate floor after Ansell had opposed Long as counsel against Senator Overton, of Louisiana, in the senate committee investigation of Overton's election.

Questioning of E. S. Brock, Louisiana state bank commissioner, and Paul B. Habans, head of the Louisiana Home Owners' Loan Corporation, before the committee today followed charges by Long that "racketeering" was being carried on between the Home Loan office and that of Colonel John P. Sullivan, lawyer and sportsman.

Atlanta Motor Row Sent to Labor Board

WASHINGTON, April 10.—A dispute at the Chevrolet plant in Atlanta which had been brought before the Atlanta regional labor board was referred today by the national labor board of the NRA to the labor board for the automobile industry established under the terms of the recent settlement.

The chairman of the automobile labor board notified the national labor board of acceptance of jurisdiction of the dispute. The question of jurisdiction had caused threat of a strike. Officials of the national labor board this morning obtained consent of the employes to the postponement of the strike pending an attempt to adjust the dispute.

P.-T.A. Convention Is Highlighted By Skit Given by Columbus Matrons

Mrs. J. F. Terry, at the left, and Mrs. K. W. Battle, of Columbus, as they appeared yesterday with their marionettes, which they presented in a clever skit at the P.-T. A. state convention. The dolls represent Mrs. Wheeler Tolbert, Mrs. Frank David and Mrs. James Gordy, prominent P.-T. A. state chairmen, who wrote the skit, and who offered it in lieu of their convention report. Staff photo by George Cornett.

By ANNIE LOU HARDY.

Injected between weighty problems being considered yesterday by the state body of Parents and Teachers was a clever interlude in the form of a marionette show, which, by reason of its ingeniousness and novelty, is by way of highlighting the convention which closes a three-day session here today.

Two engaging young matrons from Columbus, Mrs. J. F. Terry and Mrs. K. W. Battle, are responsible for the amusing performance, and to a trio of prominent state P.-T. A. officers, Mrs. Wheeler Tolbert, publicity chairman, Mrs. James Gordy, citizenship chairman, and Mrs. Frank David, program chairman, all of Columbus, goes the credit for the novel idea. The skit was written and presented in lieu of a report from the three officers, and formed a welcome interruption in the serious routine of the convention.

Mrs. Terry and Mrs. Battle modestly disclaim any glory for their part in the performance, directing all credit to the Community Service League of Columbus, of which they are enthusiastic and leading figures, and of which they are marionette chairman and co-chairman, respectively. For it was the Service League and its philanthropic purpose that inspired the marionette venture which has grown in two years' time to include over 40 characters and a repertoire of half a dozen plays.

Convention "Hit."

Comprising the cast of the skit were eight characters, who represented, in addition to Mrs. Tolbert, Mrs. David. and Mrs. Gordy, the retiring state president of P.-T. A., Mrs. R. H. Hankinson; the newly-elected president, Mrs. Charles Center; "Rastus," a negro newsboy; a Boy Scout, and a baker. The dolls bore such strong resemblance and were so characteristic of the persons they represented in speech and action that they were greeted by gales of merriment from the audience and proclaimed one of the "hits" of the convention.

A tribute to the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the young puppeteers was the fact that the performance was presented upon an improvised stage, with absolutely no equipment. Flatshlights were pressed into service as footlights, and curtains were arranged without the convenience of drawstrings or pulleys.

When they present plays in Columbus, of course they use an elaborate stage and the most modern of trappings, all of which were designed and created by their own fingers. In addition to writing the dialog and animating the little actors, they fashion the dolls, paint the scenery, and manufacture all the furniture. They were characteristically modest in disclosing the derivation of the name, Ma-Ka, which they have given to their puppets. The word is formed by the first two letters of the given name of each, Mrs. Terry being the former Miss Mary Cozart, and Mrs. Battle, the former Miss Kate Woolfolk, both popular Columbus belles.

The one marionette show of which they are proudest was that given at Warm Springs in January a year ago before the president-elect, Franklin D. Roosevelt. So elated were they over appearing before a prospective chief executive that they wrote a special play for the occasion, a negro story told in dialect. And so delighted was Mr. Roosevelt that he sent Mrs. Terry a letter expressing his appreciation. Over 400 persons witnessed the performance, the audience including besides Mr. Roosevelt and the members of his family, patients at the Warm Springs Foundation and a group of notables who were in line to become cabinet officers or fill other high positions in the nation.

Credits Junior League.

"To the Atlanta Junior League belongs the credit for launching us on the marionette venture," said Mrs. Terry, who is as vivacious and charming as she is gifted and capable. "It was during Mrs. Robert Foreman's regime as president of the League that some of the members came to Columbus to stage a marionette show and asked the co-operation of the Community Service League. Their presentation inspired me to try my hand, and I found a perfect partner in Mrs. Battle, who was as enthusiastic as I, and far more competent," she continued.

"And when we needed encouragement during those first days," said Mrs. Battle, "strangely enough, it was a former Atlantan, also a Junior Leaguer, who stood always ready with a helping hand." She referred to Mrs. Barnard Boykin, who made Atlanta her home for a number of years after her marriage, and who, upon returning to Columbus to reside, was instrumental in organizing the Community Service League, of which she was named honorary life president.

The Service League's fine spirit of co-operation has been demonstrated in many ways. Its members help to maintain the children's clinic at the city hospital, and once each week they teach dramatics and the marionette arts to a class of underpriviledged children at the Good Will Center. They have presented shows in connection with numerous other organizations in addition to the P.-T. A., such as the Rotary Club, the Lions' Club, the Good Will Center, and the Elizabeth Anne Shepherd orphanage. On April 28 they plan to present one of their best-known plays, "Sylvia Bewitched," under the sponsorship of the Muscogee County P.-T. A., which will receive one-half the proceeds, the remaining half to go to the Service League's charity fund.

Mrs. Battle and Mrs. Terry estimate that their marionettes have performed before 4,000 people during the past two years, all for "sweet charity's" sake. For their work alone, the band of splendid young women whom they represent, well deserve the name, Community Service League. Their performance of yesterday was only an instance of the pleasure they are constantly giving to others, in addition to a real service to humanity.

Service Star Legion Executive Board Adopts Resolutions at April Meeting

The executive board of the Georgia division of the Service Star Legion held its recent meeting at Rhodes Memorial hall with Mrs. Warren D. White, the president, in the chair. Resolutions of constructive worth were brought to the members and adopted. Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp extended appreciation to the army and a telegram of thanks for co-operation in the work of the Service Star Legion was voted to be sent to General Robert O. Van Horne, commander at Fort McPherson. The vigilance committee reported favorably on the resolution to petition the principals and superintendents of all schools and colleges in the United States to have the teachers take the oath of allegiance to the flag, and decided to defer vote on the child labor resolution until the next meeting during national convention. Mrs. Marcus Beck, the beloved historian, resolution was that the roster of each soldier in the counties of the state be compiled and placed in the rosters at the courthouses so as to be accessible to the public. The state history of Service Star Legion has been finished and presented to the state by Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp and Mrs. Marcus Beck.

Mrs. L. P. Rosser will continue her petition to the Georgia legislature for a suitable memorial to the World War boys to be placed somewhere in the state. A resolution which was heartily accepted was by Mrs. F. W. Withoft, of Fort Valley, that the Service Star Legion issue memorial cards with the Service Star Legion insignia, to be sent to the families of the boys who passed away in the government hospitals. Mrs. A. O. Woodward was made chairman of a new committee on memorials to put markers over graves of all war veterans. Mrs. W. F. Melton made a resolution to mark the graves of the gold star mothers of the Georgia division, each chapter in the state caring for its own members. Mrs. Howard Payne, Elberton, chairman of relief for life, made a splendid report, stating mainly that all obligations in caring for the children of veterans at the George W. Williams school had been met. The date of state convention was set for October 2-3, with Mrs. Sam D. Jones, chapter Service Star Legion as hostess. A telegram of greeting was received from Mrs. P. I. Dixon, Thomasville, Ga., president of the American Legion Auxiliary. The members stood in reverence during the presentation of a miniature in a gold frame of the organizer and first president of Atlanta chapter, Mrs. Samuel D. Jones, given by her daughter, Mrs. Beverly DuBose, which will be kept in the Service Star Legion cabinet.

Luncheon was served at Peacock Alley, with the following hostesses in charge of arrangements: Mesdames Beverly DuBose, J. A. Dyer, J. L. Fulghum, Robert Hale, Phillip Graves and D. F. Parker. Mrs. White presided at the luncheon and introduced the heads of patriotic organizations who extended greetings, and the following official speakers: Miss Ruth Blair, state historian; Mrs. T. W. Reed, president Georgia division U. D. C.; Mrs. D. M. Robinson and John M. Slaton Jr., Base Hospital No. 48; Mrs. W. E. Mann, Dalton, past state president; Mrs. F. W. Parent-Teacher Delegates Honored At Series of Important Social Affairs

Delegates attending the Georgia Congress of Parents' and Teachers' meeting in Atlanta this week will be entertained at the Publication-Library Service breakfast on Wednesday, given at the Piedmont hotel, with Mrs. P. G. Hanahan, chairman of publications, and Mrs. George H. Slappey, chairman of library service for the Georgia Congress, as official hostesses.

The hostesses will be assisted by Mrs. Sam Craig, president of the Ninth District, and Mrs. Charles Trowbridge, president of the Fifth District; Mrs. Fred Scanlin, assistant chairman of publications for Georgia; Mrs. D. D. Smith, chairman of the department of public welfare, and Mrs. Charles Center, chairman of the flying squadron.

Breakfast Given.

Mrs. Katherine Weathersbee, chairman of Humane Education, and Mrs. M. H. Perkinson, president of the Seventh District, presided, and Mrs. Z. V. Peterson was chairman of arrangements at the Humane Education breakfast given on Tuesday at the Piedmont hotel. On the banks of a miniature lake, which formed the center of the table, violets were in bloom, and the place cards were hand-painted booklets of dogs, birds and butterflies, emphasizing the slogan of the Humane Education department that "There should be kindness toward all of God's creatures." Bowls filled with peach blossoms added a colorful note to the appointments.

Mrs. M. E. Judd, of Dalton, offered greetings from the Seventh District, and Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was the principal speaker. Her subject was "School and Community, An Avenue to World Peace." Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of public instruction, spoke on "Humane Education in the School; Its Influence on Character." Miss Jessie Gray, president of the National Education Association, revealed the school's part in teaching kindness, and bird calls were given by George Foster.

Extension Dinner.

The Fifth District division sponsored an extension dinner on Monday evening, given at the Piedmont hotel, this affair being presided over by Mrs. C. G. Trowbridge, president of the district. Talks were given by Mrs. Hugh Bradford, national P.-T. A. president; Miss Jessie Gray, National N. E. A. president; Mrs. Z. V. Peterson and Mrs. R. H. Hankinson. Seated at the speakers' table were the four speakers, Miss Marion Telford, national safety chairman, of New York; Dr. and Mrs. Willis A. Sutton, Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wells, Dr. Yeomans, Mrs. Cooper Campbell, of Columbus, and Mrs. R. H. Hankinson.

Tea Honors Delegates.

Members of the Fulton county council were hostesses at a tea given Tuesday at the Piedmont hotel, in honor of Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, president of the Georgia Congress; Mrs. C. G. Trowbridge, president of the Fifth District, and Miss Jessie Gray, president of the National Educational Association.

Mesdames W. M. Schneider was chairman and Mesdames Elmo Moore, Frank Bettis and Franklin Davis formed the committee in charge of arrangements for the social event. The tables were decorated with flowers of blue and gold, the P.-T. A. colors. Punch was served by Misses Elizabeth Moore, Elizabeth Davis, Callie Lithenwalter, Julianna Trowbridge, Louise Schneider, Jerry Robinson, Frances Pierson, Mary Carmichael, Floradale Crawford and Marie Cox.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Stanley Davis, president of Fulton county council; the honor guests, Mrs. Bradford, Miss Gray, Mrs. Hankinson, Mrs. Trowbridge and Miss Marion Telford, national safety chairman; Dr. Lemo Dennis, national representative from the Parent Education department; Mrs. Frank Bettis, president of the Fulton Council; Mrs. Elmo Moore, president of the Fulton County Presidents' Club, and Jere Wells, superintendent of Fulton county school.

CUTWORK LINENS.
Pattern 5082.

Cutwork, that simple embroidery—it's just buttonhole and stemstitch—is being used extensively on scarfs for dining room, living room or bedroom. And a handsome decoration such a scarf as this makes. The popular rose basket works up quickly and its just as effective on an ecru linen as on a white. If you should prefer it colorful the different parts of the design could be worked out in color.

In Pattern 5082 you will find a transfer pattern of two scarf ends 15 inches wide (the basket is 5 inches high) and two motifs 2x6 inches for the sides, complete instructions for doing cutwork and making the scarf as well as material requirements. Price of pattern, 10 cents.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

By MIGNON.

"The crowning glory," which is woman's hair, needs quite as much if not more attention than her face. No matter how lovely the face, it does not carry much beauty weight unless it is topped with clean, fluffy, well-dressed hair that has a natural gloss.

Men have failed often to notice a woman's homely features if she had a glorious head of hair. Many a man, unable to tell what a girl looks like after he has remarked on her attractive appearance, will, after some questioning, admit that all he remembers is her beautiful hair.

You can wash your hair every two weeks and it will be enough, but my advice is to wash it every week.

Don't either rinse or wash it with anything but hot water. A cold rinse takes the glint from your hair.

I don't care for dry cleaning your hair any more than I'd like to have my body dry cleaned. I feel a distinct preference for good old soap and water.

Have a trim often, so there won't be untidy hair sticking out when you have finished "doing" your hair.

When women get past 50 they should not strive for too shiny hair. I don't mean that it should be lusterless, but if you douse it with brilliantine you get much the same result as you get when you use too much rouge on a past-middle-age face. It's all wrong. Brilliantine is all right for younger hair and it's all right in small quantities on hair past 50, but moderation in any kind of makeup marks the lady.

Brush your hair at least once a day, twice if you have time. It is better than massage for releasing the oils that give the natural gloss to it.

If you are young wear a young hair-dress. If you are no longer young don't dress your hair like Alice in Wonderland. It will give you a silly look.

Elderly women who have thin faces should dress their hair so that it puffs slightly at the sides, giving width to their faces. Fat faces can't play with side curls. If they do they will look like full moons.

It is quite the fashion now for young women to wear many curls. They can have them frame their faces, or simply fill out the back of their heads and the backs of their necks.

A woman with a long thin face, be she old or young, should keep her hair flat on top of her head, to eliminate, as far as possible, that elongated and very severe look.

So much can be done to improve the shape of the head by the proper hairdress.

In taking a shampoo at home, if you have dry hair, rub a fine oil into the scalp at night. Take a small wad of cotton, dip it into the oil and part the hair, rubbing it in along the part and massage it in well and then spread a bath towel over your pillow and go to bed. In the morning shampoo your hair.

I'll tell you of a fine oil for this purpose if you want me to do so.

Any good pure soap that appeals to you will do for a shampoo. I can give you the names of some very good ones, and two that are especially desirable for those who have dandruff. I usually melt whatever soap I use, as the liquid is easier to handle—and quick. Always rinse soap out thoroughly before drying or your hair will not be bright and shiny.

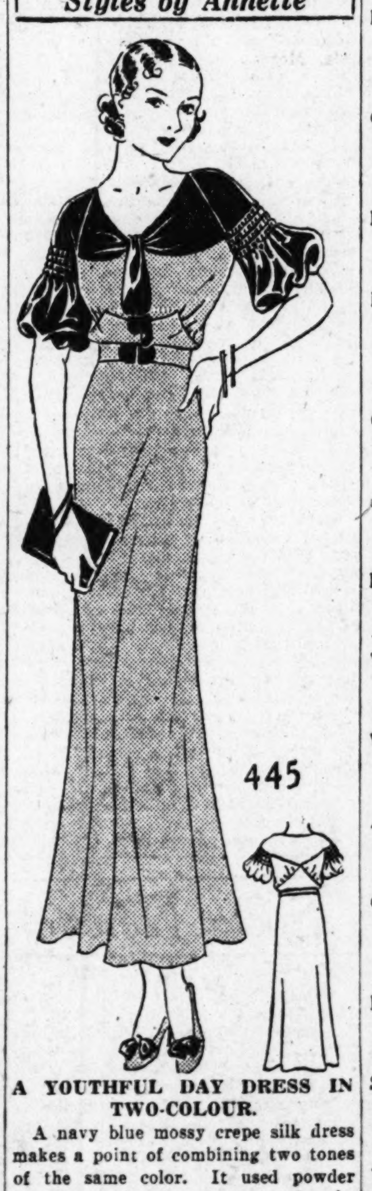
Morris-Sewell Rites.

Of cordial interest to a host of friends is the marriage of Miss Letty Frances Morris to Sayor Calhoun Sewell, which was solemnized on Saturday, April 7, at high noon, at the home of Rev. E. L. Flannagan in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. West and Mr. and Mrs. T. Carl Stovall.

The bride was lovely in a model of blue and white moss crepe, fashioned on simple lines with semi-high neck line. She wore white accessories and her costume was completed with a shoulder bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies.

Mr. Sewell and his bride left after the ceremony for Asheville, N. C. The bride traveled in a navy triple sheer crepe suit with red accessories. They will be at home after April 14 at 560 Lee street.

Styles by Annette



A YOUTHFUL DAY DRESS IN TWO-COLOUR.

A navy blue mossy crepe silk dress makes a point of combining two tones of the same color. It used powder blue crepe for its sleeves and yoke that approves an easy drape.

Carried out in one colour, this model is also lovely. It adapts itself particularly well to the new crepe silk prints.

Style No. 445 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 2 3-4 yards of 39-inch material with 1 1-4 yards of 39-inch contrasting and 1-4 yard of 36-inch lining.

The Essence of Fashion!

The whole fashion story for spring is to be found in this new and exciting Spring Fashion Book. You certainly won't want to miss it. Contains new Hollywood photos and patterns that are styled perfectly and fit perfectly. Send for your copy today.

Lois Experiments With All Sorts of New Ideas

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

new ways to serve bananas

It may have been the surety that Roger would hold his job with no more pay cuts, it may have been the good nature of her four-month son and the good health of her two-year-old daughter Ann. It may have been the fact that Lois was recovering from her hospital experience. It may have been any or all of these reasons that explained the new lease on life which she seemed to have taken.

She was wearing her hair in a more becoming fashion. She was hunting clothes that were smart and had style. She was a new Lois. Roger was tickled almost to death. He hoped Lois would never realize what a whiner and fault-finding person she had been during the past year. She had doubled the burden he was carrying, and all without realizing it, of that he was sure.

Lois would never realize what a banana cookery and she had checked a number of dishes she planned to try. She was going to peel bananas, cut them lengthwise and brush them with melted butter and then put them under the broiler flame to brown. These she planned to serve with meat balls. Then she thought of dipping peeled banana lengths in crumbs or sifted crisp ready to eat cereal. These lengths would then be served with steak. Of course, she knew about bananas put inside of fritter batter and fried in deep fat. For another dish she toasted bread lightly, buttered it generously and spread it with a layer of sliced bananas and a small amount of sugar. These were browned delicately under the broiler flame.

34 TEXAS REFINERIES SHUT UNDER NEW RULES

KILGORE, Texas, April 10.—(AP)—Operations were suspended today at 34 east Texas refineries as a result of injunctions being issued, requiring obedience to the new refinery control law, in the Texas railroad commission's campaign against "hot oil."

R. D. Parker, chief administrator of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, announced that this number of refineries had shut down but he declined to list them. Construction work was halted at five refining plants that were being erected.

It was explained that the refineries had closed voluntarily after issuance of the injunctions, which were intended to force compliance with regulations.

LEHMAN WINS VICTORY ON UTILITIES PROGRAM

Senate Reverses Self To Pass Bill Allowing Municipal Ownership.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 10.—(AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman, swinging a big stick, has turned a defeat into a victory in his efforts to put across his public utilities program.

The senate, reversing itself early today, passed his two key measures—a bill permitting municipalities to own and operate power plants and another requiring utilities to pay a share of the costs of rate investigations.

Both bills won by a hair, the first by 26 to 18 and the second 26 to 17. Twenty-six votes were required. Five democrats, who voted against the bills last week, switched to the Lehman side.

Pressure brought to bear by the governor on members of his party was considered responsible for his success. He turned his attention today to the republican-controlled assembly, where these and eight other utility bills await action.

W. Kingsland Macy, republican state chairman who has charged that utilities exert influence on the G. O. P. "old guard," has come to Albany to aid the governor.

The governor today signed the New York City economy bill.

The bill was passed by the state senate today. Under genial conditions that contrasted sharply with the three months of angry wrangling over the measure in the assembly. The measure permits New York City to effect economeis of approximately $13,000,000, chiefly through pay cuts and furloughs for city employes. As passed by the assembly last week and by the senate it was considerably modified from the board bill for which Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia asked.

Stillman Defends National City Acts

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Defending his activities as chairman of the National City bank, James A. Stillman, now a director and one of the largest stockholders, testified in supreme court today that he approved of all of the bank's transactions during the last 15 years and would sanction them again in similar circumstances.

Stillman testified at the trial of an action brought by minority stockholders to recover $70,000,000 allegedly wasted through mismanagement by the directors.

He was questioned particularly about the Cuban sugar loans and investments which, the stockholders contend, resulted in a potential loss of $34,000,000 to the bank and its former securities affiliate, the National City Company.

Stillman said he approved of all the bank did in Cuba "then and since."

Beekman Winthrop, who with Percy A. Rockefeller and Stillman is trustee of the City Company, formerly the National City Company, denied the $34,000,000 invested in Cuba was a total loss.

He and Stillman both defended creation of a management fund to provide additional compensation to valued officers and employes, and the $2,400,000 fund established to aid officers and employes during the depression. They said the funds bolstered the morale of the staff.

Communists Advise Union Membership

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 10.—Delegates attending the national convention of the communist party here last week adopted a resolution requiring all members of the party to join trade unions, Earl Browder, national secretary, revealed in a press conference at the conclusion of the secret convention sessions.

Browder said the theory of the resolution was that communists would thus have an opportunity to present their views in the hope of winning converts among trade unionists.

The American Federation of Labor and the Rooseveltian new deal were assailed by speakers throughout the convention. Browder described the administration as a "tool of Wall Street," while leaders of the A. F. of L. were charged with "selling out the workers to the bosses" in a speech by Lewis Weinstock, of New York.

"Revolutionary action" was the convention's keynote.

FEMININE NUDES HOLD LEAD AS ART SUBJECTS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Feminine nudes continue to be the most popular subject for artists, the depression is next, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt runs third, it was revealed today, the first day of the largest temporary art exhibition in the world at Rockefeller Center.

Some 5,000 paintings hung five deep stretched out into practically a mile of pictures. The 1,520 artists ranged from Harry W. Watrous, president of the National Academy of Design, to elevator operators and caretakers in Rockefeller Center.

3 NAVY SEAPLANES DELAYED IN FLIGHT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 10.—(AP) Three of the 15 navy seaplanes flying to Panama from San Diego remained behind today when the formation flight was resumed from La Paz, lower California, overnight stopping place, the 11th naval district headquarters here was informed.

The three are of the VS-2 squadron, commanded by Lieutenant Commander L. T. Hundt. Valve trouble in one of the motors was given as the reason for the delay.

GOVERNMENT WORKERS PLAN FRENCH PROTEST

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—Government employes today issued a call for two days of nation-wide demonstrations—April 15 and 16—against Premier Gaston Doumergue's pay cutting decree laws.

"Folded arm" strikes and other manifestations at places of work are scheduled Monday, the 16th, which has been designated as a "national day of protest" by the public service union.

They will be preceded by mass meetings and street demonstrations Sunday throughout France. Postmen, public service employes of all kinds and other civil servants have enlisted in the movement.

CARDUI
WOMEN

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My girl friend turns out to be an awful liar and I don't know how to handle her. When I threaten her with leaving her she cries and swears she will never lie to me again. When I bless her out she cries and says I don't love her but she never stops lying. Is there any cure for lying? JACK.

Answer: There are all sorts of liars but they have one thing in common—habit. Some people lie because they haven't the courage to tell the truth. Someone has called a lie the refuge of the coward. Some people lie because they lack principle but have enough pride left to make them wish to conceal from others the fact that they have no principle. Some people lie because they get a big kick in putting it over on the other fellow. Some people lie because their moral perception is so deadened that they don't know where truth ends and falsehood begins.

They are all habit-ridden and the lying habit is as hard to break as the drink or cigaret habit. There may be periods in which the addict appears to be cured yet under the slightest stress or strain he or she lapses into the old way.

Everybody knows that a girl who has a big flock of boy friends has to tell some little white lies to keep each of them in good heart toward her. She tries to make each of them think that he is the "one and only." But when she falls in love, really in love, all the others fade out but one. Unless she is a confirmed liar she tells him the truth about everything even when it is to her disadvantage. She instinctively confides in him about everything. This is love's way. This is why it is not quite safe to tell a woman anything you don't want her husband or her sweetheart to know. She goes to him with a secret just as a martin goes to his gourd.

If a girl is a confirmed liar not even love will make her truthful. Threats and abuse administered by her boy friend won't accomplish anything but to make her furtive. An appeal to her conscience may influence her to turn over a new leaf but the turning takes a long time and the leaf is apt to blow back during the process. The boy who loves her has to exercise patience and he has to pretend faith in her, in the hope that she will try the harder to live up to that faith. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield—I am now 22 and for five years I have been going with a young man who is a little older. For three years he has had no steady work. At present he has a CWA job but there is no guarantee that it will last indefinitely. I have a good job and make a fair salary. Due to the fact that he has no money and I very little we have economized, haven't gone to movies or taken part in expensive amusements. Consequently I have saved a sizeable sum. Now this man is urging me to marry him and mother is terribly opposed to it. I am afraid if I turn him down I will lose him. What do you advise? PENELOPY.

Answer: The young man evidently hasn't a very definitely defined sense of responsibility. He hasn't the proper pride; and deficient in these two important points of character it is not surprising that your mother should be terribly opposed to your marrying him. It is not hard for a young girl to fall in love with a man she doesn't respect, but it is well nigh impossible for her to remain in love with a husband she doesn't respect. So if by refusing to get married right now you should lose this young man you will not have lost a treasure that is irreplacable.

Nothing is more revealing of a man's character than his attitude toward money. Three years out of work and only recently set up in a temporary CWA job, this man could not possibly consider marriage but for the tidy sum you have saved and the prospects of your continuance in your present position. In other words he is plainly counting on your support and assuming that you will come forward with it. If you accept him on that basis you must make up your mind that you will always have to be the mainstay of the family. For as a young couple start out in their married life so they go on to the end. If young love doesn't imbue a man with ambition and give him a sense of responsibility toward the girl he wants to marry, he is a hopeless proposition. He will never feel the urge of ambition or develop any sense of responsibility.

This advice to you: Tell the young man that after he has found steady employment with an assured salary, saved a sum as large as the one you have saved and can show you that he is able to support himself and pay half of the running expenses of your household, then and not until then will you consider marriage.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

MOSCOW WHOOPEE LANDS GEORGIANS IN SOVIET PRISON

MOSCOW, April 10.—(AP)—Thirty-one roistering Georgians who came to Moscow from the southern soviet republic on official business but indulged too freely in night life, have been arrested by the ever-watchful ogpu—the soviet secret police.

Their offense was too much high jinks in the red capital's hotels, the charge: drunkenness and debauchery.

All the Georgians hold important subordinate positions in various economic and political organizations in Georgia—the birthplace of Joseph Stalin, general secretary of the communist party.

Eighteen of the prisoners are to languish in jail 30 days and then are to be sent ignominiously under guard back to their jobs.

These 18 include the representative of the Tiflis Timber Trust; the agent of the Caucasian children's committee; the manager of the economic planning sector of the Tiflis Butter Trust; the director of the state movie trust of Tiflis; the jurisconsult of the Batum city soviet, the manager of the Caucasian Chemical Trust.

The remaining 13, whose number is not only unlucky but whose offenses are regarded as more heinous, are to be given a trial. They will face a possibly more serious punishment.

In this latter group are the director of the ore department of Georgia, the chief of the iron foundries supply department of Batum, and the responsible secretary of the commissariat for health of the Transcaucasian republic.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 10.—(AP)—William Woodin Jr., son of the former secretary of the treasury, was reported "very much improved" today and out of danger. He suffered a heart attack two days ago.

EXPORT WHEAT PRICE BASIS OF ROME PARLEY

Conferees Make Progress in Discussion of Price Raising.

ROME, April 10.—(AP)—Satisfactory progress toward a minimum wheat export price plan, considered the keystone of efforts to help farmers the world over, was reported tonight by a subcommittee of the world wheat advisory commission.

As a starting point in their program to boost wheat quotations, the eight experts blacklisted government transactions of a commercial nature which might nullify efforts to set the minimum export price.

Other items on which the subcommittee agreed are:

Exporters will have the choice of whether to make sales on a basis of quotations figured on cost, insurance, and freight to importing markets, or on a basis of freight on board from export ports.

Wheat flour, whole wheat, meal and semolina will be supervised by the governments in a manner similar to that employed on wheat and grain exports.

Flour prices are to be set on a percentage basis with reference to corresponding type of wheat; bakers flour to be priced at about 145 per cent of the minimum price of the corresponding ptype of wheat; bakers or clears at 135 per cent; low grade at 125 per cent, and other grades, including whole wheat flour or meals, at 120 per cent.

An agreement would be demanded of governments not to conduct such transactions as barter agreements or deals resulting from frozen credit that might adversely affect minimum export quotations.

The subcommittee will meet again tomorrow—behind closed doors at the International Institute of Agriculture—to hear a draft of today's agreements. Other members of the commission will visit the Littoria agricultural project, reclaimed from swamp lands.

Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel is the American member of the subcommittee with Lloyd W. Steers, agricultural attache at Berlin, his advisor.

Soviets Demand Credit in Sweden

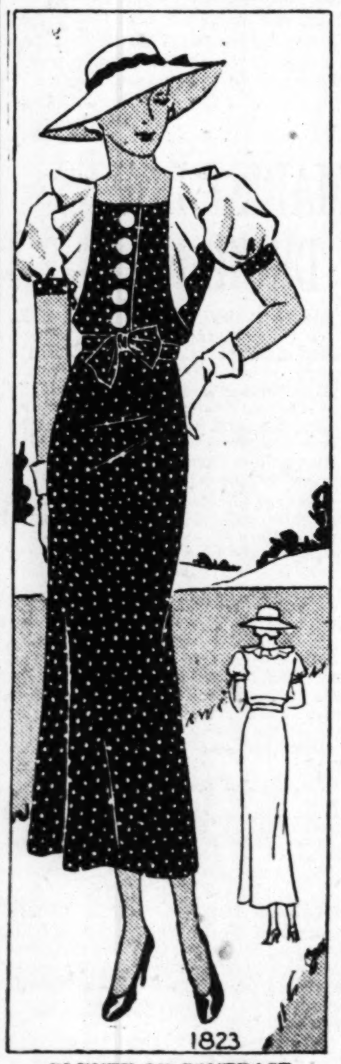
MOSCOW, April 10.—(AP)—Retaliation in the form of drastically reduced soviet purchases from Sweden was threatened today if the Swedish parliament fails to ratify a 100,000,000 kronor—about $25,000,000—government loan to the soviet union.

Apparently foreseeing a possibility that the Swedish legislative body may turn down the loan because of reputedly strong opposition, the commissariat of heavy industry through its newspaper, For Industrialization, warned, in effect, that if the loan is not forthcoming the soviet government will place its business elsewhere.

"You may have orders on our terms or not at all," is sense of this newest expression of the soviet foreign trade policy.

"If we cannot enjoy long-term credits we will continue to reduce our imports because the necessity no longer exists for us to import foreign goods except under conditions favorable to us," the commissariat's mouthpiece asserted.

Lillian Mae Patterns



PLENTY OF CONTRAST FOR SPRING CHIC!
Pattern 1823.

The fabric of your frock will tell more than half of the fashion story. There's a wide scope for combining fabrics cleverly in the attractive model shown here. We had it made of blue and white dotted swiss, contrasted with white organdie—and it's very striking, don't you think? If you've a flair for the bright plaids, candy stripes, or captivating prints in vogue, they'd be equally effective. There's youth and chic in the way the flares ripple over the shoulders, and the sleeves perk up. The bodice closing is accented with large buttons that repeat a color of the print. Cool, feminine, and smart for all daytime affairs.

Pattern 1823 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 yards 36 inch fabric and 1 3-8 yards contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Precise Reasoning

One of the beauties of the game of contract bridge which adds to its ever-increasing popularity is the fact that both in the bidding and play there are numerous opportunities for precise reasoning and the drawing of the most delicate and accurate inferences. Inferences, of course, are of two kinds—the positive inference based upon what partner and opponents say, and the negative inference based upon what partner or opponents fail to say.

The hand below, which was played by Alphonse Moyse Jr., in a team-of-four match recently, is a case in which he drew such an accurate inference from a pass by one of his opponents that the opposing players for a moment thought that someone had tipped him off as to the distribution. Of course, nothing could be further from the facts. Mr. Moyse's play was based entirely upon the drawing of an accurate inference from the failure of an opponent to bid.

The hand was:
East, dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

	♠ A K 8 2 ♡ — ◇ Q J 7 ♣ A Q J 7 3 2
♠ J 9 3 ♡ 10 9 6 2 ◇ 6 5 2 ♣ 8 5 4	N W E S	♠ Q 7 6 ♡ K Q J 8 7 ◇ A K 10 3 ♣ K
	♠ 10 5 4 ♡ A 5 4 3 ◇ 9 8 4 ♣ 10 9 6

East	South	West	North
1♡	Pass	Pass (1)	Dbl. (2)
Pass	1NT (3)	Pass	3NT (4)
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Of course, West should pass. The hand is too weak to even make a bid of two hearts, and the bid of notrump is manifestly unthinkable.

2—North has a very fine hand. The takeout double is obviously correct.

3—South has no four-card or longer suit except the suit bid by his opponent. In as much as he holds a stopper, one no trump is no doubt the best bid.

4—Perhaps a somewhat strong bid in view of the distribution, but North and South knew that their team score was bad and needed some unusual result to bolster it up. Hence North decided to conceal his club suit and hoped that the club king either was held by Mr. Moyse or could be captured on a finesse.

West's opening lead was the heart 2, indicating the probability that he held four of the suit. Mr. Moyse won the trick with the ace as there was no purpose whatever in holding up with his rags. Obviously, East, vulnerable, who had opened the bidding, had entry cards in other suits and could not be shut out in any event. In addition, there was a real danger of a shift to the very weakly protected diamonds. Having won the first trick, Mr. Moyse saw, of course, that if he could capture the club king, his contract was assured, as the heart trick together with the ace and king of spades and six club tricks totalled nine.

Hoping for but really not expecting a cover, he led the club ten, and naturally West played low, whereupon Mr. Moyse went into a long huddle with himself, finally emerging with the correct solution. West, he reasoned, held four hearts. He could not in addition to holding four hearts have also the king of clubs, as otherwise he would have made some response to his partner's vulnerable opening bid. Therefore the club king must be with East and if that was true there was not a thing to gain by a finesse. The one chance of running the club suit was to find the king a singleton with East. Scarcely hoping for any such good fortune, Mr. Moyse played the ace, and when the king dropped, the opponents felt that the play bordered on the miraculous. Obviously there is no method of knowing that the king is a singleton, though North's unbalanced distribution suggests a similar lack of balance in other hands, but whether the king is a singleton or not, the line of play adopted by Mr. Moyse is absolutely correct and based entirely upon a correct decision as to West's lack of honor strength. If East held the club king guarded, from the standpoint of South it would be just too bad. The card was clearly marked in the East hand. If it was unguarded, then the contract could be made; otherwise the finesse could accomplish no good purpose.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ A J 9 8 5 3 2 ♡ — ◇ Q 6 5 ♣ J 8 3
♠ K ♡ Q 9 5 3 ◇ K J 9 4 ♣ K 10 6 5	N W E S	♠ Q 10 ♡ A 8 7 4 ◇ A 10 8 7 3 2 ♣ 7
	♠ 7 6 4 ♡ K J 10 6 2 ◇ — ♣ A Q 9 4 2

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Germans Organize Against Red Russia

BERLIN, April 10.—(AP)—German anti-communist organizations have been united in a new fight on the Jews which is aimed chiefly at soviet Russia, it was [illegible] by Dr. A. Ehrt, head of the combined group.

The new unified group will be known as the anti-komintern or union of all German anti-communist societies. The anti-komintern will endeavor to show to the world that Russia is ruled by Jews, and a special slogan has been adopted for the campaign against the soviet leaders.

Mary Astor Must Pay Parents $100 Monthly

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—(AP) Mary Astor, brunet screen actress, today was ordered to pay her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Langhanke, $100 monthly pending trial of their suit charging her with failure to provide for them.

Miss Astor, who denied she had refused to contribute to her parents' support, was not in court when Superior Judge Dudley S. Valentine announced his decision.

Langhanke testified yesterday his daughter had given him only a $30 grocery coupon book in the last eight months and said he and his wife had been dependent upon the charity of neighbors for the necessities of life. He asked for temporary support money until completion of the suit for permanent support.

Young Vanderbilt Lists Arch Foes And Chief Champions of New Order

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 10.—(AP) Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., in an address here today listed the ten "principal enemies" of the Roosevelt administration and "new order" and the ten men he considered best qualified as its champions.

The "enemies:" Ogden Mills, former secretary of the treasury, "the real generalissimo of the coming attack on the administration;" John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate in 1924, "capable lawyer, dangerous enemy;" James M. Beck, former solicitor-general of the United States, "cleverest of Wall Street masqueraders;" John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall; Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., "more than any other living being responsible for our participation in the World War;" Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, "demagogue first and last;" Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, "who combines the worst features of Beck and Reed;" Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of former President Roosevelt, "queen of the gossipy beehive, spends her days and nights spreading silly rumors;" Harrison Williams, of the North American Investment Trust, who "symbolizes the arrogance of the public utility companies;" Richard B. Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, "who flooded Washington and the country with ruthless propaganda."

The champions:

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of interior; Homer S. Cummings, attorney-general of the United States; Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury; Joseph B. Eastman, coordinator of the railroads; William Randolph Hearst, publisher; Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California; J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency; William C. Bullitt, ambassador to the soviet union; Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, and President Roosevelt.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN IN STEEL SHIPMENTS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Shipments of finished products of the United States Steel Corporation in March totaled 588,209 tons compared with 385,500 in February and 256,793 in March, 1933.

The March shipments, which were 202,709 tons higher than in February, reflected a continuation of the increased demand for steel products that has been going on almost uninterruptedly since January 1. For the first three months the corporation shipped 1,305,486 tons compared with 817,860 tons in the first three months last year.

A substantial gain in shipments had been expected, since operations increased last month. Also, March had four more working days than February.

Output of the steel industry diminished slightly late last month and early in April, but more recently there has been renewed expansion as a result of steel price increases.

ZAPOTECAN INDIANS HAD DENTAL 'JAGS,' SCIENTIST CLAIMS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—In the days of the Zapotecan empire in Mexico, around 900 years ago, the Indians went on "jags" with narcotics and intoxicants when they had their dental work done. And the dental work, too, was skilled and elaborate.

In describing the Zapotec's ways of life today, Dr. Marshall H. Saville, famous archeologist of Columbia University and frequent expedition leader for the American Museum of Natural History, said the Mexican Indians made steady use of anaesthetics.

For such purposes, herbs such as marihuana and puiote were commonly used. And oftentimes, the natives would take advantage of the situation and become intoxicated for several days with a variety of mushroom.

From Zapotecan tombs in the Oaxaca valley in southern Mexico, Dr. Saville salvaged excellent examples of dental work—some with ornamental gold, hematite and silver inlays, others of fillings for decayed areas.

DILLINGER 'POISON' FOR HIS FRIENDS, RECORDS REVEAL

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—John Dillinger may be a great fellow for John Dillinger but for his friends he is poison.

A fine example of the misfortune that follows those befriending the notorious outlaw is a death sentence handed two men who killed a sheriff "springing" their chief from jail.

Then there is the negro who escaped with Dillinger from Crown Point, Ind., only to fall a victim to police guns a few days later.

Dillinger's pal, Eugene Green, stood by his side helping him fight off officers who had trapped the pair with a woman in a St. Paul apartment.

The trio escaped but a few days later Green upheld the tradition of bad luck that follows Dillinger's friends. When federal officers turned a machine gun on a suspect it was Green, not Dillinger, who happened to be in front of the gun.

Herbert Youngblood, negro who escaped with Dillinger from the Crown Point (Ind.) "escape-proof" jail with the aid of a wooden gun, killed by officers at Port Huron, Mich., March 16, a few days after the escape.

GOVERNMENTAL COSTS $40.33 IN TENNESSEE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Governmental costs in Tennessee in 1932, the United States census bureau reported today, aggregated $106,683,502 or an average of $40.33 for each person in the state.

The report said the $106,683,502 included $36,784,819 disbursed by the state government, $33,642,561 by the 95 counties, $33,738,012 by the 218 cities, towns and villages, $1,404,246 by 89 special school districts and $1,103,864 by the other civil divisions.

Combined gross debts of the state and its political subdivisions, less sinking fund assets set aside to meet such obligations, were listed at $323,496,009 or an average of $122.30 for each person. "In 1932," the report added, "the average per capital was $56.27 and in 1912, $26.41."

RELEASE IS FORESEEN FOR INDIAN PRISONERS

BOMBAY, April 10.—(AP)—Gradual release of all "civil disobedience" prisoners except those convicted on the major charge of sedition is expected to follow Mahatma Gandhi's recent statement calling for the national congress—the independence party—to suspend civil resistance for home rule.

WAR SHELL BLAST KILLS FOUR POLISH CHILDREN

WARSAW, Poland, April 10.—(AP) A World War artillery shell that four children found in a field near Barwowice exploded unexpectedly while they were playing with it today and killed them all.

Appeal Dropped.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 10.—(AP)—The Connecticut Company dropped its appeal today from a superior court verdict awarding $20,000 damages to Otis T. Wingo Jr., son of Mrs. Effigene Wingo, former representative in congress from Arkansas.

GAIN IN PASSENGERS SHOWN BY N., C. & ST. L.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—For the first time in a decade the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway reported today in its statement to stockholders for 1933, an increase was noted in number of passengers handled.

The total last year was 387,305 as against 285,398 in 1932, the report said, although passenger revenue dropped from $919,629 in 1932 to $763,816 last year.

This decline, the carrier reported, was "much less than it has been for many previous years." Regarding lower basic passenger rates, the report said that although they had "greatly increased the number of passengers," there is still a question as to the exact fare which should be made permanent.

Freight revenue increased from $9,250,963 in 1932 to $10,391,187 last year for a 12.3 per cent gain, the statement said, adding:

"The low point in freight traffic was reached in July, 1932. Freight revenues, beginning with March, 1933, showed a consistent improvement month by month over similar months of $1932."

Operating revenues of $11,355,116 in 1932 increased to $12,381,088 in 1933 while operating expenses showed an expansion from $10,151,895 to $10,793,231, the statement said.

GROCERY CODE PRAISED BY WHOLESALE GROUP

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 10.—(AP) The United States Wholesale Grocers' Association was told today that the day of "discrimination in favor of big business and financial power against smaller distributors is passing."

President Joseph H. McLaurin told the convention that "food manufacturers have contributed to this unholy discrimination which has eliminated thousands of retail grocers and independent wholesale grocers, and threatened a proven sound economic method of food distribution."

Praising the food and grocery code, he said that while all are not satisfied entirely with it, it has gone a long way to eliminate discrimination.

Floridan Killed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 10.—(AP)—Clarence McCall, 22, Largo, near here, died in a Clearwater hospital today from injuries received last night when caught between the rear of his parked car and a machine driven by Lee C. Pearman, of Clearwater.

FLEET PRACTICES OCCUPY U. S. NAVY EN ROUTE TO EAST

WITH THE UNITED STATES FLEET, OFF LOWER CALIFORNIA, April 10.—(AP)—The scouts of the sea, America's newest naval craft, had their opening inning today in the first combat exercises of the "Thirty Days' War" of the United States fleet, en route to the east coast from California.

The dawn found these fast heavy cruisers, two divisions of them commanded by Vice Admiral Harris Laning, spread far apart in search of the great blue fleet.

The blue fleet, composed of battleships, aircraft carriers, some light cruisers, destroyers and vessels operating as theoretical troop ships, was under command of Admiral Joseph Mason Reeves.

Planes were catapulted from Admiral Laning's cruisers with the dawn, and shortly thereafter their radio "squaws" reported that the great blue fleet had been located.

The heavy cruisers closed in and carried out their mission of tracking, that is keeping the blue fleet in sight, yet out of range of the batteries of the dreadnaughts.

An aerial attack on the blue fleet was staged in the afternoon by the aircraft squadrons. The dirigible Macon flew with the blue fleet.

Templars Elect.

Jacobs Says 'Doug' Ready To Make Up

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—A representative of the prize fight business, Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, brought fresh indications from Spain today of an early reconciliation between Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford this spring.

"Fairbanks came to visit us for three days at the training camp at Sitges, 40 miles from Barcelona, and he called Mary at least once every day," Jacobs said.

"We were having dinner together the first night when he called the head waiter over and told him to put in a telephone call for 'Mrs. Lewis' at the Savoy Plaza hotel in New York. When they told him the call was ready he said to me as he got up 'You know who that is. It's Mary Pickford I'm calling.'

"He called her in Boston and again in Detroit, I think it was. He didn't say so outright, but he gave me to believe very definitely that when he returns here early in June there will be a reconciliation. He has been constantly with Karl Kitchen, who told me he had come to Europe for the purpose of arranging a reconciliation."

CRUDE OIL OUTPUT SHOWS SLIGHT GAIN

TUULSA, Okla., April 10.—(AP)—A 41,632-barrel increase in Texas was responsible for the greater part of an advance from 2,380,937 to 2,427,982 barrels in daily average crude oil production of the United States last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reports.

Oklahoma production dropped from 461,475 to 460,505 barrels.

Averill's Home Run in 7th Gives Indians Another Over Giants

BREAK O' DAY!

By Ralph McGill

The Babe Outdraws World Champs Two to One Here!

The world champions were performing at the local baseball park yesterday afternoon, but you would never have guessed it from the crowd that was on hand.

It was, I would say off-hand, about half that which saw the New York Yankees here last week. And the Giants had the added advantage of playing the Cleveland Indians, who are managed by Walter Johnson. And an attraction all by themselves. A little dumb but still an attraction. And with that pitching they can be a bit dumb.

The public hasn't taken Bill Terry and his Giants to its collective heart as it has other champions in the past. There were empty seats at the second game of the World Series in New York last fall. And New York has a population of about 7,000,000. The Giants lack gate appeal.

It seems to be a matter of salesmanship and the Giants don't sell as the other clubs do. The Yankees have been well sold, and now that they are not champions any more they still sell because they have a fellow named Babe Ruth on the club.

There was Mell Ott, the Giants' slugger, and a nice boy. He came to bat yesterday and no one gave even a handclap for one of the best hitters in baseball. There was only scattered applause for the other stars. Customers are much more important to a ball club than pennants. And the Giants have yet to be sold to the public. They are record book champions but the public doesn't yet admit it.

It was a great ball game, as most everyone knew it would be, but the public showed its interest by staying away. Which is most unusual when the champions of the world are playing.

THAT INTANGIBLE SOMETHING.

It is impossible to have that intangible thing known as "color" or gate appeal and not have the public find it out.

And no publicity will make that sort of appeal for the man who hasn't it. One can write a million fine stories about colorless people and the public will remain very quiet about it all.

There were no throngs of kids out to the Biltmore hotel yesterday to see the champions. There were only three or four around seeking autographs.

And yet last week, when the Yankees were present, there was a constant parade beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning and continuing all day and far into the evening.

Babe Ruth's room at times was in need of a traffic cop, so fast did they come—kids, old men and old ladies—wanting to shake the Babe's hand or get his autograph.

And the Babe, who is one of the greatest persons baseball has ever seen, is, after all, just about at the end of the trail as a ball player. But still a champion. Just as they say "Hello, Champ" to Dempsey.

The Babe has that intangible something. People like him. It is inexplicable. It explains why a fellow will get married or why one likes someone and doesn't care for someone else. It explains why a gangster may have real friends and an upright citizen may be regarded as a frost and have only enemies.

The Giants haven't got it. Their sensational victory in the last series didn't sell them to the public.

It's beyond explanation. And it's a quality that a ball club or athlete has or hasn't. There's no halfway mark.

MISTER TERRY'S COLTS.

The Atlanta-born manager of the New York Giants was very enthusiastic about his "colts" at Nashville in the Southern Association.

"Say," he said, "I wouldn't leave Joe Bowman here in Atlanta if I was going to turn him loose. I'd send him up to my Colts at Nashville. That's my second team," he said.

This was something of a blow to Spencer Abbott, the Cracker manager, who had been the one to recommend Bowman to Terry and who said he had been assured Bowman would be sent him if not retained.

"I sent Nashville a great infielder in Al Cuccinello and another in Smoky Martin," he said. "Al is Tony Cuccinello's brother. He sent him to me instead of Brooklyn. 'Tony', I said, 'this is a better ball player than you.' And Tony said, 'That's what I'm telling you.' And so I sent him to Nashville. I promised those guys a pennant."

Asked about his ball club, Bill Terry said it was all

CRACKERS LOSE TO CINCINNATI AT MACON, 13-2

Jacobs and Barnes Face Redlegs; Five Errors Checked Up.

MACON, Ga., April 10.—A batting barrage that had its incipiency in the first inning and raged through the ninth frame gave the Cincinnati Reds a 13-to-2 conquest of a poor-fielding Atlanta team here today.

The same two clubs will resume their diamond warfare at Ponce de Leon park in Atlanta tomorrow with Dazzy Vance, the 41-year-old fire-ball ace, slated to oppose the Southern leaguers. Vance pitched the final in-

19 SAFETIES.

Art Jacobs and Frank Barnes was ning here today and allowed the Crackers one of their runs, but Manager Bob O'Farrell said he intended opening with the former Brooklyn ace again tomorrow.

The Crackers' offense was completely subdued by the veteran Larry Benton, Sylvester Johnson and Vance. The red-faced Benton was in brilliant form, his change of pace baffling the Atlantans to such a degree that they touched him but for one hit, a single by Duck McKee in the second, in the four innings he labored. Two of the Crackers' other three hits were registered at the expense of Vance. battered for 19 safeties by the rampant Reds, but Jacobs showed sporadic flashes of real form despite the eight hits and seven runs the Reds made off him in the first five innings.

Charlie Sheerin shone brilliantly afield, making several nice stops of grounders and getting his man at first base. But the fielding palm of the day went to Chick Shiver, the former University of Georgia All-American end, for his sensational running catch of Frank Barnes' smash to right field in the eighth inning.

As the eighth inning rolled around not an Atlanta player had dug his spike into second base, unless it was the outfielders going out to their positions. Only three Crackers had reached first base. McKee and Sheerin had reached that haven by virtue of singles in the second and fifth frames, respectively, and Taylor was safe in the fourth on Tony Piet's error.

With one out in the eighth Freddy Neisler was safe on Jake Flowers' poor throw from shortstop. Shiver robbed Barnes of a long hit. Buster Chatham, who had erred three times at shortstop himself, watched Flowers bobble his grounder as Neisler moved to third. Flowers committed his third error of the inning on Pip Koehler's pop fly, allowing it to trickle through his hands as Neisler scored. Taylor flied to Comorosky.

EARNED RUN.

The Crackers earned their run against Dazzy Vance in the ninth. Johnson slashed a single to left, but McKee forced him at second, Piet to Flowers. Then Ray Wise drove a double into center field as McKee scampered home. Sheerin and Neisler were retired. Four hits, climaxed by Chick Hafey's double, and errors by Sheerin, Johnson and Chatham put the Reds away to a four-run lead in the opening inning as the lineup batted around.

Chatham's error in the third inning instigated another run for the Cincinnatians. The Atlanta shortstop booted Shiver's rap and the Georgian moved to third on Bob O'Farrell's hit and scored on Gordon Slade's infield out.

Hits by Koenig and Bottomley, another error by Chatham and a sacrifice by Piet paved the way for two more runs for the Reds in the fourth.

That was all until the eighth after Barnes had assumed the pitching duties. Comorosky, Piet and Johnny Moore collaborated with singles to add another tally.

Five more came in in the ninth. Shiver, whose bat had been silent all day, doubled. Ernie Lombardi singled and Shiver scored. Al Hollingsworth forced Lombardi out. Lavegue singled and Comorosky doubled, scoring both runners. Walter Bohl rolled out, but Piet tripled, scoring Comorosky. Flowers singled, but Shiver, up for the second time, ended it with a fly to Wise.

Tech High Golfers Still Undefeated

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—The Tech High Smithies continued their undefeated record by downing the Athens High golf team, 15 1-2 to 2 1-2, over the Athens Country Club course here this afternoon. Tommy Barnes, Smithies' captain, shot a par 73 in the medal play for the low score of the day. Barnes, Jimmy Brown and Paul Sankbeil all won decisive victories over the Athenians. Jack Cook lost 2 points in the last twosome while Brown lost the other 1-2 point.

Simmons Boosts Spring Bat Record

TUCUMCARI, N. M., April 10.—By the time the Chicago White Sox reach home this week-end, Al Simmons' bat should be going full blast.

Simmons did not hit up to the Simmons standard in the far west, but the closer the club gets to Chicago, the more he hits.

BLONDY RYAN, FORMER CRACKER, SHOWN GROUNDING OUT IN GIANT GAME.

MACK'S ROOKIES BEAT PHILS, 8-6

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—(AP) Behind the six-hit pitching of three rookies, Connie Mack's Athletics rallied on a booming ninth-inning homer today to down their rivals for the city championship, the National league Phillies, 8 to 6.

The four-base blow, propelled by the bat of Frank Hayes, Mack's young backstop, sending Pinky Higgins home first, broke a 6-all deadlock.

The Victory pulled the A's into a 1-to-1 tie in the scheduled five-game city series.

Joe Cascarella, recently obtained from Jersey City; Bill Dietrich, and Bob Kline, each served three innings and held the Phils to a half-dozen safe blows. The A's touched "Jumbo Jim" Elliott, Phil Collins and a newcomer, Krider, for 10 safeties.

The Phils scored in the first and on a three-run rally in the third pulled out in front 4-1. With Jimmy Fox contributing a double to bring in two tallies, the A's registered five runs in the fourth. The Phils came through with a pair of runs in the sixth to pull up even, and the tie lasted until Hayes' homer rocketed over the fence in the ninth.

Atlanta League Completes Plans

The Atlanta league met Tuesday night and completed plans for the season. A schedule was adopted to start on April 21 with Postal Employes playing at Grinnell, Exposition Mills at Linen Supply, Fort McPherson Headquarters Company at Kraft Cheese and Southern Spring Bed Co. at Linen Service. All teams paid in franchise fees and turned in players' lists.

This is one of the few eight-club leagues to operate this year, and is probably the most evenly balanced one in the city. Most of the teams are new and good games should be plentiful.

Vance Red Shirt Yarn All Hooey, The Dazzler Says

MACON, Ga., April 10.—(AP)—Dazzy Vance's face may be red, but not his shirt.

Asked here today as to the condition of the famous scarlet garment, about which much has been written, the Cincinnati speed-baller said it it never existed.

"I've never worn a red shirt on a ball field in my life before this spring, and it's just like the ones that the club gave every other member of the Reds when Larry MacPhail decided to dress us a la P. T. Barnum freaks.

"I've read a thousand times about that shirt. I've had people to swear that they have seen me in it, but it's just a case of what I call 'enthusiastic lying' or mistaken identity.

"Why, even one of the players on the club came up the other day when I had on one of MacPhail's works of art and said, 'Dazzy, I see you've got your red shirt on again.'"

Dazzy is not sure how the fable originated.

"It probably started," he said, "from a typographical error in a newspaper. I guess some sports writer wrote that I wore a rag shirt, and it came out red shirt, and the other boys took it up."

Ryan Literally Sold Himself to Champions

Blondy Asserted Himself at Columbus Meeting and Bill Terry Bought Him.

By Ralph McGill.

There have been a lot of stories about the blond kid who broke into the Giants' line-up last season when Travis Jackson went out with a bad knee. Yesterday I asked Bill Terry, manager of the Giants, for the story.

"Say," he said, "that was funny. I'd never seen him in uniform. It was at the baseball meeting in Columbus, Ohio. I saw him there and we had a mug of beer together.

"And then I asked him what he thought about my giving him a shot with the Giants.

"'That,' he said, 'is what I came over here to do—get you to give me a job!' He's got the nerve of a steel worker, that guy. I told him if he would guarantee his arm was all right I'd buy him. He said it was. And so I bought him."

RELIEF FOR JACKSON.

Ryan is to play as relief man for Travis Jackson this year. But should Jackson's legs fold up again the one-time Cracker player will be in there.

Ryan isn't a hitter. He has been hitless most of this spring. He batted well below .300 last season. But he has a genius for hitting when hits mean runs. Two of his most infrequent home runs won ball games.

He isn't a great fielder. But when he does make a great stop it wins a ball game.

He sent a telegram last year when he was out and the Giants were skidding a bit. It read, "They can't beat us." Analyzed it is a trite message. And yet it was a wire read around the world. He was the one spot of color on the Giant club.

And he had that amazing genius for coming up and doing the unexpected.

WITH ATLANTA.

Ryan was with the Atlanta club in 1931. That year he was minus the genius of 1933. He hit .276 and fielded just .923. The fans didn't like his style.

And yet the spirit of the kid and "the nerve of a burglar" made him one of the outstanding stars of the 1933 World Series.

Ryan said he believed the Giants to be 30 per cent stronger this year than last.

"We played through a series and won it," he said. "That makes us 10 per cent stronger. We have Jackson and I who can play short. We have a good relief for Bill Terry if he should get hurt. We are stronger in the outfield and our pitchers will all go better.

"I think we are a cinch to win the pennant once more. It looks like a great race. The Cardinals figure to be our toughest opposition."

RABBIT HAS SPIRIT.

He thinks Rabbit Maranville will get back in the game. "He has that spirit," said Ryan. "He would give a leg any time trying to score. A broken leg won't keep him out. His loss will hurt the Braves."

And so he went on to dress for the game. He's been 19 consecutive times at bat without a hit. But he isn't discouraged. He hasn't even thought of it. He'll bust one when it's needed.

"The nerve of a steeplejack," said Terry. Which is just another way of saying he has that competitive spirit which doesn't recognize odds.

Shooting Popular At Winder Club

WINDER, Ga., April 10.—So popular was Winder's opening of its new gun club Saturday afternoon, it was announced today that another will be held next Saturday afternoon.

A large crowd of visitors from Atlanta, Athens, Commerce and Monroe were present and many said they will return again Saturday.

MARIST DOWNS DRUID HILLS, 7-4

Marist College defeated Druid Hills, 7 to 4, in 11 innings on the Druid Hills diamond in the feature of the fourth round of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference schedule. In the other games, Commercial beat Marietta, 12 to 8, at Marietta, and Decatur won from North Fulton at Decatur. Fulton beat Russell Monday afternoon in the other game.

Shaner pitching for Marist kept four hits well scattered. Eight errors on the part of his mates contributed largely to the four runs and forced the game into extra innings. He struck out 16 batters.

Woodall pitched for Druid Hills and kept 10 hits scattered until the eleventh inning when an error and a single scored the winning run. Two more runs were made before Marist was retired. Hit's single scored York with what proved Marist's winning run in the eleventh inning:

DECATUR WINS.

Decatur had little trouble in winning from North Fulton, 14 to 0, at Decatur. Burgess struck out eight batters and gave up only two hits during his five innings on the mound. Webster pitched two innings and gave up another hit.

Every member of the Decatur team hit well and when runners were in scoring positions.

McCarthy Seeking To Restore Punch

JACKETS LOSE TO 'GATORS, 18-6

By Roy White.

Florida's bats picked up where they left off Monday afternoon, and hit when runners were in scoring positions Tuesday afternoon to defeat Georgia Tech, 18 to 6, on the Rose Bowl field. It was an even break for Tech in the two-game series, as the Jackets won out 3 to 2 Monday afternoon.

Tech lost Tuesday's game, but Coach Bobby Dodd gave the fans something rarely ever seen on the diamond when he sent "Mucho" Lyons to the box in the seventh inning to check Florida's batting spree.

Tech lost the ball game, but Coach Dodd gave the fans a double-barrel hurler that fired away with both hands. And Florida's bats were checked.

"Mucho" Lyons, a husky sophomore lineman on the football team, was Dodd's "hidden phenomenon," who came to the rescue in the seventh inning and won the hearts of the fans by so doing.

The sophomore has been used chiefly as a pinch hitter in previous games, but Mike Chambers, the Tech trainer, persuaded Coach Dodd to let him "chunk" a while. And he did well, holding the 'Gators to a single and no runs in the seventh inning.

Beck, first up, walked with Lyons pitching right-handed. Preist singled down the firstbase line, sending Beck to third. Lyons pitched left-handed to Carroll, who walked after a three-two counts on him. Bostwick hit into a double play and Moore flied out to end the inning and game, as it was too dark to continue. It was not a bad inning for a relief pitcher who was "cold."

In addtion to checking the Florida attack, Lyons secured a single in his only trip to the plate. Florida's hitting, particularly in the pinches, was the feature in the victory. Moore secured two home runs. Roberts hit another and Preist belted one for the circuit.

So effective was the 'Gator hitting that only seven runners were left stranded on the bases and Coach Clemons' players took advantage of nine walks, two wild pitches and a hit batter.

In addition to the home runs, Beck, Carroll and Plummer hit well for Florida.

John McKinley started for Tech but was wild and was taken out in the third inning. He gave up eight hits, seven runs, walked five and made a wild pitch. Carpenter also was ineffective and Lyons pitched the last inning for Tech.

Tutt pitched three innings and limited the Jackets to one hit, a double by Ferguson. Tutt was wild in the third and Tech scored three runs without the aid of a hit. Three walks, two hit batters and an error let the three runs cross the plate. Bostwick relieved Tutt and coasted

Cochet Troupe To Appear Later

Because of inability to make train connections, Henri Cochet, Martin Plaa, Bruce Barnes and Vincent Richards will not appear in exhibition tennis matches Saturday afternoon at the Biltmore Club.

Officials of the club were informed over long-distance that it would be impossible to make the jump from Huntington, W. Va., following matches there Friday night.

Club officials said, however, that the famous troupe would be brought here later in the season. No other matches are planned for Saturday.

Harder and Lee Hurl for Tribe and Take Close Game.

By Jimmy Jones.

It looks as if the Indian sign is going to stay on Bill Terry's New York Giants until they can shake off their traveling companions, the Cleveland Indians.

At any rate, it is probably a good thing that the Indians are in the American league and not the National, in view of their penchant for trimming the champions in the most sensational manner on this barnstorming junket of theirs through the provinces.

They went out and beat the Giants again yesterday in their Atlanta appearance, 4 to 3, this being the sixth time they have done it in nine games played on the tour.

AVERILL IS VILLAIN.

This time it was Earl Averill, the Indians' slugging centerfielder, and not Joe Vosmik, the clouting Bohemian, who brought about the downfall of the champions.

Averill, a left-handed hitter who dearly loves the sight of a short rightfield fence, opened the seventh by cracking out a home run off Harold Schumacher, one of Terry's aces, that broke a 3-3 tie and ended the ball game in so far as the Giants were concerned. The latter could not touch left-handed Thornton Lee, one of the Indians' rookies, who had relieved Mel Harder in the eighth and ninth.

Averill's home run not only settled the issue, but brought the former "Big Train" of the Washington pitching staff, Walter Johnson, out on the infield to remonstrate with Umpire Bill Klem on the hit. Averill, after laying the ball up on the bank behind a signboard in deep right center, had jogged on around to third and stopped.

Manager Johnson had understood that under the ground rules it was a home run, so out charged the Big Train, who as a pitcher rarely protested any umpire's decision, to have a talk with Klem. The latter nodded his head and waved Averill on around, however, before Johnson quite came within speaking range. Nevertheless, Old Barney had a little talk with the umpire, maybe in apology.

GOOD GAME.

It was a good ball game all the way and that drive by Averill was just the punch it needed to put on the finishing touch. It deserved a better turnout than the 1,500 which saw it, but maybe Atlantans are growing a bit jaded with exhibition games, since they have had one a day since April 1.

Each club had one big inning up to the seventh. The Indians had theirs in the fourth when they got three runs on a triple by "Bad News" Hale, the third baseman, a base on balls to Hal Trosky, Eddie Moore's double and a single by Pitcher Harder. They really got after Schumacher, who was the Giants' No. 2 star last year, in that inning.

The Giants came back with two in the fifth on a rally which Pitcher Schumacher himself started with a single. "Lefty" O'Doul doubled behind him. Eddie Moore made a great play to toss out George Watkins at first, but Schumacher scored on the play. Then O'Doul scored when Spencer, who had replaced Frank Pytlak as the Indians' catcher, very carelessly threw the ball back to the pitcher's box.

Paul Richards, the young catcher who understudies Gus Mancuso, tied the score for the Giants with a single to left in the sixth, scoring Johnny Vergez, who had doubled.

SCHUMACHER ALL WAY.

Bill Terry sent Schumacher all the way and the former St. Lawrence University star, who is experimenting with a change of pace, was rapped rather lustily by the Indians. They particularly went after his slow ball when he threw it, taking a toe-hold on it and hitting it solidly. Schumacher was effective as long as he stuck to his curve and fast one.

Travis Jackson, upon whose legs the Giants' chances to repeat this year depend heavily, looked good at shortstop, making several nice plays. He seems all right now and will be if his legs hold up.

"Blondy" Ryan, the ex-Cracker who did such a great job of subbing for Jackson last year, played second base and did not get a hit.

Eddie Moore, who Walter Johnson says is pretty apt to be his regular second baseman, had a fine day and looked very impressive at second base.

CRACKERS RETURN.

The Atlanta Crackers, who played the Cincinnati Reds in Macon yesterday, are back home today and will meet the Redlegs here at 3 o'clock. They lost yesterday's game, 13-2.

Manager Abbott designated Thomas and Parker to pitch against the Reds, who are fortified with a new manager, Bob O'Farrell, and numerous new players, including Ivy (Chick) Shiver, the former Georgia Bulldog; Comorosky and Piet from the Pirates; Mark Koenig and Dazzy Vance, not mentioning Chick Hafey and Jim Bottomley, with the club last year.

The Reds have a new owner, Mr. Crosley, the radio man, and he is now engaged in building up the club, just as Mr. Yawkey is doing with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Abbott failed to get Joe Bowman, who is going to be kept by the Giants, yesterday. He did not accompany the Crackers to Macon, but was not greatly worried by the team's one-sided loss.

CHAMPS PICKED AS REPEATERS IN ANNUAL POLL

Chuck Klein Expected To Give Bruins Needed Punch.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—The world champion New York Giants, with an unparalleled record for defiance of opposition, criticism or prediction, have now had the issue put squarely in their own hands for the 1934 National league baseball season.

They stood out today as the choice of the major league experts to repeat their championship triumph, with the Chicago Cubs as their most serious menace in another typical National league pennant scramble.

The last time the Giants were picked to win they "showed up" the experts by finishing third. With one exception, the New York club has defied forecast ever since the Associated Press pennant poll was inaugurated in 1927. The late John J. McGraw's 1930 outfit was selected to run third and actually did so, to their own as well as everybody else's surprise.

GIANTS' RECORD.

Year	Picked	Finished
1927	2	3
1928	4	2
1929	1	3
1930	3	3
1931	4	2
1932	2	6
1933	6	1
1934	1	?

The experts, seemingly fearful they are likely to be located one jump behind the parade again, have not given the world champions an overwhelming vote of confidence in this spring's pre-season consensus.

Of a total of 91 writers and editors contributing their opinions, 40 named the Giants to repeat and 34 picked the Chicago Cubs to land on top. Twenty-three other voters were scattered among the "big five," with the Cardinals receiving 13, the Pirates 9 and Braves 1.

KLEIN MAIN ONE.

The vote of the experts is striking testimony to their belief that Chuck Klein, the ex-Phillie flogger, will be more help to the Cubs than Red Lucas, former Cincinnati pitcher, will be to the Pirates. These were two of the winter's outstanding additions to the rosters of pennant-contending clubs. The Cubs are favored to give the Giants the stiffest argument despite the fact the Pirates finished second last year.

Th lack of support for the Braves also is conspicuous. The Boston club was a hot contender up until the first of September last season and finished fourth, a few points above the Cardinals. Now the consensus is that Bill McKechnie's crew, minus Rabbit Manranville, will do no better than fifth for 1934.

Here's the box score on the National league poll, showing the number of selections for each club for each position:

Team	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
New York	40	27	23	7	—	—	—	—
Chicago	34	31	18	10	3	1	—	—
Pittsburgh	9	30	36	25	4	3	—	—
St. Louis	13	17	17	36	7	5	2	—
Boston	1	1	2	12	61	9	7	4
Brooklyn	—	—	1	1	10	30	29	26

Cincinnati	—	—	—	1	5	29	26	34

City Leaguers Ready for Play

Final arrangements for the 1934 baseball season were made at a meeting of the City league at Trammell Scott's store Tuesday night. All teams handed in lists of players, paid their franchise fees, and made their selection of umpires to handle the games for the coming Saturday. "Watermelon" Young, an experienced umpire from Chattanooga, was chosen to handle the Black & White-Gaylord game at Grant park, and "Tarbaby" Barber will call them for Standard Oil and Fort McPherson at the Fort. The game at Fort McPherson will start at 2 o'clock. Southern Railway and Atlantic Steel will baptise the Steel Company's new diamond this week.

Alabama Sweeps Old Miss Series

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 10.—(AP)—Breaking loose for eight runs in the eighth inning, the Crimson Tide defeated the University of Mississippi today, 10 to 0, to sweep the two-game series. L. Scott, Alabama hurler, allowed only eight hits and was seldom in danger. Seven hits and three walks accounted for the eight runs in the Tide's big inning. Walker hit a home run for Alabama.

Bryan Grant In Second Round

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10.—(AP)—Seeded performers in the annual north and south tennis tournament advanced through first-round matches here today without a single upset.

Frank X. Shields, of New York, seeded No. 1, breezed through the Ankh-Amen is his idea of beauty, versity of North Carolina player, 6-0, 6-0, and then polished off Nick Ashby, Duke University team member, in love sets in a second-round engagement.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, and Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, seeded No. 2 and 3, respectively, advanced by defaults, while the two Canadians, Walter Martin, of Toronto, and Marcel Rainville, of Montreal, heading the "foreign" seeded list, met little opposition.

Martin defeated Frank Sulloway, of Concord, N. H., 6-0, 6-1, in a first-round match and later eliminated Lawrence Jones, of the University of North Carolina, 6-1, 6-2, in a second-round match. Rainville played but one match, defeating Robert Mauchel, New York, 6-1, 6-4.

Bryan Grant, diminutive star from Atlanta and ranked fourth in the domestic seedings, also got a free ride into the second round when his opponent defaulted.

George Lott, of Chicago, ranked fifth, moved forward on the default of Ed Nelson, of Pinehurst, while J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., who is seeded sixth, brushed aside Barney Fry, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., 6-1, 6-1, and later vanquished Sid Weinstein, of the University of North Carolina, 6-2, 6-2, in the second round.

Lopez To Captain Brooklyn Team

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 10. Al Lopez' persistent holdout campaign against the Brooklyn Dodgers apparently didn't do him any harm. He has been named captain of the team, an honor that adds $500 to his season's pay.

Buford Wallops Georgia, 21 to 1.

BUFORD, Ga., April 10.—With Bob Hasty, pitching good baseball all the way, Buford's Shoemakers defeated Catfish Smith's University of Georgia nine, 21 to 1, here this afternoon. It was a postponed game from early in the season.

Hasty limited the Bulldogs to six widely scattered hits, and was never in serious trouble. He also aided his own game with four hits in six trips to the plate.

Herrin hit best for Buford, with four for five.

ATLANTA STARS LEAVE TODAY FOR BIG SHOOT

Albany Event Thursday Draws Shooters From Many States.

By Jack Troy.

They fly through the air with the greatest of ease, like the graceful young man on the flying trapeze. But the thousands of clay pigeons that are released in the Georgia state trap shoot at Radium Springs Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be fairly easy prey for the crack field of southern shooters that will compete.

An Atlanta star, Hal McKenzie, won the championship last year with a brilliant 196x200. But chances are it will take a trifle better showing to win this week. McKenzie will return to defend his championship.

Miami, Fla., fairly close to the tip of the Florida peninsula, will send a squad of skeet stars to compete in the first skeet events ever included in the state championship.

STRONG ENTRY.

Both in the trap and skeet divisions Atlanta will present a bold bid for leading honors. Some of the best shooting being accomplished in the country today is occurring right in our midst.

Besides McKenzie, Atlanta will be represented by such stars as J. P. Pullin, of McDonough, who shoots here frequently; Jack Gray, Al Frese, Jack Tway, Charles Tway, Benson Freeman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClain, H. C. Moore, Buddy Jones, M. E. Hicks, Tom Cassells, Bill Healey, Clyde King, J. C. Calhoun, R. J. Minehan, Charles Nunnally, L. E. Grant, J. K. Orr, C. L. Davis, I. B. Duke, W. A. Parker, H. N. Alford, Hugh Nunnally, John Grant, J. R. Cothran and H. D. Freeman.

Shooters from all over the southland will gather at Radium Springs to fire for the various championships. Among the leaders are Paul Earl, Starr, S. C.; E. Bishop, Bradenton, Fla.; R. C. Coffey, president of the A. T. A., who winters in Eustis; Colonel W. R. Taylor, Eustis; T. B. Deen, Jacksonville; Arthur Cuscaden, Tampa; Walter Huff, Macon; J. B. Royal, Florida state trap shoot champion, and E. E. Bush, Tallahassee; D. W. Glenn and Tack Hole Lee, Birmingham; John McCluskey and W. C. Ivey and W. W. Stoddard, Savannah.

LEAVE TODAY.

The vanguard of Atlanta shooters will leave early today for Radium Springs. Among the "early birds" will be Jack and Charles Tway, Jack Gray, Al Frese and others. Buddy Jones and Captain M. E. Hicks are already on the scene.

There will be crack shots from Florida, Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina and other southern states in the competition. The state shoot has attracted one of the finest competitive fields in years.

Radium Springs, the perfect host club, is anticipating a grand three-day event. And it is certain to be just that. Thirty-nine beautiful trophies are to be awarded.

The trap-shooting tournament will consist of 600 targets. There will be 200 16-yard targets on Thursday, opening day. The first 100 will constitute the first 100 of the Georgia class championship. The second hundred will constitute the first 100 of the Georgia singles championship.

Another opening day feature will be the skeet inaugural hundred, celebrating the opening of the skeet field. There will be trophies for actual high gun, high gun with added birds and runner-up high gun with added birds.

On Friday morning there will be another 200 16-yard target event. As on opening day, the first hundred will constitute the second hundred of the Georgia class championship, and the second hundred will constitute the second hundred of the Georgia singles championship.

In the afternoon there will be the preliminary 100 in skeet. Trophies will be awarded in the same manner as in the inaugural hundred.

Saturday morning the Georgia handicap championship of 100 targets will be fired, followed by the Georgia doubles of 100 targets, or 50 pair.

In the afternoon there will be the Radium Springs skeet championship of 100 targets. Trophies will be given for actual high gun, high gun with added birds and professional high gun. This is to be the only pro trophy.

Calhoun Wins Capitol Shoot.

Jimmy Calhoun left-handed the flying clay pigeons into submission yesterday afternoon at the Capitol Gun Club as he won the silver sherbet shoot with an excellent 52x50 with handicap.

Jack Tway finished one bird behind. Other scores were Charles Nunnally, 50; Clyde King, 49; Jack Gray, 49; Hugh Nunnally, 47; J. K. Orr, 44, Jack Troy, 43.

A DAY IN THE WOODS.

Waa—Waa.

Now let the nations rise or fall,
Or work their will as best they may;
Where, just above, the maples call
And, just below, the brook trout play,
The crowded streets, the haunted faces
Are somewhere in another life;
Where, off here in the hidden places,
A hooked trout is the only strife.

Ten thousand leagues away, or more,
The worn and haggard hold their ruts.
The wild fan babbles of the score,
The duffer growls about his putts.
But, just above me, now, clear ringing,
The brown thrush warbles in the pine,
And, just below, the brook is singing
The while I wish their songs were mine.

Yes, I should be at work, I know,
For duty beckons back to town.
But through the trees the golden glow
Of April's morning sun drifts down.
And, after all, what is ambition
With all its gay and gaudy gleams,
Compared to the complete fruition
Of "peace, contentment, rest and dreams?"

TILDEN SAYS HARD USE WINDS SPRING IN LEGS.

If there is any such thing as a miracle in sport you can hang this trade-mark to the pair of long, thin legs belonging to Bill Tilden.

Ten years ago, I thought Ty Cobb had the most amazing pair of legs any game had ever known. At that time, he had driven those legs at top speed for 20 years and they were still moving him along in a hurry.

In watching Big Bill bound around over southern tennis courts, as quick and as springy as ever, you sit and grope for the answer. For Tilden has far less trouble with his legs at the age of 41 than he had at 30 or 35.

I recall some years ago when Tilden was badly worried over a dislocated, or floating cartilage in one knee.

He was limping on a bad leg when he lost to Johnny Doeg in his final amateur stand in 1930.

Now he is playing four or five hard matches a week, 20 or more sets, at top speed, and there isn't a kink in his transportation. And, when Bill draws an off day, he reports to the courts for a three-set workout.

"What's the answer?" I asked him.

"The best answer I know," Bill remarked, "is to knock on wood.

"A few years ago I had a hunch that my legs had just about finished most of their hard work. I'd certainly given them plenty in the way of hard usage. Here it is seven or eight years later and I honestly believe they will still be moving me around in good shape when I am 45."

"Still," I suggested, "there must be some answer."

"The best answer I can think of," Tilden replied, "is this—I've spent a big part of my life bounding around on this same pair of legs. That goes back for 25 years. All this work or play has seasoned them or toughened them. I've kept them in condition by using them, with little rest.

The Big Difference.

"If I laid off for a few months now I don't believe I would ever get them in shape again.

"Here's the difference," he continued. "A ball player uses his legs from March through September and then lays off the next five or six months. The fighter goes in training for one or two big fights a year and does little or no road work the other six or eight months.

"Leg muscles and leg fiber begin to soften up through these long periods of rest. All this begins to count when one has slipped past 30.

"Take the case of Dempsey. Jack had a great pair of legs when he was 24—the year he met Willard. Seven years later, against Gene Tunney, his legs were fading fast. Why? Because he had gone three years without a fight and little road work. If Dempsey had given his legs as much hard work as I have given mine for 25 years it could have made a tremendous difference.

"I know several magicians and sleight-of-hand artists," Tilden continued. "Those whose tricks demand great skill with hands and fingers practice an hour or more a day, every day, year after year. I have heard them say if they quit for six months the muscular control and the perfect touch and timing they need would never come back—not nearly up to the old mark.

"It takes plenty of hard work to reach the top. It takes even more hard work—continued hard work—to remain there. I'm pretty sure I've played more hard tennis over a long stretch of time than anyone else—more than 20 years of almost continued tennis."

"Don't you ever get stale?" I asked.

"Almost never," Tilden said, "because I love the game. I get as big a thrill today as I ever got in my life—perhaps an even bigger thrill. That's one reason why Fred Perry is champion. There are others possibly just as good. But Perry loves tennis. More than almost anyone I know. He can play week after week, month after month, and still be just as keen as ever.

"I don't think we have many young tennis players in the upper ranks, who like the game as well as they might. They don't get the thrill they should from the game itself. They don't love it well enough to learn how it should be played—to go through the grind and discipline and training needed to play every type of stroke. Maybe it isn't that important? It should be if you are going to do little else but play tennis."

A. W. G. A. STARTS TOURNEYMONDAY

Atlanta women golfers will start their annual tournament schedule next Monday morning on the Ansley Park course, it was announced Tuesday, following the annual meeting and election of officers. A tournament schedule was planned and will be announced within a few days.

Mrs. O. B. Keeler was re-elected president for the ensuing year. Mrs. Charlie Black Jr. was named vice president, and Mrs. Guy Butler was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. O. W. Miller was named to head the membership committee. Mrs. C. E. Williamson will be in charge of the handicap committee and Mrs. Max Mentzer will head the tournament committee.

Club representatives elected are Mrs. W. H. Vaughan, East Lake; Mrs. M. T. Edgerton, Druid Hills; Mrs. Clyde King Jr., Ansley Park, and Mrs. John Stewart, Capital City.

The opening tournament will be a handicap affair and the qualifying round will be played Monday. There will be no entry fee, but only those women who are members of the association will be eligible to participate.

Bill Terry minces no words. He is what is known as a "cold turkey talker." He talks turkey. One never has to guess what Bill Terry thinks.

He worries some. "Say," he said, "when things go wrong I sometimes sit up half the night and just think. Not about anything in particular. But just think."

RATES HUBBELL HIGH.

"Hubbell won 23 games for me last year," said Terry. "He tied one at 14 innings and he lost one by a 1-to-0 score. He relieved in six games. I guess altogether he was responsible for about 30 ball games.

Which happens to be a lot of ball games. And this year Hal Schumacher and Roy Parmalee, especially the first, are in better shape.

Someone asked Terry about young players in the major leagues. "If they haven't got it you can't teach it to them, can you, Bill?"

"No, sir. You can help a fellow if he has it but if he hasn't all the help in the world won't do. If I see a young fellow has it I never give up on him. If he hasn't I don't fool around with him."

Georgia's Great Outdoors

Requests for fish bulletins continue to come in. The game and fish department is still pushing the campaign to get more fish ponds on Georgia farms. If you haven't a fish pond, get in touch with us and let us help you get the thing built. You can make more from one acre of water properly cultivated than you can from an acre of the best Georgia farm land that can be bought. If you want fresh fish for your table at any time, you can have them. If you want to make a money crop of fish and sell them, you can do that, but you have to have a state license to sell fresh water fish. If you want to sell fishing rights on your place, that can be done also. And if you have a good pond with a lot of water plants and duck foods, you will find that your pond will will become a depot for migratory waterfowl. Some will stay with you all winter if they are not hunted. It is hoped that all pond owners will make their places attractive to ducks without selling the hunting rights. Ducks need protection. They are at the low level of their population now, and if they are not protected for several years in very rigid style, it is entirely too possible that many of our most desirable kinds will become extinct.

Southwestern Plays Five Tennis Matches

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 10.—(AP) Southwestern Colege will open its tennis schedule here Saturday with four singles and two doubles matches against the University of Mississippi

April 27—Millsaps at Jackson.
April 28—Vicksburg Tennis Club at Vicksburg.

SARPOLIS WINS AT AUDITORIUM; SLAGLE IS GOOD

Atlanta's fans were treated to a rare exhibition of wrestling and contortionist movements Tuesday night at the city auditorium as Sol Slagle, the eastern favorite, won over Tom Marvin the Oklahoma Indian. It was the semi-final of Henry Weber's card and won the praise of the fans.

In the main attraction, Dr. Karl Sarpolis won in straight falls over Darv Roche, the Pennsylvanian, who gave George Zaharias such a battle last week.

Slagle worried Marvin no little with his peculiar movements in the ring and won the match in 45 minutes with a series of back body drops. He is the wrestler who recently forced Joe Savoldi, the former Notre Dame football star, to give up in a New York ring.

In conquering Marvin, Slagle proved one of the cleanest wrestlers ever to appear here. He was never warned for illegal tactics and broke cleanly at every command, and exhibited some clever defensive wrestling.

Dr. Sarpolis won one of the quickest falls ever recorded here when he pined Roche with a flying tackle in 10 seconds. He rushed right into Roche and before the crowd had settled, one fall was recorded. He came back 40 minutes later to win the match with the same hold, after being on the defensive end of a punishing arm lock for the major part of the time.

KEY TO HOLD GOLF TOURNEY

Qualifying rounds can be played any time between now and the 22d, Davis said. In order to be able to participate in the tournament, members must pay their dues amounting to $1 apiece.

Golfers joining the James L. Key Association before the 22d will be eligible to play in the tournament.

White Golfers Organize Thursday.

A meeting to organize the John A. White Golf Association will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the clubhouse, Jeff Modie, professional, announced last night.

George Simons, superintendent of city parks, will be present at the meeting. Some 60 golfers are interested in the association, Modie said, and an enthusiastic meeting is expected.

JOINS GIANTS.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—(UP)—Clydell Castleman, pitcher of the Nashville team, was to leave here tonight for Richmond, Va., where he will sign a contract with the New York Giants, according to Charley Dressen, Nashville manager.

CORRECT
INCORRECT
230

Alex Morrison says:

In the days when players strove to be in certain positions at the finish of the swing the "check stroke" was quite popular. In this stroke the clubhead was stopped close to the ground soon after the ball had been hit.

Obviously, the effort to stop the club in this position very often led to checking the speed of the clubhead before it reached the ball. Bobby Jones has come to agree with what I have always advocated—a perfectly natural finish.

About this Bob recently said: "When the swing has passed through the location of the ball the momentum of the club simply draws a willing body around to the end of the swing."

Johnson 'Sold' On Eddie Moore

Eddie Moore, the chunky chap who played shortstop for the Crackers away back in the early twenties, has done a big league comeback with the Cleveland Indians.

Eddie has played so sensationally at second base for the Indians since he was taken off the roster of the New Orleans Pelicans, that Walter Johnson is going to keep him there.

"He's added a lot of punch and hustle to our infield and has helped us win a great many spring games; he suits me fine," Johnson said in speaking of Moore yesterday.

Cleveland took Moore from the New Orleans club to bolster its infield—considered the most doubtful department of the team and for years a weakness of the Indians, who have a great outfield and good pitching.

Last year, Eddie batted .309 for New Orleans and played great ball at third for Larry Gilbert, being largely responsible for that club's pennant and Dixie Series.

Johnson switched him to second base this spring, so that he could move Odell Hale to third to capitalize on his hitting. If Knickerbocker does not come through at short, Johnson may shift Hale there and put the veteran Willie Kamm back on third, where he has been playing for several seasons.

YANKEES BEAT LOOKOUTS, 14-3; M'FAYDEN WINS

Danny First To Go Route for New York Club This Season.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—The New York Yankees poled 19 hits today to defeat Chattanooga, of the Southern association, 14 to 3, and break a three-game losing streak.

Ben Chapman drove in four runs, collecting a double and a home run. Lazzeri got four hits, and Combs three. Barfoot and Piechota did the pitching for the Chats and were easy victims for the Yankees.

Danny MacFayden went the full nine innings, being the first Yankee pitcher to go the route this spring. He gave nine hits but the locals only got to him for runs in the first and the ninth innings.

DODGERS ROMP.

RICHMOND, Va., April 10.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers went on a scoring spree today, cracking out 26 hits off three pitchers to defeat the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont league, 25 to 7.

In mauling the minor leaguers, the Dodgers scored eight runs in the second and 10 more in the fifth and failed to cross the plate in only two innings. Arthur Jones and Ray Benge, dividing the Dodgers' pitching assignment, allowed 11 hits but there was no reason to bear down.

BARONS LOSE.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 10.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers trimmed the Birmingham Barons of the Southern association, 13 to 6, here today, in an exhibition game in which the Tigers looked decidedly off form at time, with five errors charged against them.

Fred Marberry, hurling the first five innings for the Tigers, was nicked for six runs on one home run, two triples, a double and four singles. Tommy Bridges finished the game without being touched.

REGULARS WIN.

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs regulars defeated the reserves, 11 to 1, today in the first of four intra-club games, behind a four-hit pitching job by Bill Lee, recruit right-hander from Columbus.

Lee deprived himself of a shutout by walking three men after Dolph Camilli singled in the eighth. The hits off Lee, all singles, were well scattered. The regulars collected 14 hits off Dick Ward, another rookie.

LINKE GOOD.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Ed Linke, the reformed fat boy who looked great to Joe Cronin at training camp, lost more pounds today in the seventh inning of an exhibition game that Washington lost to the Boston Braves, 5 to 2.

Ed went in for a brief workout after Mark Filley, young right-hander borrowed from Albany, had held the visitors scoreless for five innings.

He mowed down Urbanski, first Brave to face him, and breezed through that inning. But Moore landed on him for a single to center in the seventh. Whitney doubled, Jordan Lee and Worthington walked and Thompson singled before Harriss grabbed Urbanski's fly for the first out.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Stocks today more than recovered their losses for the two previous markets. Bonds were firmer in the speculative than in the gilt-edge section, the latter having had most of the play last week.

Share traders found cheer in a number of quarters. Settlement of the motor products strike, a substantial gain in March shipments of the leading steel producer, optimistic comment of executives at some annual stockholders' meetings, additional improvement for metal prices, a good report on last month's automobile production, the senate's elimination of the extra 10 per cent income tax and additional tempering of the regulation bill were prominent items on the market's bill of fare. Activity increased to 1,417,722 shares.

Motor company equities led the upturn, which needed many gains of fractions to a couple of points throughout the general list. Nash was an exception in its division, losing about two points on news of the dividend omission.

Utilities held back, obviously because of the state senate's change of heart with respect to Governor Lehman's power program.

American Telephone, which has been drifting lower since the Splawn report was published, rallied more than a point. Alcohol issues improved and rails firmed.

Mining shares developed few features.

Corporation meetings which helped provide a background favorable to rising prices included the gathering of Bethlehem's stockholders who were told by President Grace that he hoped the second quarter would show a profit.

Automobile output is now around its seasonal top, having been held back by labor controversies and mechanical troubles with new models. The estimate for last month placed output 49 per cent above February and 208 per cent over a year ago.

FIRM TONE NOTED IN CURB DEALINGS

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—A firmer tone prevailed in curb exchange dealings today. Utilities and alcohols closed about unchanged, but metals showed fractional improvement, while some of the oils and specialties rallied more vigorously.

Gulf Oil gained 2 points and Humble rose 1 in an active flurry. South Pennsylvania Oil also added a point. Novadel Agene soared more than 4 in a nominal transfer. Schiff Company and Aluminum Company of America were up 2 each, while issues finishing substantial fraction to a point or so higher included Newmont, Lake Shore, Fisk Rubber, Libby McNeill, Automatic Voting, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and United States Foil Company.

STOCK OPINIONS.

BEER & CO.—Tuesday's market action reflected definite improvement in trading sentiment and should be followed by generally higher prices.

COURTS & CO.—The closing levels in the industrials and the rather broad action in the rails would indicate that a constructive attitude to the market is sill advisable.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—We believe hat stocks are slowly working upward again.

COTTON OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—The action of the market Tuesday was a good indication of what is likely to happen after the Bankhead bill is finally enacted into law.

BEER & CO.—We continue to favor buying cotton on recessions.

COURTS & CO.—We are friendly to cotton and believe that in the absence of unfavorable legislative developments, the market will soon begin to feel the effect in a pronounced way of the certainty of only moderate acreage this year and probably a very modest crop.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—We believe that prices in cotton.

GRAIN OPINION.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—There is a good demand for cash wheat though buyers are not inclined to be eager in anticipating future requirements.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Cotton advanced today on trade and commission house buying which was based on Washington reports on proposed silver legislation and prospective action on the Bankhead bill. July contracts sold up to 12.18 and closed at 12.16, with the general market finishing steady at net advances of 10 to 15 points.

Opening prices were 6 to 9 points higher. There was a moderate commission house demand, along with buying for Liverpool and continental account.

Demand for contracts broadened as prices worked upward during the morning. After showing net gains of 12 to 15 points, which carried May up to 12.09 and October to 12.32, trading tapered off and prices reacted some 5 or 6 points from the best in a comparatively quiet early afternoon market.

No selling pressure of an aggressive character developed, however, and there was a renewal of demand in the late trading, probably encouraged by the tone of the grain and stock markets. Closing quotations were within 2 or 3 points of the best on most of the active months, while May closed at 12.05, or 5 points off.

Trading interest focused largely on the news from Washington and the possibilities of silver legislation received a good deal of attention. May liquidation continued during the day, but was absorbed by the trade, with considerable switching reported from near to late months.

Exports today 11,293, making 6,298,219 so far this season. Port receipts 15,949. United States port stocks 3,062,675.

COTTON IN NEW ORLEANS ADVANCES 8 TO 9 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—(AP)—Cotton was a little more active today and prices developed a moderate upward tendency owing to higher Liverpool cables than due, firmer and more active stocks and more favorable advices from Washington as to the Bankhead bill and other pending legislation. The close was steady and near the top, up 8 to 9 points net.

The opening was firmer as Liverpool cables came in much better than due and the Washington news was favorably regarded. Manchester reported a slight improvement in the cloth demand from India and yarns steady.

Port receipts 16,658; for week 36,966; for season 6,914,322; last season 7,717,804. Exports 12,002; for week 21,689; for season 6,158,660; last season 6,202,990. Port stock 3,069,099; last year 4,265,496. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 74,005; last year 93,722. Spot sales at southern markets 8,483; last year 8,371.

Winter Wheat Crop Shows Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—A winter wheat crop considerably under the expected 15 per cent reduction from the five-year average was forecast today in the April 1 report of the crop reporting board.

This year's crop was predicted at 491,793,000 bushels, or 140,368,000 bushels less than the 1927-1931 average of 632,061,000 bushels. The wheat production control campaign seeks to bring about a 15 per cent reduction of that average, which would bring the winter wheat figure down to 537,251,850 bushels.

The winter wheat condition was reported at 74.3 per cent, compared with 59.4 per cent last year and 79.2 per cent for the 1922-31 average. Indications are, the board said, about 14 per cent of the acreage sown last fall has been or will be abandoned.

Farm stocks of wheat on April 1 were reported as 114,647,000 bushels, compared with 182,935,000 bushels last year and the five-year average of about 128,000,000 bushels. Farm disappearance of wheat during the past three months was smaller than during the same period in any of the last seven years.

Sales Increase.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—A sharp increase in the volume of orders received by General Electric Company during the first quarter of 1934 was reported today by Gerard Swope, president. The total was $38,148,654 compared with $25,511,644 for the corresponding period of 1933, a gain of about 50 per cent.

Rail Head To Retire.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—M. H. Cahill, president and chairman of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, has arranged to retire, it was reliably reported in Wall Street today, and a meeting of directors has been slated for tomorrow to consider selection of his successor.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Led by the rails and industrials, bonds continued to mark up "new highs" today in broad and active trading.

Transfers totaled $17,191,000, par value, against $13,877,000 yesterday, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced two-tenths of a point to 86.6, another top since 1931.

The market appeared to be pleased by the adjustment of the major Detroit labor troubles, the spurt in steel production and a substantial gain in the March motor output. A rally in stocks was also a cheering factor.

Among the best rails, up fractions to around 2 points, were some liens of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Denver & Rio Grande, Missouri Pacific and Wabash.

Both Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s were up around 2 points each. Others, up moderately, included loans of American I. G. Chemical, Armour & Co., Potal Telegraph, Warner Quinlan and Texas Corporation. The utilities were somewhat hesitant.

United States government securities were a trifle mixed, as were foreign obligations.

AMERICAN EXPORTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Exports to Europe in February increased to $82,182,000 as compared with the previous February's $51,093,000 and were nearly double the total of imports, $44,756,000 as compared with $26,790,000 for the same period of 1933.

These figures were issued today by the commerce department in a tabulation by countries which showed the grand totals of exports and imports for the month at $162,805,000 and $125,292,000, and the totals for the month at $162,805,000 and $125,292,000, and the totals for the first two months of the year at $335,028,000 and $254,068,000, compared with $222,104,000 and $179,754,000 for the first two months of 1933.

Exports by grand divisions of the globe were:

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—Evening-up for the United States government crop report, together with big export purchases of Canadian wheat, helped today to strengthen wheat values here.

The government crop report, issued after trading was at an end, suggested the 1934 yield of domestic winter wheat would be much less than was generally expected, totalling 491,793,000 bushels, whereas the average of latest unofficial estimates indicated 505,000,000. Price upturns for wheat were also stimulated by senate agricultural committee approval of a silver purchase bill.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-4 to 1-2 higher than yesterday's finish, corn 1-8 to 3-8 up, oats unchanged to 1-4 advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

491,793,000 BUSHELS OF WINTER WHEAT SEEN

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Production of 491,793,000 bushels of winter wheat this year was announced today by the department of agriculture as being indicated from April 1 condtions, as compared with $351,030,000 bushels produced last year, 475,709,000 bushels in 1932 and 632,061,000 bushels, the 1927-31 average.

The indicated production was based on the 41,002,000 acres sown last fall, less probable abandonment, but the crop reporting board said it "made no allowance for reduction of acreage which producers may make in order to comply with present and future wheat contracts" under the agricultural adjustment program.

The condition of winter wheat on April 1 was 74.3 per cent of a normal, compared with 74.3 on December 1 last year, 59.4 a year ago and 79.2, the 1922-31 average.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, April 10.—(UP)—Business improvement asserted itself as a market factor today. Even uncertainty over regulatory legislation could not stem higher prices.

Tonight traders were beginning to be hopeful that this upward surge in business and business enthusiasm soou would be reflected in additional trading. Many advised to buy on dips and retain present commitments. Dips are expected soon. Technically the market would appear to need a selloff in order to adjust itself after nine days of firmness, seven of which saw rising prices and only two declines. These declines have not been sufficient to erase the gains.

MARKET STRONG.

Today's market was strong. Trading opened slow and prices irregular, motors showing improvement. Then at midsession a buying movement started which shot prices up as much as two points. Trading quieted down but the list remained around the highs for the day at the close with motors, merchandising shares and railroads showing good advances.

There are few who expect any sensational rally at the moment. In fact there is some disgust that extraneous influences can so control the market that the industrial reports are neglected. But these business reports, many believe, are sufficient to maintain an equilibrium until legislation is out of the road. The long-term view remained bullish.

FAVORABLE INFLUENCES.

Increase by more than 200,000 tons in United States Steel shipments in March.

Tremendous increase in automobile output, with March the largest for any month since September, 1929.

Little improved tone in the commodity markets with both wheat and cotton showing advancing tendencies under a little more active buying.

Favorable report on a silver monetization bill.

The unfavorable factors were headed, of course, by the dearth of trading blamed on worry over the stock market control bill. This worry continues despite indications that the "teeth" will not be so severe. Other unfavorable factors included:

Car loadings not so favorable as last week.

Utilities still under pressure as result of legislation and investigations.

WAGES INCREASED BY WISCONSIN FIRM

KENOSHA, Wis., April 10.—(AP)—A 10 per cent wage increase for 200 employes of the Mac Whyte Company, makers of wire rope, was announced today by George S. Whyte, president. The increase put employes' earnings virtually back to the 1929 level.

DECREASE IS SHOWN IN FREIGHT LOADINGS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Revenue freight car loadings on the Wabash railroad for the week ended April 7 amounted to 12,283 compared with 13,231 in the previous week and 10,571 in the same week last year.

RAILS, STEEL SHOW BUSINESS UPTURNS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Stockholders of a leading steel manufacturer and three trunk line railways were informed of expanding profits and brighter dividend prospects at annual meetings today.

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, at the annual meeting held in Newark, N. J., said business for the current quarter should go a long way toward earning the preferred dividend, and in reply to a stockholders' question, said "The disposition will be to resume payment on the preferred as soon as possible."

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation has not earned its preferred dividend in full since the first quarter of 1931, and has not paid preferred dividends for the past two years. Bethlehem earned 67 cents a preferred share in the final quarter of 1933, the first profit since the second quarter of 1931. The statement for the first quarter of 1934 will be made April 26. Dividends on the preferred stock are cumulative at the rate of $1.75 quarterly.

Better Dividends.

Stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad, meeting in Philadelphia, were informed by A. J. County, vice president in charge of finance, that as business conditions improve, further dividends would be paid. A 50-cent payment per common share was made last March 15, the first since that date of 1933, when a similar payment was made.

Charles E. Denney, president of the Erie railroad, at the annual meeting here, said first quarter earnings had exceeded advance estimates, and added "I am hopeful about the year and am convinced that if we get a reasonable amount of business the Erie can make an excellent showing."

Dividends Omitted.

Dividends on the first and second preferred shares have been omitted since 1931. Asked regarding prospects of resumption, Denney pointed to the floating debt of approximately $14,000,000, but added, "I don't know that we would have to pay off all of our borrowings before resuming preferred dividends." Net income for the first quarter of this year, with March estimated, was $592,698, contrasting with a deficit of $1,677,792 in the like period of last year.

Charles Donnelly, president of Northern Pacific, told his shareholders assembled in their yearly meeting at New York, that the first three months of 1934 showed a gain in net operating revenues of $2,329,000 over the like period of 1933. He estimated that the iron ore movement from the northwest this year would approximate 30,000,000 tons, compared with 22,000,000 last year.

He said, however, that he could give no assurance of a resumption of dividends in 1934, as a substantial gain in traffic must take place first. The last dividend paid on the capital stock was 75 cents, disbursed February 1, 1932.

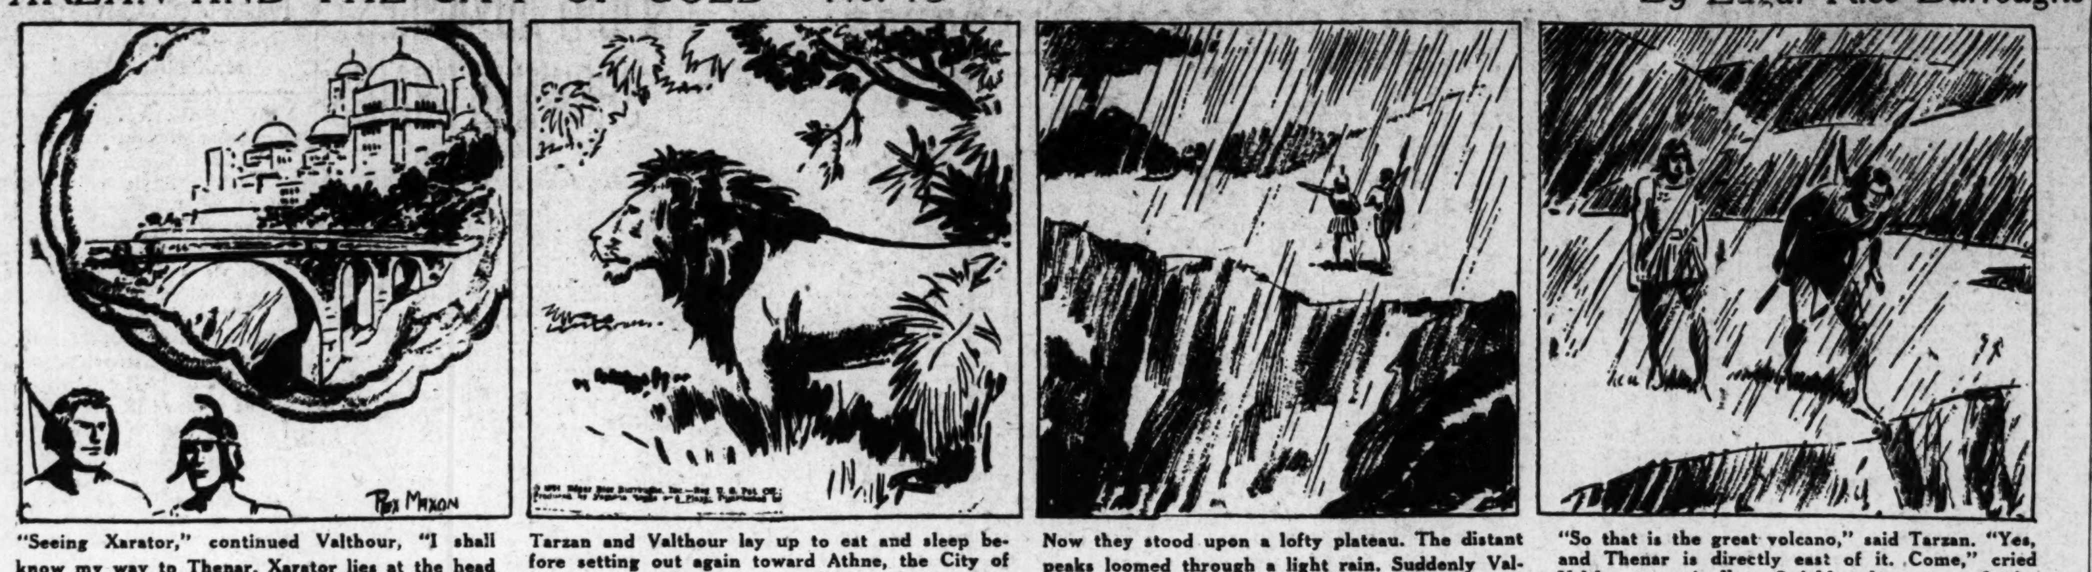
TARZAN AND THE CITY OF GOLD

No. 15

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



"Seeing Xarator," continued Valthour, "I shall know my way to Thenar. Xarator lies at the head of the Valley of Onthar and belongs to the men of Cathne, THE CITY OF GOLD. Athne, the City of Ivory, is the city from which I come, and the men of Cathne are the enemies of my people."

Tarzan and Valthour lay up to eat and sleep before setting out again toward Athne, the City of Ivory. . . . Many weary miles to the south a mighty black-maned, golden-coated lion continued along the mysterious trail he had been following for many days. Why did the beast act so strangely—what was he seeeking? . . .

Now they stood upon a lofty plateau. The distant peaks loomed through a light rain. Suddenly Valthour cried, elated: "We have found it! There is Xarator." Tarzan looked and saw a mighty, flat-topped mountain in the distance above which low clouds reflected a dull red light.

"So that is the great volcano," said Tarzan. "Yes, and Thenar is directly east of it. Come," cried Valthour, excitedly. Quickly they covered the level, grassy ground for a mile or so and came to the edge of the plateau, below which Tarzan saw an unforgettable sight—his first view of Cathne, the City of Gold!

April 12 Is Deadline For Exchanging Bonds

By the Associated Press.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and its branches will act as fiscal agents of the United States in exchanging treasury bonds for fourth Liberty loan bonds called for redemption April 15.

It was announced today that full information is available at member banks of the Atlanta system on the exchange. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau Monday announced that the subscription books for the new treasury bonds would close April 12.

GOVERNMENT AWAITS OUTCOME OF OPERATIONS

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—Whether Uncle Sam will attempt another huge refunding operation next autumn to cut the cost of his borrowing is a question which will be answered this week.

The treasury has until April 15 to announce a plan to call for payment on next October 15 any part of the $4,360,000,000 of the fourth Liberty loan which will then be outstanding.

The treasury has offered new 10-12-year 3 1-4 per cent bonds in exchange for the $1,000,000,000 of the fourth Liberty loan issue which called six months ago as of the coming April 15. For each $1,000,000,000 of the issue, which pays 4 1-4 per cent, which can be refunded on a 3 1-4 per cent basis, the treasury saves $10,000,000 annually in interest charges.

FIRST NATIONAL TO AID IN FEDERAL REFINANCING

The First National Bank of Atlanta, responding to a telegraphic request from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., in Washington, D. C., has placed its facilities at the disposal of holders of the fourth United States Liberty loan four and one-fourth per cent bonds which have been called for redemption April 15.

DOWNFALL OF CURRY BELIEVED AT HAND

Foes of Tammany Chieftain Think His Days in Leadership Are Numbered.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(AP)—The big political show, "The Man in the Tammany Wigwam," which has engrossed the nation for months, neared its finale today.

As a result, the foes of John F. Curry were predicting the hour has arrived for the overthrow of the Hall's white-haired chieftain. It seemed probable that a showdown on the remarkable Tammany conflict was little more than a matter of days.

The Tammany revolution, as startling as any incident in the Hall's century and a half of existence, appears to be waiting only a forced meeting of the county democratic executive committee to touch it off in full force.

There have been widely circulated reports that Curry has been given an ultimatum to "resign, or else." From several of the powerful anti-Curry leaders have come repeated claims that the revolutionaries have called a majority of the 25 votes of the executive committee and are ready to deliver the Hall into the hands of a temporary junta.

Junta rule—or more familiarly, government by a "steering committee" of several members—is regarded by Curry opponents as a necessary expedient until the views of the different factions can be reconciled on a successor to Curry in event he is ousted.

One of these proposed members is Edward J. A. Hearn, close confidant of Alfred E. Smith and long a dissatisfied Tammany leader as result of Curry's election four years ago.

Savannahan Awarded Coveted Decoration

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Colonel Richard Peters Wiliams, United States marine corps, was decorated by Secretary Swanson today with the Distinguished Service Medal "for distinguished and meritorious service" while commandant of the Garde d'Haiti from 1930 to 1933.

Colonel Williams' home is Savannah, Ga. He now is president of the marine corps examining board.

The navy citation said:

"Because of his splendid judgment, tact and diplomacy he maintained tranquillity, law and order in the republic of Haiti. Because of his fiscal ingenuity he saved the national budget of Haiti an appreciable sum in the administration of the Haitian army, all of which brought about friendly relationship between the American and Haitian governments."

Colonel Williams has received other medals for service in various countries.

Spanish Fascist Head Escapes Bombs, Shots

MADRID, April 10.—(AP)—Assassins today missed in an attempt to kill Jose Antonio Primo De Rivera, son of the former dictator of Spain, and himself leader of the fascist movement.

Anti-fascist extremists hurled two bombs at De Rivera's automobile and fired a volley of shots at him just after he left the criminal courts building, where he appeared as private prosecutor of a syndicalist accused of the murder of a 15-year-old fascist.

The automobile was damaged but De Rivera was unhurt. He left the car, firing at his fleeing attackers. After a pursuit of several blocks two persons suspected of complicity in the plot were captured.

RIGHTS OF STATES INVOLVED IN CASE BEING HEARD HERE

Hearing of an extradition proceeding, the result of which may affect rights of every state in the country, was begun Tuesday before Tom Linder, executive secretary to Governor Talmadge. Arguments in the case will be resumed this morning.

The hearing is in the case of H. S. Bell, released several days ago from the federal prison, where he served a term for embezzling United States mail, and who is resisting extradition on the ground that the state of Arkansas, which is seeking his custody on a charge of robbery, relinquished its rights to extradition when it turned him over to federal authorities. Bell was released to government authorities, according to Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson, who is appearing for Arkansas, when a federal judge revoked a suspended sentence when it was found that he was charged with robbery.

Mr. Hudson said that the case is of far-reaching importance, as many instances occur where a state prisoner is released to serve a federal sentence, and is afterward sought through extradition by the complaining state.

DAMAGE SUIT CHARGES PLOT TO CONTROL VOTE

Conspiracy to control his vote in Fulton county elections and in internal government of the union was charged Tuesday by J. S. Lambert, discharged street car operator, in a suit seeking $22,300 in damages which he filed in superior court with the Georgia Power Company, the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, its local division, No. 732, and T. L. McBrayer, president of the local and vice president of the Amalgamated Association, as defendants.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy temporarily tied up bank accounts of the union in Fulton county pending a hearing Saturday, restrained the defendants from interferring with Lambert's rights as a union member, and granted a request by Lambert that the company be restrained from "making false records against the petitioner." The suit charged the power company with making plans to influence public opinion against public ownership of electric utilities in Georgia, against electric and street car rate reduction and against regulated competition in the transportation business in Fulton county.

NEW WELL EXTENDS NATURAL GAS FIELD

JACKSON, Miss., April 10.—(AP)—The Hinds county area of the Jackson natural gas field was extended approximately one mile today with the blowing in of the Alexander and Weaver No. 1 well north of Jackson.

The new well has an estimated projection of more than 50,000,000 cubit feet daily.

LAURA INGALLS LANDS AT PARA ON WAY TO U.S.

PARA, Brazil, April 10.—(AP)—Miss Laura Ingalls, United States flyer, landed today after a flight from Fortaleza. She is returning toward Miami after a swing around the South American continent.

On the Air Today

MARTINI — Strauss' beautiful "Blue Danube" waltz, played by the 40-piece orchestra conducted by Andre Kostelanetz, will open the second program in the new series featuring Nino Martini, brilliant young tenor, to be broadcast over WGST from 8 to 8:30 o'clock tonight. Martini's first selection for the evening will be the aria, "O Paradiso," from Meyerbeer's opera, "L'Africaine." Two lovely and ever-popular songs will make up the remainder of his program. They are "Princesita" and D'Hardelot's "Because." The 16-voice chorus will be introduced by Kostelanetz in "Night and Day," and they will join the orchestra in a special Kostelanetz arrangement, titled "New Orleans Mardi Gras."

STAR—Joan Blondell, popular film star, is scheduled to make a guest appearance on the weekly Hollywood program over the nation-wide Columbia network and WGST today from 12:15 to 12:30 o'clock. Raymond Paige's orchestra will provide the musical setting for the presentation, which will originate in the CBS-KHJ studios in Los Angeles.

FIORITO—Franz Liszt's lovely "Liebestraum" will be featured by Ted Fiorito's orchestra on the broadcast from Los Angeles over a nation-wide WGST-Columbia network tonight from 9 to 9:30 o'clock. The nineteenth century Hungarian composer originally wrote the melody for piano rendition. Fiorito will present Muzzy Marcellino and his debutantes in three current favorites—"Emmaline," "Cutist Little Nudist" and "Waiting at the Gate for Katie." Ted's piano highlight will be the ever-popular "When Day Is Done." Orchestral arrangements of "Rise and Shine," "Limehouse Blues" and "It Don't Mean a Thing" and two songs by Dick Powell, the film star master of ceremonies, will complete the program.

SPALDING—Talent on the spring series of broadcasts featuring Albert Spalding, America's distinguished violinist, each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., on the nation-wide WGST-Columbia network, has been augmented by a male quartet and mixed voice ensemble. During the broadcast tonight Spalding will feature violin arrangements of Paderewski's famous Minuet and Drigo's Serenade from "Les Millions d'Harlequin," one of the loveliest of all Neapolitan melodies. The quartet will offer "Someone Stole Gabriel's Horn," Lawrence's modern composition in spiritual form.

HONOLULU—A special program of Hawaiian music by Johnny Noble and his Royal Hawaiians and the McQuesten orchestra will be broadcast over the WGST-Columbia network direct from Honolulu tonight from 10:30 to 11 o'clock. The broadcast will originate at KGMB, CBS affiliate in the Hawaiian islands, and will be relayed by short-wave to San Francisco.

MRS. ELOISE C. GREGG PASSES AT HOME HERE

Mrs. Eloise C. Gregg, widely-known Atlanta woman, died Tuesday morning at the home of her son, Joseph Gregg, at 208 East Lake drive. She was the widow of Joseph Gregg Sr.

In addition to her son, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Walter E. Daniels, of Williamsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Herbert C. Arms, of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Armin O. Kuehmsted, of Chicago.

Funeral services will be private and will be held this morning at Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. Russell K. Smith will officiate. The place of interment will be announced.

FERA SCHOOL AUDITORS START GEORGIA SURVEY

Auditors of the federal emergency relief administration were in Georgia Tuesday to check up on how much money is needed for the common schools to complete their regular terms.

Funds between $1,000,000 and $1,200,000 has been promised by Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator, to keep the schools open. Governor Talmadge already has made requisition for $800,000 granted by the government for the schools.

The $800,000 was granted for the payment of February and March salaries. Money must be had for April, May and a part of June.

Light Again Gleams In Woman's Breast

TRIESTE, Italy, April 10.—(AP)—Six disappointed scientists just missed another emanation of a strange blue light from Trieste's now famous "electric woman," it was learned today.

Seeking to determine the cause of the light, reported to flash at times from the breast of a woman patient, Anna Monara, while she sleeps, the scientists took up a vigil at the hospital.

The latest illumination occurred last night. But when it was reported by the night nurse the scientists disturbed the sleeping patient when they entered the room. The light ceased.

Both nurses and physicians at the Pirano hospital said they have seen the light, which lasts only a few seconds, then disappears, sometimes to reappear at intervals during the night.

EGYPTIAN IDEAL SEEN FOR BEAUTY OF GIRL OF FUTURE

CHICAGO, April 10.—(AP)—The feminine beauty that was ancient Egypt's will mark the girl of the future, believes Lorado Taft, the sculptor.

The mother-in-law of King Tut-Ankh-Amen is his idea of beauty, Taft said. He was commenting on the recent controversy among New York artists as to the future type of beautiful woman.

"One of the loveliest girls I ever knew," he said, "lived 1,350 years before Christ. She was an Egyptian lady who lived on the banks of the Nile. I have a copy of a portrait bust of her that was found there. I think the beautiful woman of the future will be the same lovely types they have been in the past."

Dr. Emery W. Baldus, dean of the Y. M. C. A. College, went far back into history for his ideas of feminine pulchritude of the future, but suggested a new type would appear.

"The beauty of the future, I believe, will not be a reversion to some classic type of the past—she will represent a new type of loveliness—the product of an age more highly intelligent than that in which we live. I feel that Hagar and Queen Esther, both Biblical characters, must have been beautiful in the light of my own definition."

All the commentators, however, agreed that physical appeal was less compelling than the grace of radiant personality.

AUTOIST, IN ACCIDENT, FACES THREE CHARGES

An automobile crash on Henry street following what detectives described as a "two-gun shooting party" on Capitol avenue, resulted in the arrest of a man who gave his name as C. C. Rawlins, of 963 Sells avenue, S. W., Tuesday night and the placing against him of charges of operating an automobile while drunk; disorderly conduct, and shooting a pistol.

Rawlins was arrested at his home after an automobile identified as his crashed into the parked car of Jerome Grisson, negro, in front of a Henry street address. Policemen who traced the man to the Sells avenue address found Rawlins suffering from an injured left hand. Rawlins said somebody shot him.

While the policemen were in the house, detectives came in to charge Rawlins with having fired two pistols indiscriminately on Capitol avenue a little while earlier.

NEGRO HURLS BRICK, IS SHOT BY POLICEMAN

A negro giving the name of Buster Ford Tuesday night was shot in the right leg, breaking the bone, when he hurled a brick at Patrolmen J. G. Bowman and J. W. Echols, after he had used the brick to beat into unconsciousness a negro who later gave the name of Fred Stone, of 1412 Brush Mountain avenue, according to police reports. Ford was admitted to Grady hospital. The shooting happened on Wells street near McDaniel, police said.

PURPLES BEAT COLUMBUS, 11-4

Boys' High defeated Columbus, 11 to 4, Tuesday afternoon on the Henry Grady field in the only game of the Big Six schedule. Tech High-Riverside at Gainesville and Monroe-G. M. A. at College Park were postponed until a later date.

Columbus journeys to Monroe today to play Red Barron's Monroe Aggies. The game was scheduled for Friday afternoon but was moved up to today instead.

Crockett, a reserve from last year, hurled a good game for Boys' High, limiting Columbus to four hits. A home run by Partin with two on base in the seventh inning, gave Columbus three runs.

Boys' High fielding was good, particularly in the infield. Borum, Echols and Roberts, fielded well and handled many difficult chances.

Boys' High scored eight runs off nine hits in the fourth inning and added two more in the fifth and another in the eight.

Roberts, with a home run and two singles, and Echols hit best for Boys' High.

The score: R.H.E.
Columbus ....000 000 310— 4 4 4
Boys' High ....000 820 01x—11 16 2
Goodman and Jones; Crockett and Dye, Turner.

'Unknown' Winner Of Highest Double

SAN BRUNO, Cal., April 10.—(AP)—The highest "daily double" ever paid at Tanforan track—$2,171.80—was won today by a man who declined to give his name, who had purchased the only ticket on two outsiders: Silk Covering, winner of the second race, and Star Royal, winner of the third.

The Eureka, feature race, was won by Vermont Rose, Pantages entry which stepped the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5. Little Son was second and Melting Pot third. Vermont Rose set the pace and led all the way, winning by a length and a half.

Johnson Named To Start for Reds

MACON, Ga., April 10.—Confident that the Cincinnati Reds are prepared to launch their most powerful attack in years, Manager Bob O'Farrell today outlined his plans for the opening game against the Chicago Cubs.

Si Johnson, young right-hander, has been selected to hurl against the Bruins. O'Farrell will be backstop

Bottomley will be at first base, Piet at second, Koenig at third and Slade at shortstop. In the outfield will be Comorosky in left, Hafey in center and Shiver in right.

Georgia Teams To Meet Richmond

ATHENS, Ga., April 10.—Georgia will meet the Junior College of Augusta, Richmond Academy, here tomorrow afternoon in golf and tennis matches.

The golfers will play two four-ball matches and one two-ball match over the Athens Country Club course. Coach J. M. McFadden will probably use Captain Billy McWilliams, Charlie Warner, Billy Atkinson and Faute Jones for the games.

Vols Sell Giants A Promising Rookie

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—Clydell Castleman, promising rookie right-handed pitcher of the Nashville club of the Southern association, was purchased today by the New York Giants and will leave tomorrow to join the world champions in Richmond, Va. Terms of the deal were not announced.

Down Alleys

A release of the winners of the National Duckpin Bowling Congress tournament at Baltimore, Md., reveals that two world's records were established and another tied during the heavy scoring at the meet.

The winners in the men's events are the Connecticut Yankees, of Stratford, Conn., winner of the five-man team with a 1,943 total. W. Megaw (Washington) and Walters (Hartford) doubles winners with 789. Nick Tronsky set a new tournament record with his 453, which won the singles; Tronsky hails from Willimantic, Conn. J. Morelli, of Bridgeport, Conn., won the all events with 1,102.

In the women's events, Lucky Strike, of Washington, D. C., placed first with 1,762. E. Ream and B. Butler, Washington, D. C., topped the doubles with 701. F. Labarr, of Bridgeport, Conn., won the singles with 376. Lorraine Gulli, of Washington, D. C., won the all-events with 1,114. In the mixed doubles, M. Jensen and W. Pipp, of Hartford, Conn., placed out in front with 780.

The world marks were at 433 individual set bowled by Miss Gulli with the team and a 643 for a team game by the Lucky Strike girls and Miss Gulli's 799 for six games which tied the mark she established last month in winning the Yankee sweepstakes.

Ed Glading, T. Mayson and D. Horton signed Tuesday to take part in the handicap sweepstakes at Blick's Bowling Center this Saturday, which event is sponsored by the Belle Isle garage. Mr. Horton stated that he was confident that several men and young ladies from J. P. Allen Company bowling teams would participate in the five-game sweepstakes.

Emory Is Beaten By 'Bama Netmen

Emory's varsity tennis team lost to Alabama, 8-2, Tuesday afternoon at Dewey courts at Emory. Emory's only two victories were singles matches.

Jack Boykin, Emory, bested Bill Simpson, Alabama, in a long three-set match, 0-6, 6-4, 7-5. Boykin put on a great comeback to win after dropping the first set by a love score.

Jim Robinson was the only other Emory winner. He beat Gordon Hamilton, 7-9, 9-7, 7-5. Frank Morrison started off winning for Emory, taking the first set, 6-1, but he lost the next two, 11-9, 6-3, to Bill Branch. Nick Polites pulled a similar stunt, blowing up after winning the first set, 6-1, to lose the next two, 6-3, 6-2, to Ed Andrews.

Don Glant, Griffin Lambkin and Wayne Bomberger won the other three singles matches for Alabama. Bomberger beat Ed Jones, Emory, 6-1, 6-3. Lambkin beat Carlton Collar, 6-3, 11-9. Glant won from Chris Conyers, 6-4, 6-2.

Andrews and Glant won the feature doubles match from Robinson and Morrison, Emory, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3. Boykin and Polites, Emory, lost to Hamilton and Simpson, Alabama, 7-5, 8-6. Lambkin and Bomberger, Alabama, defeated Conyers and Collar, 6-3, 6-2.

Mrs. E. N. Fowler, of 976 Linam avenue, stepping from her bed early Tuesday morning, placed her foot squarely on a burglar who was trying to conceal himself on the floor, according to reports to police. The burglar did what anybody so surprised would do: he yelled and took a running leap through a window, carrying the creen with him, police were told.

City-county squadsmen Tuesday raided the Hampton barber shop, 41 Houston street, confiscated two quarts and nine pints of whisky and arrested two men who gave the names of J. T. Chatman, head of the shop, and Henry Ward, negro presser, according to police reports. Officers said that they found the whisky hidden in a wall trap. The two defendants were placed under bonds of $200 each, it was said.

Discovery of lottery tickets in a Lakeshort drive home Tuesday was followed by the appearance in city court of Decatur of a man who gave the name of W. H. Thompson, who paid a fine of $100 on a lottery charge. DeKalb police said that the clogging of sewers with used lottery tickets led to a raid on the home and the finding of the tickets, neighbors having complained that the sewers were stopped up.

DeKalb county democratic executive committee will meet at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning in the grand jury room of the courthouse at Decatur to fix entrance fees for county commission, judge and solicitor of city court, and representatives. The committee probably will adopt the state closing date for entrances, May 5, it was said. J. C. Estes is chairman and A. R. Almon is secretary of the committee.

Mrs. Addalena Menzell will speak on the subject, "Health and Prosperity," at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Azoth library in the Marion hotel.

Guy A. Moore, Fulton county tax receiver, will speak at the meeting of the Berean Bible class of the West End Baptist church at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Charlie Jarrell's Radioland Singers and Jeannette McNeil will provide vocal music, and Tupper Rowland will direct congregational singing.

Ecclesia choir, of Los Angeles, Cal., will be heard in a concert of sacred classics at St. Paul's Methodist church at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night. The 22-voice choir is one of the outstanding groups of its kind in the country, and has been heard frequently on the radio network.

J. W. Michaels, missionary to the deaf for the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, will preach on "The Eagles Coming Together" in the sign language of the deaf at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Baptist tabernacle. The sermon will relate to prophecies that are coming true and which are unnoticed and unheeded, he said.

D. F. (Uncle Dan) Cook, retired policeman, who suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday night at his home on Pearl street, Tuesday remained in a serious condition at Grady hospital. "Uncle Dan" is well known as the originator and chief sponsor of the "Police Circle," a secret order to which many notables have been admitted.

Atlanta Branch, No. 32, National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, voted to affiliate with the Georgia Federation of Labor effective April 1, it was announced Tuesday. The branch has been affiliated with the Atlanta Federation of Trades for some time.

Carnegie Library board of trustees will hold its monthly meeting at the main library at 5 o'clock this afternoon, it was announced Tuesday.

D. W. Storey, operator of a Soldiers' Home street car, Tuesday night reported to police that he was held up at the end of the line by two armed white men who took $40 and some car tickets.

Bible school at Whitefoord Avenue Baptist church, with the Rev. J. M. Henley, pastor of Colonial Hills Baptist church, as teacher, will resume its activities at a meeting at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, beginning the study of the Book of Revelation. The public is invited.

Miss Elizabeth King, of Columbia, S. C., a pupil in the University High school of that city, was awarded first place among 120 contestants in the 1933-1934 competition for scholarships sponsored by Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Dr. J. R. McCain, president, announced Tuesday. Miss Nid Enid Middleton, of Birmingham, a pupil in the Phillips High school, placed second.

Congressional subcommittee, which inspected the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., paused at Candler field at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning en route back to Washington. The party was composed of Congressman Darden, Zioncheck and Caldwell, and Lieutenant Donald Owers, pilot. They refueled here.

Emory Howard, alias L. C. Martin, was fined $200 and given a 12-month suspended sentence in city criminal court Tuesday on a charge of possessing liquor. County police testified they found 94 quarters in Howard's automobile on Peachtree road after an officer had overheard someone telephone an order from the Pig 'n' Whistle barbecue stand.

W. O. Richards was fined $100 or eight months in city criminal court Tuesday on a charge of operating a slot machine at Peachtree and Twelfth streets. Ras Brown, negro, Auburn avenue cafe owner, was fined $50 or six months on a similar charge.

Big Bethel choir will give a program of spirituals at 3:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the church. The choristers will be seen in old-fashioned costumes, so as to give old-time color to the performance. Request numbers will include "Old Black Joe," "No Hidin' Place," "Li'l David" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Population of the Atlanta federal penitentiary dropped from 1,962 to 1,946 inmates during the period February 15 to March 15, according to the census in Good Words, official publication of the prison. The prison received 192 and released 208 during the period.

Board of regents of the University System of Georgia will meet at 10 o'clock this morning to select a successor to the late Izzie Bashinski, of Dublin, secretary of the board. A number of applicants have placed their names before the board for consideration but there was no indication as to who would be elected Tuesday night.

DR. HARRY CAMPBELL PASSES IN VIRGINIA

Distinguished Educator Had Been Dean of Washington & Lee for 26 Years.

LEXINGTON, Va., April 10.—(AP) Dr. Harry Donald Campbell, 72, dean of Washington and Lee University for 26 years and a member of the faculty for 47 years, died here this afternoon from heart trouble.

Known to thousands of students and alumni as "Doctor Harry," the distinguished educator's death was a blow to the university and to friends in all parts of the nation. Few knew that he was ill, as he attended classes up until the latter part of last week.

Two years ago he was named official historian of Washington and Lee and had been working on a detailed history, especially the period when General Robert E. Lee was president of the institution. His father was a close personal friend to the noted Confederate chieftain and a trusted colleague.

Dr. Campbell was relieved of his duties as dean two years ago but retained the chair of geology.

Dr. Campbell held degrees from a number of universities both in America and Europe and in 1930 was president of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

THEODORE ROBINSON.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., April 10. (AP)—Theodore Douglas Robinson, former assistant secretary of the navy, died of pneumonia this afternoon at the Robinson ancestral estate, Cruger Mansion, in the Mohawk valley town of Warren.

Robinson, who would have been 51 years old on April 28 had been ill only a few days.

WILLIAM McDOWELL.

DUBLIN, April 10.—(AP)—The capital of the Irish Free State went into mourning today for William Wallace McDowell, 67-year-old American minister to Dublin, who died at the very climax of his brilliant career.

Blinds were tightly drawn at all legations and flags were flown at all legations and flags were flown at half-staff as the city mourned the sudden death of the minister at a dinner in his honor last night.

A memorial service will be held tomorrow. Afterward, the body will be sent to the United States on the first available steamer calling at Cobh. Burial will be in Montana.

Rising at the banquet, given for him by Irish executives, Mr. McDowell started to make acknowledgement of the enthusiastic greeting that had been given him. The words, "Butte, Montana," came to his lips, then trailed off as the minister slumped forward, dead of a heart attack.

Montana was the minister's adopted state. He was born in Tennessee. McDowell's wife died several months ago in Chicago. He is survived by three brothers, Horace, of Moultrie, Ga.; John, of Memphis, Tenn., and Dr. N. D. McDowell, of Rochester, N. Y., and two sisters, Fanny and Eloise, both of Memphis.

Family reunions were held at Memphis. McDowell was a graduate of Union City (Tenn.) College. His parents were pioneers of Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. John H. McDowell.

MRS. DOROTHY CHAMBERS.

COL. DAVID FLYNN.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 10.—(AP)—Colonel David Flynn, vice president of the First National Bank of Princeton, N. J., died in Army-Navy hospital here today. He had been in the hospital since March 11 and in a critical condition for several days.

GEORGE H. WILSON.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 10.—(AP)—George H. Wilson, treasurer of the U. S. Bobbin and Shuttle Company, and well known in the textile trades of the country, died at his home here today.

HARRY R. BUSH.

GREENSBORO, April 10.—(AP)—Harry Reynolds Bush, 66, president of the Dixie Fire Insurance Company, died tonight at his home here after a long illness.

He had been continuously engaged in the fire insurance business since 1890, having been located, successively, in Louisville, Ky., Atlanta, Ga., Chicago and Newark, N. J., before coming to Greensboro in 1909 as general manager of the Dixie. He had been president of the Southeastern Underwriters' Association.

Mr. Bush was widely known in the insurance business here, where he formerly lived. He was the uncle of Mrs. S. B. Mitchell, of Atlanta. Funeral rites will be held Thursday in Greensboro.

Insull Has Abscess Removed From Hand

The regular prison physician performed the operation.

Attendants said the famous patient submitted smilingly and seemed in a pleasant mood, despite the probability that he will soon be started for the United States and trial on embezzlement and fraud charges in Chicago.

Cornell, in First Play Had Four-Word Role

Katharine Cornell, who appears in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and "Candida" in the Erlanger theater on Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, April 20 and 21, made her first appearance on the stage in a four-word role in "Bushido," produced by the Washington Square Players in New York. For five years she was unable to secure an opportunity on Broadway, so she acted in stock and touring companies.

Miss Cornell made her first impressive success as Jo in "Little Women" in London. The following autumn she was given the part of Sydney in "A Bill of Divorcement" and over night became the talk of New York.

Mail orders, accompanied by remittance, are now being received from both local and out-of-town patrons. The box office sale starts next Monday morning.

Here is an Imp-osing group of Atlanta city officials who seem to have reached an Imp-asse over the Imp. This picture was taken following an Imp-ortant meeting of the park board when a compromise on the baseball situation was Imp-rovised. Those shown are, left to right, seated: Councilmen Dan Bridges and Horace M. Rantin, and standing: Alderman J. C. Aldredge and George Simons, general manager of parks. One of the interesting little games forms the background.

An Imp-osing number of Imp-etous and Imp-assioned persons are waiting for their Imps Imp-atiently. Imp-ortunate because they haven't the Imps as yet.

The Imp is a game. It is a square metal box, containing 16 spaces and 15 numbers, from 1 to 15, which are to be arranged in certain order in the spaces. The Constitution, which is sponsoring Imp in Atlanta, will furnish combinations of arrangements daily, starting Friday, and you do the rest.

Imp-udent and Imp-onderable, the Imp causes the Imp-ulse to conquer the Imp-ossible and overcome the Imp-robable. It has both possible and Imp-ossible combinations. Imp-rovement adds Imp-etus to the game, but some arrangements cause Imp-rudent language and Imp-iety, leaving one Imp-lacable but Imp-ressed.

The Constitution, Imp-assive and with Imp-unity Imp-lores you to attempt the Imp. It Imp-arts knowledge and success Imp-lies intelligence. The Constitution will Imp-rint combinations daily, but you may Imp-rovise your own if you wish. Let nothing

Social Lights Glitter as Soviet Opens Luxurious Capital Embassy

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(UP) The soviet union's luxurious embassy was formally opened tonight with a reception for 800 officials and socialites—the first official soviet function ever held in the United States.

A stream of limousines brought cabinet members, leaders of house and senate, members of the diplomatic corps and Washington society folk to the brilliantly lighted 80-room mansion that once was the embassy of czarist Russia, then stood vacant and mouldering for a decade, and now has been restored to its first splendor.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Cordell Hull led the guests who mounted a great circular stairway to the second floor salon where they were greeted by Alexander Antonovich Troyanovsky, first soviet ambassador to the United States, Mme. Troyanovsky, Counselor of Embassy and Mme. Boris E. Skvirsky and other soviet officials.

Secretary of Treasury and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of War and Mrs. George H. Dern, Attorney-General and Mrs. Homer S. Cummings, Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper and Secretary of Labor Perkins were among the other cabinet officials at the "house warming."

Speaker of the House and Mrs. Henry T. Rainey, Democratic Senate Leader and Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, Republican Leader and Mrs. Charles L. McNary headed the congressional guests.

Presidential Secretary and Mrs. Stephen T. Early and Miss Marguerite Lehand, the president's private secretary, represented the White House where the negotiations for soviet recognition were concluded last fall.

The salon, as well as the rest of the mansion on the capital's fashionable 16th street, has been restored to the Louis XVI splendor envisioned by its original builder, George Pullman, of Pullman car fame.

Architect Eugene Schoen, who directed the refurbishing of the mansion, wanted to re-do it in a modernistic style that would be more symbolic of the spirit of the soviet union. The soviets, however, felt this would cost too much, so he adhered to the original style of the building. Even so, the redecorating cost many thousand dollars. It cost nearly $10,000 just to clean the crystal chandeliers and rehang them.

MORTUARY

MRS. S. E. GALLAGHER.

Funeral services for Mrs. S. E. Callagher, 85, who died Monday at the residence at No. 7 Grandview avenue, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. Paul Muse will officiate and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

MISS FRANCES KELLEY.

The funeral of Miss Frances Kelley, 22, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Kelley, of 850 Briarcliff road, who died Monday morning in a private hospital after a week's illness, was held Tuesday at Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. Woolsey E. Couch officiated and interment was in West View cemetery.

REUBEN PULLIAM CLAY.

Agreement Seen Today By Conferees on Cotton

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—Congressional conferees on the Bankhead cotton bill failed today to reach a final agreement on the legislation, but Senator Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, predicted a settlement tomorrow.

Bankhead, senate author of the bill, said the conferees were making progress. He would not disclose the details of the action taken today.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Office of Constructing Quartermaster, Maxwell Field, Alabama. Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 10:00 A. M., C. S. T., April 24, 1934, and then publicly opened, for construction of five (5) 4-car garages for ten (10) Double Non-Commissioned Officers Quarters at Maxwell Field, Alabama. Prospective bidders may obtain plans and specifications upon deposit of certified check in amount of $10.00, made payable to the Treasurer of the United States.

Silver-Farm Aid Bill Reported Favorably

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(AP)—The senate agriculture committee today reported favorably the Dies silver-farm relief bill carrying the Thomas amendment for nationalization of the white metal.

The amendment by Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, provides for unlimited purchase of the metal until it reached a price of $1.29 an ounce or until the 1926 commodity price level was attained.

The Dies bill provides for the acceptance of silver from other nations at a premium of 25 per cent over the world price in exchange for American surplus crops.

Thomas said the committee vote was unanimous.

C. OF C. EX-PRESIDENTS TO GATHER AT BANQUET

Past presidents of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will gather at a dinner Thursday night in the banquet hall of the chamber to observe the 68th anniversary of the founding of the civic institution which has taken a leading part in the development of Atlanta since the city began rising from the ashes of the sixties.

The chamber was founded in 1866 as a board of trade, and the name chamber of commerce was adopted in 1871. The organization has a long record of civic accomplishments, having taken the lead in a number of large-scale enterprises for the advancement of the city's interests.

NOTICE OF SALE OF RAILROAD PROPERTY.

By virtue of an order granted by the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia March 13th, 1934, will be sold before the Court House door of Hall County, Georgia, in the City of Gainesville, within the legal hours of sale on the first Tuesday in May, 1934, to the highest and best bidder for cash the following property:

All that land situated, lying and being in the Counties of Hall and White in the State of Georgia and being all of the land owned by the Gainesville & Northwestern Railroad Company and whatever interest it may have and own therein generally described as follows: Being a strip of land comprising its right of way beginning at the point of connection with the Gainesville Midland Railway Company property near the Town of New Holland in Hall County, Georgia, and running thence in somewhat of a northerly direction to the Town of Robertstown in White County, Georgia, and passing through the towns of Brookton and Clermont in Hall County, Cleveland, Nacoochee and Helen in White County, Georgia. The right of way to include all grounds and land owned by said Railway Company for depot, main, side, spur and switch tracks, cuts, fills and turnouts, and all rights of approach thereto vested in said Railroad as well as trestles, bridges and all things connected therewith. Also all depots, offices and other buildings located thereon, as well as all rails, crossties, switch-ties, bolts, spikes, plates, switch-stands, tools, office supplies, furniture, equipment, locomotives, passenger and freight cars, platforms, scales, water tanks, coal chutes and any and all property of every description owned by the Gainesville & Northwestern Railroad and used in connection with the operation of a railroad by it or its Receivers and coming into their hands as a result of their appointment, together with all replacements of any and every description made by them. A detailed list of which can be obtained by application to G. A. Austin or the undersigned at Gainesville, Georgia.

It being the purpose and intent to sell whatever title, right and interest may have belonged to the Gainesville & Northwestern Railroad in and to the property hereinbefore referred to whether its interest in the real estate be easement, fee simple or other right thereto, the sale being made subject to the confirmation of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Georgia.

Said property will be sold as a whole and upon confirmation the sale will convey to the purchaser all rights, franchises, titles, choses in action, property and property rights of every kind and description that the Gainesville & Northwestern Railroad Company has in and to said property or any part thereof with the privilege to the purchaser of operating said property as a going concern or dismantling and selling the same and discontinuing the operation thereof, and will be sold free from liens of every kind.

In order to qualify as a bidder the sum of $3,000.00 in the form of New York Exchange or a certified check upon some solvent Bank shall be delivered to the Sale Master payable to his order before the time of bidding begins in accordance with the terms and conditions of the order authorizing the sale.

The successful bidder will have credited upon the purchase price the amount of his deposit and other bidders will have their deposits returned at the conclusion of the sale.

Further information may be had by writing the undersigned as Sale Master.

SIDNEY O. SMITH,
Sale Master, Gainesville, Ga.
